PROFESSION STANDS BY FIGHTERS

Tribute Paid to Soldiers and Sailors by Dr. J. W. MacMillan.

Dr. J. W. MacMillan of Winnipeg preached a memorial service at St. Andrew's Church, King street, for the medical officers and nursing sisters who lost their lives when the S. S. Landrovers were sunk by a German submarine on June 23. He said: "Human brutality is no novelty in the world for every place shows the brutality that man has wrought on his fellow man. The medical profession has been the most humanitarian institution and domestic life show us this and history is full of the cruelty of man to man. Up to the limit of our power we have been suffering today and the lesson for us is to stick it thru." He said the pacifist was the man who sought peace at any price, and the world was seeking that peace by paying out lives for it. He paid a tribute to the sailors by saying their lot was uncommonly hard for they had unpeopled hardships to contend with, but these sailors who were prevented from citizenship could not be frightened by the war. He said the medical profession had made itself famous for it had stood beside the soldier in his peril and gone down with him. He said the name was the finest fruits of that women were today, for they were facing the bloodiest, blackest and awfulest things in human life. He told them not to be too sure that this war was going to give them their true place in the world. "Beware my sisters unless it be a banner that is given you and nothing more."

About forty nursing sisters and a number of doctors were present. The service closed by singing "God Save the King."

THOS. A. WISE GIVES ADDRESS IN CHURCH

That a sermon was a sermon no matter where delivered, on the stage, screen or pulpit, was the opinion expressed by Thos. A. Wise, the genial comedian now appearing with the Robins Players, to a large audience at the Bond Street Congregational Church last night. "When you ask a layman," he said, "what makes the biggest hit in the play 'Ben Hur' he will usually answer, 'Oh! the horses, the chariot race and the scenery, I suppose.' Wrong, all wrong, my friends. That which makes the greatest appeal is that indefinable something in the last act, the crowds ascending Mount Olivet which takes up to the near presence of the Christ."

Speaking of the morality of the stage, Mr. Wise said, in part: "The actors' home life is as pure as that of any other profession. There are thousands of actors' homes in the United States with a home life almost ideal." He said that there were societies formed for the betterment of stage working conditions, notably the Actors' Church Alliance, which is seeking to abolish the working of the stage on Sunday. Mr. Wise also declared that it was due to the people themselves that a mistaken idea was abroad about the moral inclinations of an actor. "Why, I know of statues on some old law books of some states which class the actor with the 'villain'," he said. "Some of our greatest preachers were shownmen, this late P. T. Barnum being no exception to the rule. He may have been a showman and a showman, but last he was a man and a true friend."

Rev. Dr. Millar afterwards preached on the prodigal son, mentioning the well-known play, "The Wanderer," which deals with this subject.

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR SERGT. B. DOWD

The funeral of the late Sergt. B. Dowd of 413 Ashdale avenue, was held on Saturday afternoon from the residence to Prospect Cemetery, the remains being interred in the G.W.V.A. plot. Charles H. Stokes, on behalf of the Riverside branch took charge of the funeral. Capt. (Rev.) D. J. Lane, who conducted the service, delivered a stirring address upon the life and work of the late comrade. The funeral was a military one, the gun carriage and the firing party being detailed by the Canadian Garrison Regiment. The pallbearers were all comrades from the late sergeant's regiment, the 168th Battalion, and three of them were members of the Riverside branch of the G.W.V.A.

PLAYS PICTURES AND MUSIC,

TORONTO'S OWN MARY SETS NEW STANDARD

It remains for Mary Pickford to set a new standard in cooks. From the beauty standpoint this latest role enacted by the "most popular girl in the world," has created a sensation, and judging from the natural manner in which she takes command of the kitchen in "How Could You, Jean?" her latest picture, she must be an expert in that domestic art as well. The Allen Theatre has chosen this most recent Artcraft triumph to satisfy the clamorings of thousands of "Little Marys" local fans. On Wednesday when the new program was presented, in spite of the new weather vogue, a record crowd was on hand all afternoon and evening.

Miss Pickford is at her best in this newest role. As Jean Mackaye, she appears as a young heiress suddenly frowned upon by fate, who leaves her penniless. Smiling in face of the cruel blow, Jean decides to be "thired out" as cook, for this art has always been a gift with the young aristocrat.

Many amusing and pathetic scenes ensue, Jean is paid marked attention by the Swedish hired man, on the contrary estate to which she is sent, until a young motorist (Ted Burton), and son of a millionaire, arrives, and bribes Oscar to give up his "job."

And assumes his duties, and many strange things happen before he finally proves his worthiness, position and birth to Jean, whom he finds half angel—and half cook.

