TWENTY-FIRST YEAR

WHEAT RAISERS' BOYCOTT IS THE TEST IDEA

The Proposal is to Have All the Wheat Raisers of the World in it.

NOTHING UNDER A DOLLAR Will Be Accepted for Wheat, and the Production Will Be Regulated.

A DECREASE OF TWENTY PER CENT. Is to Be Made in the Amount Raised, if This Great Scheme Goes Through.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 13.—The Journal says: All the farmers of the world in a sort of international trust to restrict the production of wheat and raise prices, is the plan which it is hoped to carry into effect at the International Agricultural Conference in Paris, July 9-16. It is proposed to ask the farmers of the world to reduce their wheat output by 20 per cent., and not to sell a bushel for less than a dollar.

J. C. Hanley of St. Paul, Executive agent of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union of the North American Continent, the National Cotton Growers' Association, the Farmers' Federation of the Mississippi Valley, and the National Grain Growers' Association, is the chief promoter of the international agricultural trust in America.

Prof. G. Ruhland of the University of Zurich, Switzerland, is the chief promoter of the plan in Europe.

The idea was conceived by these two men independently. Mr. Hanley has been interested in a "world-wheat" scheme, and is prominently associated with the farmers' elevator and various co-operative undertakings.

PARENTS PREFERRED DEATH

Carl Wilstrom and His Wife Did Not Want to Be Buried in Their Son's Grave.

THEY TURNED ON THE GAS JETS. And the Boy Found Them Both Dead When He Returned From His Work.

New York, April 13.—(Special.)—To relieve the burden of their support from their 16-year-old son, whose small earnings supplied the necessities of the family, Carl Wilstrom and his wife committed suicide yesterday afternoon in their home at No. 225 East Thirty-third-street by turning on the gas.

Wilstrom was a tailor, 35 years old. He had been out of work for some time and his failure to secure employment made him despondent. Carl, their son, is employed as elevator boy in the Rose Building, in Forty-second-street. He left for his work early yesterday morning, bidding his parents good-bye in cheerful tones and encouraging his father with the hope that he would find work during the day.

Carl returned at about 6 o'clock. He was surprised to find the door locked. No one responded to his repeated summonses. Across the hall lived Thomas Rebeby. Carl asked him if he had seen his father and mother leave the house. Rebeby replied that Wilstrom had returned early in the afternoon, and had not gone out since then.

Fumes of Gas. So Carl went into the back room of his father's flat and climbed the window out on the fire-escape and tried to open the window in his own home. As he opened the lower sash he was driven back by the fumes of gas, with which the kitchen was filled.

The boy called to Rebeby for help, and they entered the Wilstrom flat together. On a cot in the kitchen they found Wilstrom dead. Rebeby tried to persuade Carl to investigate no further, but the son pressed forward into the bedroom, where he found his mother lying on the bed. She was also dead. The bodies were taken to the morgue.

Carl was grief-stricken, and would not be comforted. He has a married sister, Mrs. Deastrey, to whom he is wedded.

London, April 14.—(4.15 a.m.)—"The forward movement of the Boers is checked," says Lord Roberts. This is taken to mean not by fighting but by dispositions to head off their advance and bar their way to vulnerable points in the line of British communications. Relief is on the way to Wepener. The Boers in Natal appear capable of developing an aggressive movement at Elandsfontein.

Where Methuen Is. Lord Methuen is at Zwartkopsfontein, 12 miles east of Boshof, and is sending small detachments to the adjacent country. The vessel and the foodstuffs were subsequently released under bond, and the prize court, March 13, rendered a verdict that portions of the cargo were condemned, but that the steamer was formally released. The Mashona arrived Algoa Bay April 10 from Cape Town, and was to proceed to Durban and other ports.

FIGHT OVER A BRIGHT CHILD

People on the Pier Witnessed a Scene When the Big Steamship Lahn Arrived.

FATHER GOT HOLD OF THE BOY. Woman in the Case Had a Lawyer With Her—Child Wants to Stay With Father.

New York, April 13.—When Master Conrad Benjamin Pecker, five years old, and his mother, arrived here in charge of the ship's company of the Lahn, from Bremen, yesterday, he was met by a man and a woman who fought each other for possession of him.

