DIRECTORS MUST BRING
HEINZE'S BOOKS TO COURT

Or be Sentenced for Contempt—Heinze
and the Secretary Have Fled to Europe
With the Documents.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The federal grand jury investigation of F. Augustus Heinze, in connection with the alleged misapplication of the funds of the Mercantile National Bank, took a sensational turn today, when United States District Attorney Wise applied to and secured from Federal Judge Lacombe, an order directing certain directors of the United Copper Company to produce the full and complete books of that concern in court forthwith, or be declared in contempt.

The directors named, Sanford Robinson, Carter Glass, William J. Curtis and Horace Abel, reported to the court at four o'clock this afternoon, the time set by Judge Lacombe, that they were unable to comply with the court's order, as Mr. Heinze, the president of the United Copper Company, had refused to give them the books or tell where they are. Mr. Heinze gave as his reason, they said, that he was under indictment and further investigation, so that they were helpless for the moment, but would make every effort to get into the company's vaults and search for the books if given time.

The directors told the court that they had called a special meeting to take place five days hence, when Heinze and the Secretary-Treasurer, Clifford Gifford, would be deposed from their official positions and the company, Heinze, the directors added, had told them that Gifford had taken the minutes books with him to Europe. Judge Lacombe declared that under the circumstances, he would be lenient and give the directors further time to recover the books. He fixed Tuesday afternoon as the time for them to report in court.

JOHN MITCHELL OBJECTS TO GUNS FOR UNION LABOR

Tears Out President Kerby, of National Association of Manufacturers, Who Want to Shake Goodness Out of Workmen

NEW YORK, May 28.—The executive council of the National Civic Federation gave out today an advance copy of an article by John Mitchell which is to appear in the next issue of the Federation's Review. The article is a reply to a speech made by Mr. Kirby, the newly elected president of the National Association of Manufacturers, at the experience of our country, the owners and managers of which work in harmony and co-operation with the organized workmen, they employ.

"Paradoxical as it may seem, the representatives of this employers' association in one breath, deny and denounce what they term 'class' division and 'class' hatred' and in the next breath malign and berate their fellow-citizens who are working men, and all other groups of society in sympathy with the legitimate purposes and high ideals of the labor movement.

"They claim and proclaim the right and necessity of organizing among employers, yet deny to working men the right of organization and combination. They prate about law and order, yet advocate violence and anarchy; they suggest the use of the cannon as a means of dispersing the working men, yet they malign and berate the great majority of the employers of labor who refuse to join them in carrying forward their policy of law and order.

"That Mr. Kirby, a 'captain wheeled a twelve-pound run into line, and the rioters dispersed in every direction. That's my way of dealing with a criminal.

"The only way to handle that animal (the organized wage earner) is to take him by the horns and shake the goodness out of him. The labor question involves a great principle that should not be compromised if America is to stay America. We find men of prominence who ought to be ashamed of themselves harboring the leaders of that organization (the American Federation of Labor) and sending them out over the country to address women's clubs. That is the greatest danger we have. If it had not been for that class of people organized labor of the militant type would be as dead as a mackerel today."

A series of quotations from well-known men in defence of labor organizations follows, and then he gives his own views as follows: "One has but to read the reported utterances of the chosen spokesman of the National Association of Manufacturers to become

SCHOOL BOYS FOUND
TRAIN ROBBER SUSPECTS

And Teacher. Discovered the Registered Mail Bags—Will Get $15,000 if Men are the Real Bandits.

OMAHA, Neb., May 28.—Three small schoolboys yesterday brought about the arrest of three men believed to be the robbers who last Saturday held up the Overland Limited train on the Union Pacific R. R. at the city limits of Omaha, and a woman school teacher today discovered the looted mail pouches seized at that robbery. To these three boys and to their teacher probably will go $15,000 reward offered by the Union Pacific R. R. if the prisoners prove to be the men wanted.

The police made the arrests, but to the sharp eyes of schoolboys belongs the credit of discovering the hidden tools of the robbers, thus bringing about the arrests of the suspects, and to the deductive reasoning of Mrs. Nora Freeman, a teacher, scores of detectives ascribe the fact that they added the mail pouches, in the attic of the school.

When schoolboys yesterday found hidden on the banks of the Missouri some burglars' implements, they told their teacher, Mrs. Freeman. She advised the police and detectives after a thirty hour vigil, and last night they arrested the three men now in custody.

Following the arrest near the school house, scores of detectives were sent to search for further evidence. While these sleuths were busy in vain, Mrs. Freeman noticed that a ladder used for reaching the attic of the school building had been displaced, and she and the teacher had been expelled from a lair. Lanterns were procured and she sent two men into the attic, where they found eight registered mail sacks, two raincoats, a long top coat and a pair of overalls. The police were then called.

An examination showed that every letter and package had been torn open, and the contents of value removed and the letters stuck back in the envelopes. Post office inspectors and railroad officers are convinced that the school boys were not the robbers, but that they had apprehended the train robbers.

HARVARD MUST BE A GREAT NATIONAL COLLEGE

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 28.—Harvard must become a great national college or university, or it will not fulfill the purpose which we all entertain.

