Causes the Death of the Archbishop of Canterbury on Sunday.

He Was on a Visit to His Old Friend Hon. Mr. Gladstone at Hawarden.

Her Majesty's Message of Sympathy to the Bereaved Widow-The Funeral

London, Oct. 13.—The Archbishop of Canterbury was seized with apoplexy after the service commenced at Hawarden church Sunday morning. He was carried to the rectory, where he died at 11:30 o'clock. The Rev. Archibald Farrar, dean of Canterbury, received a telegram from Staphen Gladstone, the rector of Hawarden church, stating the Archbishop of Canterbury passed away peacefully and suddenly at 11:15 o'clock. He had attended the early communion. Dean Farrar, in preaching in the cathedral Sunday evening, referred to his forty-five years' intimacy with the deceased prelate.

The Archbishop of Canterbury arrived at Hawarden on Saturday evening, on his return from a visit in the north of Ireland. He appeared then to be in robust health, and expressed to Mrs. Gladstone his great gratification over his Irish tour. He arose early on Sunday, and attended the early communion with his wife and others. The weather was bitterly cold, and Mr. Gladstone did not cupied the Gladstone pew, near the Columbia.

Directly the service pegan, and while the rector, Rev. Stephen Gladstone, was reading the absolution, Archbishop Benwho was kneeling, was seen to witch in the arm for a few minutes, Gladstone, finding the Archbishop had had a dangerous seizure, cailed to the clerk and others, who carried him to the library. Doctors were astily summoned. The stricken prelate was gasping painfully for breath. Apcations of ether and other means to duce artificial respiration were resort-Mr. Gladstone, the rector, who d left the church when the archbishop

Henry Gladstone whispered the news the rector, who announced the archbishop's death, the news causing a profound sensation among the worshippers in the church. The hymn, "Forever With the Lord," was sung and the death march was played, all present standing and showing themselves to be leeply affected Mrs. Gladstone conveyed the sad news to her husband, who was greatly shocked and distressed. Afterwards, remarkng on the event, Mr. Gladstone said: "He died like a soldier."

The official medical announcement of the death to the coroner stated it was due to apoplexy. The medical attendan's concur in the opinion that heart failure caused the death, but that was irectly due to the seizure.

Mrs. Benson was present at the time of her husband's death, and she afterwards went to Hawarden. The bells were tolled, and references were made to the death of the primate of all England in many of the churches in the kingdom Sunday night. The Queen has telegraphed to Mrs. senson, widow, as follows: "I am unned at the awful news and my heart bleeds for you, but my own sorrow is great, for I was so fond of the dear, kind, excellent archbishop. At the terrible loss to all my dear daughter joins ne in my expression of sympathy." Mr. Gladstone is well, but deeply saddened at the death of Dr. Benson, his old

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 13.-The judgment of the supreme court to-day in the case submitted to it as to the status of the provinces and the Dominion in inland and non-navigable waters is very much involved, but practically the decision is in favor of the provinces, except in so much as it confirms the judgment in the case of the Queen vs. Robertson in respect of non-navigable waters and extends the same rule of law to all navigable rivers and great lakes, the bodies of which are wholly in the province, the right of fishing therein being a publie common right subject to provincia; legislation. The Dominion is confined to the powers of conservancy and regu-lation of fisheries. The Dominion has power to enact the imposition of a general license upon all persons fishing, but such license cannot be restricted to any particular locality. The Dominion's power is general, and cannot give a license for any particular lake, river or other water. ### MYSTERIOUS DEATHS.

Body of a Man Who Disappeared Seven Years Ago Found. Chillicothe, O., Oct. 13.—The mystery surrounding the fate of William Lee, who mysteriously disappeared from this locality seven years ago, has been cleared up by the finding of his skeleton on the edge of the bay, near Rochester, N. Y., with a bullet hole in his head. He was identified by a tooth, a knife and pipe and a pair of boots. A revolver was found near, but it is not his. There is no doubt the man was murdered. His widow and children live here.

Hartford, Wis., Oct. 13.-The bodies of two men, evidently dead several weeks, have been found under some undressed. He States His Views in a Long Letter to Samuel Bancroft Jr.

was received to-day from Ambassador Thos. F. Bayard by Samuel Bancroff, Jry of Every Evening, in which the views of Mr. Bayard regarding the present political crisis in the United States are given at length. The letter is as follows: London, Sept. 30th., 1896.—My dear Mr. Bancroft.—It seems scarcely possible that any one can be in doubt in relation to my personal opinion upon the very serious issue now placed be-fore our countrymen. The evils which surround us, and the perils which confront us are not grown in a night, nor do they come without warning. The dangers of disregarding sound financial principles have been distinctly before been told and reiterated. Looking over the last twenty-five years, as representative of Delaware in the United States senate, and as a citizen discussing else there public measures, I cannot discer any failure on my part to speak with absolute plainness in opposition to the acts of legislation and the financial and commercial policies which are respon-ible for the present perilous and dis-

legislative flat to create values, and regardless of their intrinsic or commercial value, to invest one or other of the earth metals, with arbitrary power as money, and override and alter by legislative will or caprice the ratio of exchangeability of the metal regardless of the impairment of obligations or contracts, his answer should be that such a claim to power is not consistent with the government's limited powers as defined by our constitution, and contains the quintessence of tryanny, of dishonest absolutism, and is destructive of that moralty which is essential to the peace and stability of civilized society. In plain words, the proposition is to destroy the institution of property, and break down every legal defense for its protection. This one question, and its answer, sufficiently justifies the prompt and absolute refusal of a constitutional Democrat to support, in any degree, the minees of the Chicago convention (Messrs, Bryan and Sewall) and the preosterous claim of legislative power contained in their platform, under which he credit of the nation, the peace and order of society, would inevitably perish. On the other hand, we have the Republican organization, whose measures and leaders have steadily created dangers that threaten the country and made possible such a ticket, such propositions as were presented at Chicago. While compelled to recoil from the policy of compulsory purchase and coinage of silver as an unlmitted legal tender, they yet insistently propose to employ means to intensify the profound powers of public taxation, to prohibit commerce with other countries, thereby preventing reverue from coming into the public treasury, to lay on taxes which shall prevent the payment or collection of other taxes necessary for the support of la grippe and recognizing it as danger- the government. Those powers are to be exerted, directly and personally, upon each individual citizen over every tisement of Chamberlain's Cough Rem part of land or water within our boundedy and the many good recommenda- aries. Every constitutional Democrat can truly reply to such propositions that they are fraught with such gross iniquity between man and man as is inconsistent with public safety, because they would employ the most far-reaching severeign power known to government to impoverish the workers and the poorer members of society (who form the great numerical majority), and aggrandize those already firancially stronger. It extends the system which has already created inequality before the law, and subject industrious citizens to competition with their own governthem by taxation and employed for the

The Citizen to-day says that whenever the British Columbia judgeship came up in council Sir Oliver Mowat cited a point in the constitution in favor of a provincial man getting the position. The report that an outsider was to be selected was utterly baseless. The present government is in favor of provincial rights. It was Tupper and his government that perpetrated all kinds of outrages on the Leadership. London, Oct. 14 .- The St. James Gazette this afternoon referring to the reported resignation of Sir William Verion Harcourt, as leader of the Liberal party in the house of commons, says it may be stated that he arrived at no hasty decision. He has been dissatisfied at being obliged to seek a Welsh seat and was disagreeably surprised at so nany Liberals rallying to Lord Rosebery's side. Continuing, the St. James Gazette says, the report of his intended resignation is semi-official, but it is beand doubt that Sir Wm. Harcourt conemplates the sensational move.

Sir William Harcourt replying to an nquiry on the subject to-day, telegraphs that there is no truth in the report that he has resigned the leadership of the Liberal party in the house of commons.

Russian Forces Mobilized at Sebastopol and Elsewhere, and Batoul have been mobilized. Gen. Bobrickoff, chief of the war office staff, recently arrived at Sebastopol and has held important conferences with the local commanders. He has inspected the garrison and arsenal and has picked out a company of submarine engineers, who have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to immediately embark upon a gunboat. This gunboat is already loaded with mines, shells and torpedoes. The interior garrisons in Poland, Taurida ada the Caucasus have received orders to be in re noment's notice to board special trains for ports on the Euxine.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 13.-Hon. Messrs. Cameron, McMillan and Watson arrived last night. Mr. Cameron met Messrs: Laurier, Mowat and Scott at 3:30 to-day and talked over the school question, The delegates were reticent to say any basis of settlement had already been arrived at, he did not anticipate any sericus difficulty in reaching an amicable solution and thus geiting the matter out of the political arena and finally settled. Toronto, Oct. 13 .- The Globe says the terms of settlement of the school question will probably be made known within a week. It is pretty certain that it will meet with the approval of candid minded men familiar with the spirit of our constitution and the circumstances of the case. The whole country will welcome the immediate removal of the question from the federal arena. Mr. Watsen asked as to the object of the visit of the delegates, and they replied "school question." Asked if he looked for a favorable and satisfactory settle-ment, he replied their presence in Ot-tawa was the best evidence of that.

Of Bark Lovise Arrive at Philadelphia in Almost Lifeless Condition.

Philadelphia, Oct. 13.-The British steamer Evelyn, Capt. Horner, from Huelva, Spain, anchored in the Delaware river this evening, having on board the almost lifeless bodies of nine sea men of the crew of the Norwegian bark Lovise, who were picked up at sea af ter being adrift without food and water for nine days. Their condition when rescued was a most pitiable one, and so faint had they become that it was necessary to tic lines to them to haul them aboard the ship. The particulars of the terrible sufferings of the men are meagre, as they are still too weak to go into details. The Lovise, in charge of Captain Anderson, left Mobile Aug. 17 for Rosario with a full cargo of lumber. She experienced hurricanes and was badly disabled. Her condition became so bad that all hands had to leave her in two small boats, and until the Evelyn hove in sight they had not seen a vessel for nine days. They could not have lasted another night. Under the treatment received since on board the Evelvn the unfortunate men are recovering, but their condition is still precarious.
