LATE LOCALS

In the Brussels street Baptist church last evening Miss Edwards sang Crossing the Bar with singular sweetness and power of expression.

The new warehouse being built by Clarke & Adams will probably be completed this week, and the work of wiring it for electric lights will then be proceeding with.

Regarding Director Murdoch's annual report, Engineer Hunter claims that the objectionable features were introduced by the director after the report had passed through the hands of the committee on revision.

Members of the different departments of the Temple of Honor and Temperance held their annual parade yesterday. Headed by the St. Mary's Band, they marched to St. Matthew's church, where Rev. A. H. Foster preached an able sermon.

Rev. W. E. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, of Souris East (P. E. I.), were in the city Saturday on their return after a pleasant trip to Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, Stettler, Brandon, Medicine Hat, Regina, and other towns of interest in the west. They went to Brown's Plats Saturday afternoon, and returned this morning and left for P. E. Island on the noon train.

PERSONALS

Miss M. Whelly is visiting friends in Boston and New York, accompanied by Miss F. Gallivan.

Miss Maggie McCracken, 171 Chesley St. accompanied by her friend, Miss Beanie Kennedy leaves on tomorrow evening's train for a trip through Maine.

Mrs. W. O. Raymond and Miss Raymond returned Saturday from Montreal, where they attended the wedding of Rev. W. O. Raymond, Jr.

Rev. St. W. Anthony, the new pastor of the Congregational church, will reside at 65 Elliott Row.

Mrs. John E. Moore, Mrs. S. Holly, Miss M. Holly and Miss Tapley left for Boston on Saturday.

Miss Lou Russell will leave for Boston today.

Thomas Finnigan has returned after a pleasant holiday trip to Boston. Friends of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Polly will congratulate them upon the addition to their family of a young son which arrived this morning.

Mrs. Calvin Powers and Mrs. E. S. Hennigan returned on Saturday evening from a pleasant visit to Halifax.

James Stackhouse, the twelve-year-old son of Joseph Stackhouse of west end was taken to the General Public Hospital on Saturday afternoon suffering from appendicitis. An operation was successfully performed on Saturday night and the boy is today resting easily.

THE EVERY DAY CLUB OPENS THIS EVENING

The Every Day Club will be reopened this evening for the fall and winter season. There will be no special programme, but men will be welcomed to the game room and reading tables. The club is a little short of good reading matter and will be glad to receive donations of magazines.

BURGLARY AT DUCK COVE

An attempt to break into the summer cottage belonging to J. D. Evans, of Hampton, at Duck Cove, was apparently frustrated by the timely arrival of George Craigie on the scene. Mr. Craigie's father owns a cottage in the vicinity, and yesterday George went there to spend the day. Hearing a noise at Mr. Evans' house and knowing the family to be in Hampton, he went to investigate and found a tramp on the veranda. The stranger on seeing Mr. Craigie, took to his heels, and the shutters had been torn off and the glass broken in one of the windows. Mr. Craigie nailed it up securely before leaving the house.

FOOLISH YOUNG GIRLS

On King Square last evening, about half past eight, some young girls who should have been at home were acting foolishly with young fellows who should have had more respect for the reputation of the girls. On Queen Square, later in the evening, girls in short dresses were fooling with young fellows in a manner that was severely censured by people who passed that way. If the mothers of any of these young girls could have witnessed their bold and foolish conduct they would have felt the necessity of keeping a sharper eye on their movements on Sunday evening.

OCTOBER RASPBERRIES

A box of large, ripe and luscious raspberries was placed on the Times office's desk this morning by H. J. Roberts of Douglas Avenue, who picked them in his garden.

In September of last year Mr. Roberts brought the Times a similar treat, as an illustration of the fruit growing possibilities of the sunny slopes along the avenue. These brought this morning are fully formed, large in size and very rich in coloring. There were as many more on the bushes from which they were picked.

WILL MEET IN BOSTON

It looks as if 1908 would be a big "convention year" in Boston. A large number of organizations, including the Knights of Pythias, the United Spanish-American War Veterans and the International Typographical Union, are to meet in this city. Boston's popularity as a convention city adds a good many dollars annually to its revenue.—Boston and Maine Messenger.

SUNDAY DRUNKS

Yesterday afternoon a Times man saw two drunken men on Main street, and three more on Mill street. Last evening two men were leading along Union street a third who was too drunk to walk alone. There are places in the city where it is quite easy to get liquor on Sunday.

HAY $22 IN TORONTO

(Toronto World)
Although it is not the usual price paid the farmers, and perhaps more than it ought to bring, yet hay sold privately on the Toronto market yesterday for $22 a ton.

DR. SILAS ALWARD TELLS A GOOD STORY

Which is Suggested to Him by a Meeting With an Old Friend

Thomas Hetherington, ex-M. P. P. who is now a Canadian immigration agent in Boston, concerned in the repatriation of provincialists who desire to come back to Canada, and in making known to all the advantages of this country as a field for settlers, was in town on Saturday and left for Boston in the evening. Mr. Hetherington says the movement toward Canada has not been as large this year as last, but there is nevertheless a steady gain in the population of Canada from the United States.

