

BISHOP INGHAM IN REPLY TO PROTESTS OF CANADIAN CLERICS

A Montreal Star London cable says— Bishop Ingham sends me a vigorous rejoinder to the protests of Canadian Anglican bishops and clerics as published in the Montreal Star. He says he did not expect his ecclesiastical viewpoint to be popular, but that he had no intention of sheltering behind an anonymous attack.

"It is a great mistake," he declares, "for the Church leaders in Eastern Canada to take the chapter as an attack on the Church of England in Canada. Every other word in the entire book contradicts that thought. In my simplicity I thought that the story of a few blunders, or, as we will say, mistakes of past experience, would not have been resented by the authorities of a great church that has a tremendous task before it, and which is only now laying down lines of advance."

"Those who make no mistakes make nothing. I cannot believe that one single true clergyman, after reading the book through, will mistake the good, even kindly, intention of those who sent it forth."

Bishop Ingham says he himself suppressed the name of Canada's cleric whose attack aroused so much heat. He wrote at Bishop Ingham's instigation in the midst of a strenuous ministry about as far from East Canada as East Canada is from England. He only wanted to help, not to hinder.

The further protests of the Bishop of Fredericton, Dean Bidwell, and Dean Dowell, published here, evoke regret among many Anglicans that an English bishop should have occasioned so much ill-feeling and such a sense of injustice among Canadian brethren.

HARRIED DOE KILLS HERSELF AND CAPTOR As Wildcat Clings to Her Back She Leaps in Front of Train and Both Die.

A large doe, harried by a wildcat which clung to her neck and back, brought on her death and that of the cat near Clearfield, Pa., the other day by running in front of a fast moving freight train and dropping to the track to await the end.

The doe was first seen by the trainmen as she swam Moose Creek and crossed the rails of the New York Central railroad a few miles below there. At that time the cat was not in sight, but the doe was evidently very frightened. After the freight train had rounded a sharp curve about a quarter of a mile from where the doe was first seen the engine driver saw the animal emerge from the woods with a giant cat clinging to her back.

For an instant the doe, on seeing the train thundering toward her, hesitated, and then with a bound she reached the rails and dropped in front of the oncoming train. Before the train could be brought to a standstill the lives of the doe and her captor had been crushed out.

For Visitors to the Summer Cottage When you're asked to week-end with some friends at the lake, There is certain apparel you never should take, Leave your bathing suit home; when it's time to immerse Your hostess, of course, will be glad to lend hers.

Some women might carry a gown negligee, Something cool to put on in the heat of the day. But you might get it soiled if you lug it about, And your hostess has one you can wear without doubt.

An old skirt for boating is something you'll need. But don't take one along, for it's folly indeed! If ever the need for an old skirt occurs, Just go to your hostess. She'll gladly lend hers.

And then when to pack your belongings you start, Just keep all you've borrowed, and with it depart; For your hostess' ill-will it always incurs If you don't carry off all the stuff that is hers.

BLUECOAT WEDS GIRL HE SAVED IN A RUNAWAY At Risk of Life Two Years Ago He Stopped Frantic Animal's Wild Dash. Following a romance which started in the gallop of a runaway on the side of Fly mountain, Eddyville, N. Y., three years ago, Michael J. McLaughlin, a policeman attached to the Lenox avenue station in New York, and Miss Anna Mercedes Tuite, of No. 164 East 108th street, New York, have just been wedded, and are now commencing their honeymoon in Boston. The ceremony took place in St. Cecilia's Catholic church, the Rev. Michael Phalen officiating.

In the summer of 1910 Miss Tuite was spending her vacation in Eddyville, and was often seen in the country roads handling the reins behind a dashing bay. She was coming down the steep mountain side on June 25, 1910, when her horse became sulky and finally bolted. The girl tugged frantically at the reins and screamed for help.

The man who is now her husband was walking along the road with several friends. They ran to her assistance. McLaughlin in a flying leap for the bride managed to grab the shaft and hung on. He hauled himself by a great effort to a position where he could seize the rein. For half a mile he was dragged, all the time jerking at the frantic animal's head, trying to cut off his wind and resorting to other measures practiced by horsemen. The girl shouted that she was going to jump. "Keep your seat and I'll get you out all right," shouted McLaughlin.

Finally, bruised and cut, and with his clothes in tatters, he brought up the horse. He was unable to lift Miss Tuite, who was almost on the verge of collapse, from the carriage, but the next day he received her profuse thanks and they became well acquainted.

When he left Eddyville she cut short her vacation and came to New York on the same train. The romance progressed until their friends were informed that they were engaged. They will reside in the Fordham section of the Bronx.

To Have Perfect Skin Throughout the Summer (From The Guide to Beauty) These days the face and neck need special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercolized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion beautifully white and spotless. Tan, freckles, blotches and roughened cuticle are actually absorbed by it. One ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a solid complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.

As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, a good astringent lotion should be used. Dissolve one ounce powdered exsoltite in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathe the face in this during the heat of the day or before going out for theatre or social affair. It is a remarkable skin tightener and wrinkle eraser.

This Hair Remover Works Like Magic (Tollet Talks) A paste made with water and powdered delatone and applied to the skin will banish hair or fuz. The paste should be left on two or three minutes, then removed and the surface washed. This leaves the skin hairless, firm and white. If the growth is thick or stubborn, it may require a second application. You can get a small, original package of delatone from your druggist, and to those afflicted with superfluous growths this will prove a boon.

This eyebrow can be made to grow thick and lustrous by rubbing pyroxin on with finger-end, and short, straight eyelashes will come in long and curly if pyroxin be applied at lash-roots with thumb and forefinger. Be careful and don't get any pyroxin where no hair is wanted.
