MR. B. F. SMITH'S EXPLOITS.

For cutting green timber on the Tobique Indian Reserve Chief Lockwood was sent to jail. Being an Indian he could safely be prosecuted under the law. For cutting green timber on the Tobique Indian Reserve Mr. B. F. Smith was not sent to jail. Being a tory political and a close friend of Mr. Fleming and Mr. Hazen and an enthusiasitic supporter of Mr. Borden he could not safely be prosecuted under the law without the possibility of damage to the political interests of the gentlemen named. The whole story is told in today's Times. It is most illuminating as an illustration of the manner in which named. The whole story is told in today's Times. It is most illuminating as might arise.

Mr. Borden, the advocate of purity in politics, should surely make some observations upon the conduct of his friend Mr. Smith. The evidence accumulates to prove that Mr. Borden is quite unable to earry fine effect any theories he may have been supposed to entertian to put down graft and purity politics in Canada. Never in the history of the Country has there been such a carnival maturally subjected him to a good deal of criticism. In June last Mr. Churchill told the House of Commons that in consequence of the rejection of the Canadian nary bill it had been decided to start the construction of three of the ships in the current year's programme at once instead of waiting till the following March. The proper course to have pursued would of course have been to have asked for a supplementary estimate, and the Manchester Guardian pointed out this fact on the day following his speech, when it sald:—

"In consequence of Mr. Churchill's statement yesterday considerably more than two millions will have to be paid and a supplementary estimate will therefore be necessary."

The house did not rise until August, but Mr. Churchill's did not ask for his supplementary estimate. He did, however, go ahead with his shipbuilding programme, and now asks the house to cadorse the expenditure made, although it had not been authorized by parillament. It is not surprising that the course he has pursued is sharply criticised. The Manchester Guardian says that Mr. Churchill has embarked on a new policy and spent money upon it, not only in advance of what the Commons have voted, but in advance of what the Commons have voted, but in advance of what the Commons have voted, but in advance of what the Commons have voted, but in advance of what the Commons have voted, but in advance of wholly abandoned. The interest in the sential supplementary estimates where the course would be to disregard entirely parliamentary continue such a course would be to to disregard entirely parliamentary control of the finances. Hence the Guardian says that mr. Churchill has embarked on a new policy and spent money upon it, not only in advance of what the Commons have voted, but in advance of more law to the provinces, and there can be to disregard entirely parliamentary control of the finances. Hence the Guardian says that the control of the finances. Hence the Guardian says that the control of the finances of the control of the finances.

'So great a grievance demands more than a passing protest. Something in the nature of permanent reform is needed. What seems to be necessary if parliament is to retain any of its control over the spending of money on the navy is a standing committee on the estimates. This committee should have power

IRTHDAYS OF NOTABILITIES

FRIDAY, MARCH 20.

Lord Somers, who with his brotherin-law, Lord Hyde, is engaged in farming in plebian style near Pickering, Ont.,
celebrates his twenty-seventh birthday today. This "plowing peer of Pickering" is a very well set-up, plain-living and sensible young man, and among his rural neighbors he dresses and behaves like a thorough going democrat. Before he succeeded to the barony, he was simply Arthur Herbert Tennyson Cocks, great nephew of the fifth baron. He was a lieutenant in the First Life Guards and at the coronation of the late Edward VII. acted as one of His Majesty's pages. The farming experiment was begun two years ago and is said to be meeting with fair success.

pending presentation of report."

Mr. Smith was given authority to cut burnt timber, but the instructions from the department were explicit. They said:—

"No green or partly green trees shall be cut."

Mown Mr. Bonar Law's motion of centure from ninety-three. Six Edward Carson's spectacular department of the day. It is quite clear, so far as the government is concerned, that it will not be moved by vague threats to abandon its home through a thickly populated thoroughfare.

"Say, mister," sang out a good of the law's motion of centure for per's Magazine.

The old horse, which interfered badly, and his driver, Sam Winters, had undeniably seen better days.

Sam had just finished his day's work of peddling and was driving wearily home through a thickly populated thoroughfare.

"Say, mister," sang out a good of the law's motion of centure for per's Magazine.

MARNING NEWS OWED THE WINE

John L. Lawson, reporter on the staff of the Chicago Tribune, and a former resident of P. E. Island, was killed yesterday in a fall in the elevator shaft of the Tribune building in Chicago.

Simon Legere, said to be despondent over a love affair, was found dead in his boarding house in Moncton last night with two bullet wounds in his breast. He was engaged to be married to Exelda Bourque, daughter of the proprietor of the boarding house, but a disagreement which they had had is said to have induced him to kill himself.

The vote of censure on the British government which was moved in the house of commons yesterday by Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, was rejected 345 to 252. Arthur J. Balfour, summoned by Bonar Law, made a hurried return from the Riviera and arrived in London in time to participate in the division.

One day I was looking over your Almanac, and saw your advertisement for Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got 5 boxes, and I am glad to say that they brought me back to life again, and from ow on I will never be without them."

On the road ahead of him he happened to see his family doctor speeding along in his roadster. He felt so sick that he applied WILLIAM GAGNON'S BOOTS Bathurst Northern Light:—A burglar made an attempt on six Bathurst stores sometime Monday night or early Tuesday morning and succeeded in effecting an entrance to one of them, W. J. Kemida evolvers, knives, cartridges, jewellry and two pair of boots. He carelessly left an old pair of boots which have been identified as belonging to William Gagnon, aged seventeen, who has just returned to Bathurst after spending a term in Dorchester for burglarizing Kent's store two years ago. It is known that the suspected party was trying to get away on an early train Tuesday. The police of all the towns between Campbellton and St. John have been notified and given a description of Gagnon and it is expected that he will be apprehended.