While he and the Times man were talking together on Prince William street, Dr. Silas Alward came along and after shaking hands told a story.

It was a story of the days when he and Mr. Hetherington were members of the provincial legislature. The leader of the opposition at that time was a highly esteemed gentleman whose powerful voice carried far, and who sometimes spoke louder than his opponents deemed necessary. One day he was delivering himself of a criticism of the government with unusual vehemence, and in the course of his remarks shouted:

"If my constituents in Westmorland could hear my voice!"

The orator paused a moment for breath when Mr. Hetherington mildly interjected:—"Open the windows—and they'll hear you."

The effect of the oration was spoiled, and the house was shaken with the laughter that arose on both sides.

Dr. Alward told several other stories, and Mr. Hetherington also grew reminiscent, but it would never do to print all they said.

AN ARTISTIC TREAT

First Faculty Concert at Mount Allison Conservatory of Music Held on Friday Evening.

SACKVILLE, Oct. 7.—The faculty concert of Mount Allison Conservatory of Music was held on Friday evening, and was a very enjoyable event. There was a large attendance and an excellent programme was rendered. A novelty which proved delightful was The Meistersinger Overture, arranged for three voices and twelve hands. Miss Mitchell, in her reading of Van Dyke's "Lost Word," showed exceptional elocutionary skill. The programme was as follows:

Organ solo—A Lied (Wolstenholme), b. Andantino (Lemare), c. Moderato (Caini) Miss Booth.
Pianoforte solo—Polaris (Chopin) Miss MacElderry.
Song—Mon Coeur S'ouvre a ta Voix (Saint Saens) Miss Hemmings; at the piano, Mr. Mitchell.
Violin solo—The Swan, (Saint Saens), b. The Volin (Lemare), c. Mazurka (Wieniawski), Miss Ayer; at the piano, Mr. Hetherington.
Reading—The Vision of Sir Launfal (James Russell Lowell), Miss Tall.
The Meistersinger Overture—(Wagner) arranged for three voices and twelve hands, Miss Cawthorne, Miss Booth, Mr. Hetherington, Miss MacElderry, Miss Mitchell, Miss Pianoforte solo—Rhapsodie (Brahms) Miss Mitchell.
Reading—The Lost Word (Van Dyke), Miss Mitchell.
Song—Entr'acte Me Not to Leave Thee (Hornell), Miss Hemmings; at the piano, Mr. Hetherington.
Pianoforte solo—Mazurka (Christensen) Mr. Hetherington.

AN EVERY DAY CLUB IN CAMPBELLTON

Rev. P. J. Stackhouse, who was a member of the executive committee which established the Every Day Club in this city, is interested in a similar institution for men in Campbellton. The Union Brotherhood, which already have enrollment of fifty men, is fixing up rooms in the basement of the church, to be supplied with the daily newspapers and magazines and used as a reading room and also for regular Sunday afternoon meetings of the Brotherhood. The rooms adjoining the church, which already have enrollment of fifty men, is fixing up rooms in the basement of the church, to be supplied with the daily newspapers and magazines and used as a reading room and also for regular Sunday afternoon meetings of the Brotherhood. CELEBRATED THEIR 116th ANNIVERSARY

The 116th anniversary of Queen square Methodist church was fittingly celebrated yesterday when there was special music and preaching at both services.

At the evening service J. W. Smith, as trustee of the church, read a financial statement in which he showed the church to be more than $15,000 in debt and Mr. Smith and the pastor both made a plea for enlarged contributions and support.

The attendance was very large, and the congregations were delighted with the eloquent sermons preached by Rev. Mr. Marr. At the morning service his subject was Solomon's Temple and Its Greatness and he treated it in a masterly manner. Miss Agnes Munro and Miss Cheyne sang at both services and DeWitt Cairns and Mrs. F. G. Spencer in the evening.

THE NIGHT FERRY

W. H. Logan, who proposes to establish a night ferry between the east and west side ferry floats if the common council today does not decide otherwise, will use a long rowboat that will accommodate twenty-five people. The service will begin November 1st. The charge will be 10 cents, except for winterport laborers, who will be carried for 5 cents.

Furs of Beauty, Style and Quality

SUCH FURS ARE INVARIABLY SATISFACTORY—WE HAVE THEM

Novelty Models and Standard Patterns

LADY EXPECTS TO GET ALL THE QUALITIES MENTIONED IN THE TOP LINE when she invests in furs—good furs. The money outlay is usually too much to consider the transaction as trivial. Genuine furs should last a lifetime almost, indeed many are today wearing Mink and Seal that are veritable heirlooms. When we claim for our fur stock the prime essential of quality we mean that it has been most carefully selected. The skins are prime ones, the dressing, handling, assorting and workmanship is of the expert order, the designs of finished pieces thoroughly modish. These are all essential points always appreciated by discriminating buyers.
