Stormy Meeting of Labor Council Decides on Organization.

CRITICIZE OFFICIALS

Chief of Police and Board of Education Verbally Listed.

Last night's session of the District Trades and Labor Council was so stormy that it reminded the older delegates of a meeting of bygone days. The council is not satisfied with the treatment which it is receiving from government and civic officials, and after several answers to communications had been made known to the meeting the delegates decided to endeavor to bring out an independent labor party. The chairman of the board of education and the chief of police were severely criticized. The organization meeting of the new labor party will be held next Thursday evening in the Labor Temple, and all workingmen, organized or unorganized, are invited to attend.

The fireworks started when Delegates Brown and Marks reported to the council that they were denied a hearing before the board of education at its meeting two weeks ago. The delegates were appointed by the council to protest against the board putting into effect compulsory military training in the public schools.

Vice-President Brown declared that he went to the meeting and asked Prustee Hunter to ask Chairman Houston to allow him to voice his protest against the proposal. "Just as Mr.

The reply to the council from the chief of police regarding the request to the board of police commissioners that the policemen be paid their wages semi-monthly instead of once a month, caused considerable discussion. The chief, in his reply, stated that the commissioners do not propose to make any change in the present system of wages until they receive further reasons. The matter was referred to the municipal committee, who will forward their reasons.

Audience Loth to Let Children Retire-Fine Program

Before a fairly large audience the twenty-second annual Scottish concert of the Sons of Scotland was rendered last night at Massey Hall. Vociferous and long applause attested to the success of the program, which consisted of songs, band music, dancing and other features. The grand Scottish fantasia, "Robert Bruce" and "The Cavalry Charge" by the 48th Highlanders' band, under the direction of Lieut. John Slatter, were especially appreciated. Another outstanding feature of the concert was the graceful, and entertaining Highland dancing of two children, Geraldine Harris and Bert Powell, to pipe music furnished by Pipe Major George Murray. An encore was demanded, to which they responded. The two dancers were made

The fighting greatly diminished in intensity on the new British front north of the Ancre yesterday. The Germans bombarded the new British positions, especially about Beaucourt, and the British artillery retaliated, causing several explosions by its fire. In the past twenty-four hours 303 German officers and men have been taken prisoner. British aeroplanes carried out several successful raids and they damaged and drove down a German machine. German guns did a great deal of shelling on the front between Le Sars and Guendecourt and British guns bombarded the Ger-that these vinages dominated, the British have garned an important tac-tical advantage, according to Major-General F. B. Maurice, chief director of military operations. This ridge, he said yesterday, formed a salient jutting into the British lines from the northern bank of the Ancre and it enabled the enemy to direct the fire of his artillery massed in the rear.

He has now lost this great advantage. He also said that the recent British gains were only the forerunners of equally important advances to be made on the western front in the winter. The allies are not going to give the

they are steadily advancing southward till they are now near the Cernavoda-Constanza railway. On their northwestern front the Roumanians, assisted by the Russians, are also making slight progress. On their northern front the Roumanians in the Vulcan and Red Tower passes continued their withdrawal to their second line positions. But even if the enemy emerged from these mountains upon the Roumanian plain the matter would not be settled, but rather he could be attacked with better chances of success than if the Roumanians continued to resist him in the mountains. The old way of defending a mountain chain was to hold the inner mouths of the passes, but the power of long range artillery does not give the defenders of passes in this fashion the advantage over the attack that they

CAMPAIGN IN COUNTIES

Decide on New Methods to Fill Units Organized Outside City.

conference held at Exhibition Camp head-quarters yesterday;
Plans for the City of Toronto recruiting afforts have not yet been definitely laid down, but leading cifizens will be invited in a few days to formulate some cheme along the same lines to be followed in the counties.

Features of the recruiting campaign now starting in the counties are: A recruiting depot of five officers and 20 men in every county; a census of all men of military age, the efforts to enlist to be "moral," but no pressure brought to bear; authority from the Dominion Government granted for traveling expenses, hall rent, motor car hire, to be met by the militia council; organize civilians to arrange public meetings thrucounty councils; a great field day of patriotism in all the churches of every county on the same Sunday (date yet to be decided); all ministers will exchange pulpits on the field day, the sermons to be patriotic; with no appeal for recruits; special efforts to gain recruits by the Clerical Patriotic Association in every county. Question of Deutschland's Cargo recruits; special efforts to gain recruits by the Clerical Patriotic Association in every county.

Another big feature of the campaign will be public receptions to all returned soldiers. These will be in addition to the regular welcome they new receive on returning to the city.

Give Names of Employes.

The military authorities intend to appeal to all employers to assirt them by furnishing nan es of men who might be approached by recruiting officers.

Lieut-Col. G. H. Williams, chief recruiting officer for No. 2 district, said there would be no attempt to injure the demands of industry. He was confident that those under age, over age and the unifits for military service, would be sufficient to "keep the wheels of industry whirling."

Volunteers for enlistment in Toronto yesterday totaled 25, and of these 14 were accepted and 11 rejected. The Army Service Corps secured five of the accepted enlistments.

Captain (Dr.) Victor Moorehouse, son of Dr. H. H. and Mrs. Moorehouse, 128 St. Patrick street, has been awarded the Military Cross for gallant service with the Army Medical Corps.

Sergt. Walter J. Binney of the 15th Batfalion (48th Highlanders) has received the Military Medal for gallantry on the field. He has been nearly two years at the front, and was wounded last May.

Are Now Captains.

The following Dental officers have been marine Deutschland, and clear hints the Conservatives now in power, were contained in a remarkable address made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to between 400 and 500 Liberals gathered at the banquet tonight in the Chateau Laurier, given to the provincial and federal riding associations of eastern Ontardo, under the auspices of the Ottawa Reform Association.

Pte. Bell was well known and very popular in the Earlscourt district, where previous to his enlisting he conducted a large boot and shoe business at 1212 North Dufferin street. He is single, aged 29 years, a native of Hampsthwaite, Yorkshire, England, and came to Canada nine years ago.

Feeling that it was his duty to take up arms in defence of the empire, he responded to the call, and sold his business to his brother, Harry Bell, St. Clair avenue, and enlisted in the 95th Battalion, where he was soon promoted to the rank of corporal, which he forfeited on arrival in England in order to more quickly arrive at the front. He was only in France six weeks when the cable was received announcing that he was wounded. Writing to his brother, Harry, under date October 23rd, he says: "You will no doubt read the accounts of our aircraft. Well, it is all true. Fritz has not a look in. I saw five of them come over one morning, but you would have langhed to see them beat it when our's came on the scene. Our's are regular dare-devils; they will go right over the enemy's lines and shoot down into their trenches, and when their shells burst around they will circle right around where they burst and give them the Ha, ha. Since coming here I have slept in every kind of a dump imaginable, some with a thatched roof and some without. I feel now like an old campaigner. We have lots of friendly rats around here, and one in particular would not allow me to sleep the other night. It would persist in puling down the earth on my face. My companion, Billy, woke up and swore he had twenty on his leg. We are quite close to the German front line, about 35 yards' distance, so you see we are near neighbors."