After a bitter contest at the pier, at the Hoboken Pier Station, on a ferryboat, and in the Supreme Court, in this city, Justice Fitzgerald committed the little fellow to the care of the German Society Monday, when he will determine the question of his custody.

The boy was claimed by Charles Conrad Pecker, who was eager to outfit him with a wife and get possession of him. The big steamer reached the pier at 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon, and Mrs. Pecker, accompanied by her lawyer, George Robinson, was waiting at the end of the pier. She had heard that Pecker had gone down the bay to get the boy, and she declared to the waiting crowd that there would be a "bloody fight" if her husband refused to give the boy to her.

The Police Captain Hayes and Detective Weinstadt and Quinn cautioned her to be quiet. Lawyer Robinson was armed with a writ of habeas corpus, issued by Justice Fitzgerald.

Mrs. Pecker admitted that the little fellow was not her own, but asserted that she had adopted him from the Babes' Home in Milwaukee, Wis. three years ago. She had since married Pecker, who was a real estate agent in San Francisco, and had come here, separated from her husband, and he had taken the boy to relatives in Germany.

Pecker says he married the woman in San Francisco, in June, 1908, and that she had the boy then. He asserts she confessed to him that she had kidnapped the lad from wealthy parents. She left San Francisco, and he followed her to New York, where she was living at the time of her arrest. The military authorities, however, regard these facts as groundless.

Dalgety's forces has been surrounded by some thousands of Boers with eight guns, two Pom-Poms and two Maxim's, since Monday morning. They have given a heavy attack on Tuesday, and again a night attack on Tuesday, and on Thursday there was a continuous shell and rifle fire."

"We are confident of being able to repulse any attack. Food is plentiful. Our casualties under the circumstances are small. The brunt of the fighting, as also of the loss, has been borne by Cape mounted rifemen."

POOR GIRL HANGED HERSELF. Pretty Betty Schirmer, German, Got Homicide and Despondent and Suicided.

New York, April 13.—Loving for her old home, sorrowing at the absence of a friend, and despondent at the prospect of a fortune teller that she soon would die, Betty Schirmer, a pretty young German girl, killed herself in the home of her employer in Jersey City early this morning. She was employed as a servant in the home of Henry Billet, a grocer. The tragedy was enacted in the kitchen. She stood on a chair, fastened one end of a rope to a hook in the ceiling, and jumped from the chair and kicked the chair from under her. Dangling in this fashion, Mr. Billet found her. He also found this pathetic letter, addressed to him, which said: "Life is too bitter for a lone, forgotten soul like me, without a protecting father and mother, and in a far-away country."

MILITIA WILL BE CALLED UPON. Unless There is a Change in the Attitude of the Strikers Before To-Day.

Cruton-on-Hudson, N.Y., April 13.—This was the thirteenth day of the strike of the 800 Italians employed on the new Cornell dam and quarries, and they signalled it by refusing to allow any one to work. Contractors Coleman, Brush, & Coleman telephoned to the Westchester County sheriff's office at White Plains for a hundred deputy sheriffs to be sent here to protect the property and men.

Deputy Sheriff Bruce attempted to patrol with them, but they would not heat him. The strikers were all armed, not only with clubs, but with revolvers and shotguns. They assumed a defiant air, saying Bruce would not be allowed to do this or that. The sheriff's deputy, seeing that his little band would not be able to cope with several hundred enraged strikers, whose numbers were constantly increasing, ordered his deputies back.

Sheriff Molloy arrived on the scene about 7 o'clock. After a consultation with the superintendent, he came away determined to have a big force on the ground to-morrow, and if that force is not adequate he will appeal to the Government to call out the militia.

It looks as if there would be a clash between the strikers and the representatives of the law to-morrow, as the former are hot-headed and very bitter and say they will never give in to the contractors.

Warning to Canadian Politicians. London Daily Mail: Mr. Justice Barnes decided yesterday that the widow and children of Mr. Le Mare, a victim of the Stella disaster, who was travelling under a "free pass" issued by the Government, were entitled to sue the Southwestern Railway Company, the owners of the Stella.

On the back of the "pass" the company relieved themselves from all responsibility for any loss of life or property, but the court held that the company was liable for the loss of the Stella.