This declaration formed the keynote of an address by President Abbott Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard, at the afternoon session of the Associated Harvard Clubs, representing many parts of the United States.

That Harvard is to see new phases in the policies governing the institution likewise was made apparent from the address of the president, who made a plea for broader policy in dealing with the freshmen, asserting that the social life of an educational institution is fully as important as the intellectual side. While President Lowell was speaking former President Chas. W. Eliot arrived and he was given an ovation.

IN DREAD OF ROME

Nonconformists Great Stormy Sceno at Swansea Congress

(The Scotsman.)
The Congress of the Evangelical Free Churches in Swansea was, on Wednesday, roused to a considerable pitch of excitement and tension by an address by Rev. Joseph Hooking, London, on "The alarming development of Modern Romanism." He said that in 1851 there were 88 priests in Great Britain, as compared with 2,137 in 1908. In the same period Roman Catholic churches and stations had increased from 63 to 1,131. Those figures represented a determined effort to pervade England. Romanist pressmen were imported to British newspaper offices. Romanists were in Parliament and were seen everywhere. Romanists were also an insignificant portion of the population so far as numbers were concerned, and yet so the prominence given to Roman Catholic views. Catholic matters were discussed up to a most alarming form, whilst Protestant views had to take a subsidiary place. (Shame.) When Father Vaughan told a story to an East End audience, full of ridiculous nonsense, he was fully reported on the other side of the country to another. But let Dr. Horton proclaim what England owed to Protestantism and he was dismissed in half-down lines. (Shame.) He did not say that there was any collusion between the Catholic hierarchy and the newspapers, but representatives of that creed were placed on every great newspaper. The story of the monastic institutions was the blackest in history. They had been the centre of treason, and side by side had been expelled from every nation of Europe. England alone received them. Nobody knew anything about their ambitions. They were not as they ought to be, placed under proper rules and regulations. (Shame.) A ghastly curse reaction. Those who dared to run away. A few days ago a nun escaped by the aid of a stationmaster. (Cheese.) It is said that she might have gone away; but could anybody believe that who had read the story? (Shouts of "Yes.") He did not make any charge against such institutions, but he did say that owing to their neglect of the children, they were not allowed to be born and women die in them. There could be cruelty and crime and outrage, and yet no one was allowed to know anything about it. (Cries of "Horrible.") The convent was a sea of corruption, and the public had a right to know what was going on. (Cheese.) Yet what happened? When Mr. T. T. Forth moved for leave to introduce a bill to appoint commissioners to inquire as to the growth and number of conventual and monastic institutions in Great Britain and Ireland, and whether any further regulation of such institutions was required, by the House of Commons, he was told that among those who voted against this were prominent Free Churchmen who hold high place in the National Council of the Free Churches. (Loud cries of "Shame," and shouts of "Names," and "Names.") Mr. Hocking—if you want them, then I will give the names of the delegates who responded with roundels of cheering. Others replied: "No, we don't want them now," and for a time the contending parties stood up and vigorously gestulated.

SCHOONER IN TROUBLE

FAIRFIELD, Conn., May 28.—The three masted schooner Harry W. Haynes, Captain Goodwin, of Ellsworth, Maine, lumber laden from Pensacola, Fla., for Bridgeport, Conn., went ashore as high tide tonight on the Crown, on the outer edge of sand flat in Long Island Sound. The sea is smooth, there is no wind, and as the schooner was moving slowly when she struck, it is expected that she will be hauled unharmed at high tide tomorrow morning.

The light house steamer Pansy is lying by the stranded vessel. Captain Goodwin ascribes the accident to a family chart.

THE DAILY MISERY
INDIGESTION.

Life is a thing to rejoice in when you have glorious health. It becomes a burden when you are ill and miserable. In nine cases out of ten the miseries of ill-health are due to indigestion. Is it so in your case? When your digestion fails, your food does not, cannot, give the nourishment you need. The undigested food sours in your stomach and forms acid gases which poison your blood. Then headaches come with biliousness, constipation, weakness, anemia, rheumatism, and other ailments that arise from imperfect nourishment and impure blood. The great indigestion cure—Mother Seigel's Syrup—banishes all these troubles. Mother Seigel's Syrup restores your stomach to healthy, perfect action, stimulates the liver, purifies the blood, the sparkling eye of health and strength, will come with the cure that Mother Seigel's Syrup brings to you. This famous medicine is made from the extracts of selected roots, barks and leaves, which have a natural, curative and tonic effect on the stomach, liver and bowels. That is why it cures indigestion and all digestive disorders.

Mr. Neil McPhail, Campbell's Mountain, Inverness, N.S., states: "I suffered a great deal from stomach trouble. Often I had to leave the table without tasting food. Before I had finished the first bottle of Mother Seigel's Syrup, I could eat as hearty a meal as I ever did. It is over a year ago, and I have had no return of the trouble."—Jan. 21st, 1909.

Be sure you get the remedy that cures. Avoid substitutes! Take only Mother Seigel's Syrup, the remedy which cured Mr. McPhail and has kept him well.