"Thired or Angel," is the title of the new Judge Brown episode, while another travelogue of unusual interest is "Quaint Quebec." Roland Todd provides the musical feature of the program this week, contributing a fine piano solo.

"The Old Homestead." Local theatregoers will possibly have their last opportunity of seeing Denman Thompson's classic of the New Hampshire hills, "The Old Homestead," this week. The Royal Alexandra Theatre. Certainly they will never see a more popular star in the title role than Thomas A. Wise, who is being presented by Edward H. Robins, supported by the Robins Players. The entire company will be utilized in "The Old Homestead" and Manager Robins promises the patrons of his company the most complete production of this famous old comedy that has ever been seen on a local stage. The matinees will be as usual on Wednesday and Saturday.

Shea's Hippodrome. Gorgeousness and exquisite attention to detail mark the Wm. Fox production of "Du Barry" with Theda Bara, the feature film this week at Shea's Hippodrome. "The Fountain of Love," the feature musical attraction, is a spectacular musical fantasy. Gilmore and LeMoine, presenting "Vaudeville Frivolities" will be another attractive turn. Young and Wheeler, "Bachelors of Music" have a unique instrumental specialty. Brewster, offering "The Game of Animal Intelligence," George Reeves, a "study in burnt cork" with new jokes and songs; Worden Bros., the up side down double foot jugglers, and the Hippodrome Pictorial Weekly and Pathe News pictures, changed twice weekly, are among the other presentations.

Loew's Theatre. "Hit-the-Trail-Holiday" which will be shown this week at Loew's Theatre and Winter Garden, introduces George M. Cohan, as Billy Holliday, the prototype of Billy Sunday, the temperance evangelist, in the role of a bartender who is reformed and thru love for a girl becomes an ardent prohibitionist.

Three acts will share the headline vaudeville honors: Henry Horton and Company in "Uncle Lem's Millionaire," a rural comedy; Holmes and Le Vere, in a song and piano oddity, and O'Neill and Walmsey introducing "Comedies of Life." Other specialties embrace: The Three Robbins, singing "Songs of Yesterday and Today," Charles Ledegar, "The Komio on the Kabuki," and Fedina's performing monkeys. In "Fun on a Battleship," Loew's Pictorial Weekly and the "Mutt and Jeff" animated cartoons will also be shown.

Hayakawa at Strand. A rare treat is in store for patrons of the Strand Theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday when Sessue Hayakawa, the world-famous Japanese actor, will be seen in his latest Paramount picture, "The Bravest Way." A picture which critics incline to think the greatest in which he has yet been seen, and which certainly affords him a role of supreme and superb beauty. He portrays the character of a quiet, studious and ambitious gardener, who sacrifices his love thru loyalty to friendship.

Mae Marsh at Regent. "The Glorious Adventure," Mae Marsh's latest picture which is showing at the Regent this week, is replete with surprises. One of them shows Carey Wetherbee (Mae Marsh) defying all the conventions in visiting and trying to make her home with a strange bachelor, who is at first hostile, then gently tolerant of her odd point of view. Another shows her at the mercy of an enraged mob of factory workers whom she is trying to help.

Mabel Normand at Madison. In "The Venus Model," the Goldwyn comedy-drama to be presented at the Madison Theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday, Mabel Normand has precisely one of those roles in which she excels all other screen stars. Her part is that of a clever and good-hearted girl who finds a fortune for herself and others in a bathing-suit.

"The Man From Mexico." One of the merriest farces ever produced in New York will be the offering of Edward H. Robins with Thomas A. Wise in the title role for next week, when this happy pair will present for the first time in Toronto, H. A. Du Souchet's comedy which ran for eleven months in New York with Mr. Wise in the title role, "The Man From Mexico."

TWO MEN ARRESTED. Police Claim They Were Trying to Break Into Store.

Richard Howard and Lewis Sinclair were arrested about 2 o'clock Sunday morning by P. C. Elwood, while attempting to break into the rear of Taylor's Drug Store at 223 East Queen street. When discovered they were attempting to drill a hole in the door. Howard was caught at once, but Sinclair made a break for liberty, but was caught later. When arrested Sinclair had fifty morphine tablets in his possession.

NEWS OF LABOR

LABOR SITUATION IS AT STANDSTILL

The labor situation in general on Sunday was at a standstill. The newest phases of the situation were the strike of the C.N.R. transport teamsters in sympathy with the Dominion Transport employees, and also the serious possibilities arising out of the determination of the letter carriers to force the hand of the government. The plumbers and steamfitters at the Parsons and Toronto Shipbuilding Company's yards were still on strike, and stood firm for their demands of a week ago for the same conditions applying to other downtown firms in the city. The textile workers' strike at the York Knitting Mills remained unsettled, the company still refusing to recognize the principle of trades unionism. The machinists of Toronto held a mass meeting Sunday to consider important matters affecting the trade, and expressed themselves as satisfied with the action of the Russell Motor Co. relative to the employees recently dismissed and now reinstated.

MACHINISTS PLEASED AT REINSTATEMENTS

Several hundred machinists met on Sunday evening at the Labor Temple and expressed full satisfaction with the action of the Russell Motor Co. in deciding to reinstate L. Johnson and the two women employees, long the subjects of dispute between the company and the employees. It was stated that the officials of the machinists union would take all necessary steps in the future to make the Russell Motor and other companies comply with the terms of the agreement drawn up between 48 factories and the union. In this connection the representatives of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers at the meeting decided to forward a resolution to Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor, to the effect that the reinstatement of the three employees at the Russell Motor Co. unconditionally was proof of the fact that labor was being given its place of due recognition. The resolution also urged upon the government the necessity of either interfering or deporting any official of any company who indiscriminately incited or caused industrial strife.

TRANSPORT WORKERS WILL STAY ON STRIKE

The transport workers of both the Dominion and the C.N.R. companies on Saturday afternoon decided at a meeting held at St. Andrew's Hall, Nelson street, to continue the fight for a straight wage of $80 a month. Geo. Ward, the chairman of the strikers' committee, approached Superintendent Buller of the C.N.R. Saturday morning relative to the demands of the men. Mr. Buller stated that the men had broken faith with his company in striking on five minutes' notice. The committee pointed out that negotiations had been in progress between the company and its employees for a month. The employees had at first asked for a wage of $80 a month, but this being refused, had pressed for a straight $80 a month. The superintendent replied that the company was willing to make a compromise, and to give the men a bonus of $5 a month extra, provided they agreed to take no days off other than Sundays.

"This is the sort of a compromise that the company makes when we have been eking out a living on $70 a month, which today is an impossible

"We intend to win this fight, and after it is won we shall take steps to organize and to join up with one of the best organized bodies of labor. We have the knights of labor in mind at the moment, but whatever it is we intend to organize."

The strike committee comprises Geo. Ward, Walter Duffy, Matt. Coots and David Stuart for the C.N.R. employees, and Joseph Aikens, F. Rochwell and Joseph Gibson for the Dominion Transport workers.

Superintendent Stokes of the G.T.R. expressed himself as still confident that the employees of the Sheehan-Handie Transportation Co. would stand by the company. If any men were going out on strike, he said, they were doing so as individuals, and not as an organized body.

McBride Denies Charge Concerning Ald. Ball

The Toronto Daily Star, Saturday, published the following: "I never heard a word about a wad of money at the council meeting," Controller McBride stated today in referring to an editorial in this morning's Globe which says that the controller should be called upon by the members of council to explain what he meant when (as reported in The World), he said to Ald. Ball, "Now, I'll tell you if you are not careful. You received a wad of money I know about."

"The words 'wad of money' were never mentioned by me," said the controller, "and I want that to be retracted as soon as possible. I do not want it thought, however, that I am backing down on what I said. Ald. Ball said that I was the Dr. Kuehlmann of the council, and a dictator, and I said, 'Now, don't go too far or I shall tell council something that I know about you.'"

"I did not want to attack Ald. Ball, but if he wants to insult me and to call me names I shall go back at him with his own medicine. What I know about him is something that I was not told in confidence, and if he wants to make the statements such as he did then I shall let the public know what it is."

"I was not attacking Ald. Ball, but I was attacking an editorial that was in French Blouses!—the very words seem to open up a vista of beauty. On one hand there's the exquisite texture of the materials, on the other the charm of design and handiwork. At $12.50—Dutch Blue Mull Blouse, a very charming model, with white piping, the front beautified by motifs of drawn-work that are given a shadowy charm by stitching in white.

At $15.00—Flesh Pink Voile Blouse, the front hemstitched and fastened with closely-set row of buttons right up to the chin, if such be your wish. Loveliest drawnwork gives chic to this model.

NEW RULES ISSUED

The Toronto World, The editorial was written very much in the way that Ald. Ball speaks in council, practically word for word. What I object to is that he should take that method of attack. We have the knights of labor in mind at the moment, but whatever it is we intend to organize."

The strike committee comprises Geo. Ward, Walter Duffy, Matt. Coots and David Stuart for the C.N.R. employees, and Joseph Aikens, F. Rochwell and Joseph Gibson for the Dominion Transport workers.

Superintendent Stokes of the G.T.R. expressed himself as still confident that the employees of the Sheehan-Handie Transportation Co. would stand by the company. If any men were going out on strike, he said, they were doing so as individuals, and not as an organized body.
