BRITISH PARLIAMENT IS CONFRONTED WITH PERPLEXING PROBLEM

Irish Situation Is Causing the Gravest Concern in Official Circles.

UNEQUALLED SITUATION

Government Called Upon To Settle the Difficult Question.

London, March 29.—The London Times, commenting editorially on the Irish question says:

Both in respect to the circumstances and the consequences which it may entail, the occasion is grave, beyond measure. We can remember no emergency in domestic politics that has surpassed or even equalled in significance the decision with which the House of Commons is now confronted.

The Times then points out that it has held that while the Irish problem is essentially of British concern, in which foreigners have no right to interfere, the decision with which the House of Commons is now confronted, says the editor.

"It adds," "One indisputable amendment is that the northern parliament should embrace the whole of the nine counties of Ulster." Largely upon this question is based the ultimate stability of the new Irish constitution and the hope of evolving peace from the discord.

The newspaper also advocates giving the joint council of Ireland more definite authority and authority on its to persons other than pledged extremists. Another of the paper's suggestions is that the powers withheld by the present bill should be conferred on the council of Ireland.

The Earl of Dufferin, who says a majority of the people in Ireland are so convinced of the fraudulent nature of the bill as to regard its examination a mere waste of time, also favors the inclusion of the whole of Ulster in the new constitution.

Plunkett, who says "the state of Ireland is the worst in living memory," declares that the army of occupation cannot be removed, and that the government in Ireland is the military authority of the competence of which is being shown daily with tragic proof.

MAJORITY EXPECTED TO FAVOR SECOND READING OF BILL.

London, March 29.—(By the Canadian Associated Press).—The Daily Express says that the Government is making a dramatic change in the military control of Ireland by sending over Gen. Nevill MacCreedy, commissioner of the Frederick Shaw, MacCreedy is regarded as a strong "pacemaker," and has vastly increased powers in Ireland.

The general expectation is that there will be a majority in the Commons for the second reading of the home rule bill, which begins today.

Most of the papers comment editorially on the prospects of the measure and on Ireland's condition. The Times leader runs to three columns, chiefly suggesting amendments of the bill and concluding with the profound conviction that the Irish problem is soluble by forces of honesty, justice and good will. The Morning Post can see only one logical and honest course for the Unionists, namely, to demand a repeal of the existing act and reject the new measure, but the Chronicle and other journals are sympathetic towards the bill as just and honorable.

WESTERN CITIES WILL NOT RETURN TO FAST TIME AGAIN THIS YEAR

Winnipeg, March 29.—It is improbable that the city of Winnipeg will try the scheme of daylight saving again this year. There is a feeling that the idea is not feasible nor practicable.

Calgary also has not considered the matter, and while Edmonton and district will not attempt to put the clocks forward owing to opposition among the farming interests and to the fact that their geographical positions give them long summer evenings anyway.

BY-ELECTION IN ST. JAMES WILL NOT BE DELAYED

Hon. C. J. Doherty Declares Federal Government Cannot Interfere.

LISTS IRREGULAR?

Balloting Likely To Proceed With Incomplete Lists.

Ottawa, March 29.—"So far as I can see, there is nothing we can do here with regard to the by-election in St. James," said Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice this morning. "It is said that the lists are irregular, but the matter is in the hands of the officers who are running the election, and it does not appear that we can do anything in the matter. It would seem, therefore, that the election will proceed on the incomplete lists, which contain largely the names of the women voters registered recently. Owing to the delay in securing the provincial lists, it is held that they are irregular. There is nothing in the by-election act of 1919 to permit the federal authorities postponing an election for any other reason than the election of a candidate."

Paris, March 29.—Gen. Mangin, a member of the French supreme war council, in an interview on the propriety of permitting Wagner's music to be played at the opera, said:

"As far as I am concerned, I fail to see where music has anything to do with patriotism. The repugnance which we have toward German art must disappear. I am not shocked when I hear Wagner's music, and I still can appreciate the beauties of the works of Goethe."

The Farmers' party, which is against the return of the Hapsburgs, has adopted a resolution for a motion in the National Assembly that the federal or any of its members who are propagandists in favor of any candidate at the present time will be declared an act of conspiracy and punished accordingly.

The state officials and the army will take the oath to the constitution and swear allegiance to the regent on Easter Sunday.

Rev. William Ivens, a prominent Winnipeg labor leader, found guilty on a charge of sedition, was sentenced to 18 months in prison.

ELGIN IS DIGGING OUT.

Elgin, Ill., March 29.—Elgin today began digging itself out from the wreckage of yesterday's disastrous tornado, which swept the town and its vicinity.

Many guards and ex-service men on patrol last night laid aside their rifles at dawn and with picks and shovels attacked the heaps of brick, timber and shattered glass.

The electric light without the town power are shut down. No newspapers can be printed here today.

Elgin remains cut off from surrounding towns, and roads rendered impassable by the debris of the tornado.
