Mr. Lloyd-George Gives an Interview

Concerning His Experiences With Rioters.

paring to go. Then, because those left made an assault on one of the doors with a scaffold-pole, the order was given to draw batons and disperse the crowd. The moment the order was given the police charged the mob with violence, striking right and left at any part of the body, altho the strict rule of the force is that no one shall be struck on the head.

Not content with driving the crowd from the Town Hall, the police followed them down all the streets radiating therefrom, beating and striking as they went. Many harmless pedestrians coming from the theatres and places of amusement were injured.

Practically the whole of the twenty-nine people who were treated at the flospitals between 10.30 and 11 o'clock were suffering from cuts on, the head, resulting from blows from the

"A Deliberate Conspiracy."

A man who has had a lifelong experience of Birmingham politics declares that the rowdyism was the outcome of a deliberate ly-planned conspiracy. He goes so far as to assert that the intention of the ring leaders—one of whom is described as a man who had been in every disturbance in Birmingham during the last 30 years—was to kidnap Mr. Lloyd-George before or after the meeting.

The Lord Mayor of Birmingham, Alderman Lloyd, said yesterday: "It is perfectly ridiculous to blame me. They forget that any one could have had the hall

The Lord Mayor explained that the Liberal Association gave an undertaking to make good any damage done to the hall and its contents.

The hall wore a very woe-begone aspect yesterday morning. Over a thousand pames of glass have been shattered, and the floor was littered with stones, bottles, brick bats, and other missiles.

It is estimated that the damage will reach at least £300, but that is a very haphazard guess.

Black—McKittrick.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place Christmas Eve at the residence of Mrs. McKittrick, 305 Farley-avenue, when the eldest daughter of the late William McKittrick was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Black of Toronto. The bride looked lovely in a gown of white organdic, trimmed with lace and ribbon. She was attended by her sister, Miss Sadie McKittrick, who wore a pretty gown of muslin. The groomsman was Mr. John McKinnon, Rev. J. B. Warnicker, pastor of the Beverteet Baptist Church, officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Black will reside in West Toronto.

Flight persons were charged at the Victoria Coarts yesterday with rifotous conduct, and some with resisting the police.

One man, who had assaulted two constables, was sentenced to two months' hard labor. As regards the others, the magistrates decided not to go into the cases, and the accused were put back, on ball, until Jun. 2. All of them spent - Wednesday night in the cells, the police refusing to allow them to go out on ball.

FINE FURNITURE

EVERYTHING ON THREE FLOORS CUT IN PRICE

We have gone carefully over our entire furniture stock and marked every article down with a determined purpose to largely reduce the volume before the annual stock-taking, which we enter upon almost right away,

It is not a case of poor quality goods made up specially for a cheap sale, nor a picking out of unsalable lines. There is not a piece of furniture on our three floors that is not new, bright and good. The suggestion to cut prices comes from the good business rule of having the size of stocks lessened before the annual inventory is made up. The opportunity is yours to save from a few dollars to $50 and $75 on a single piece of furniture. Sale commences at once. Particulars of the following specials-suggestive of others-tell plainly this fact:
