

You Can Afford to use 40c. Tea
Just as Well as 30c. Tea if
You Use 40c. Red Rose

A pound of 40c. Red Rose goes further than any 30c. or 35c. tea and it is distinctly superior in quality.

30c. and 35c. Red Rose Teas are good teas, so good that very many people say they want nothing better. But, if they would once try a package of the 40c. Red Rose they would use nothing else in future.

Just think, five cups of 40c. Red Rose Tea will only cost 1c. One lb. makes over 200 cups. Not a question of affording.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATIONS IN GERMAIN ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Mass Meeting of Young People's Societies Hear Interesting Addresses--Speeches by Visiting Pastors Last Evening--Dr. Gates Unveiled Portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Dyall--Tonight's Program

The celebration in connection with the centennial of the Germain St. Baptist church was continued on Monday. In the afternoon a mass meeting of the Baptist Women's Missionary Aid Societies of St. John was held in the school room. Mrs. N. C. Scott occupied the chair. Mrs. LeBaron Vaughan gave an historical review of the work of the Germain street church society, referring briefly to some of the past presidents who by their energetic efforts aided in strengthening the membership of the society, and giving an account of its contributions to the cause of the Baptist missionary movement in foreign lands.

Dr. G. O. Gates delivered an interesting address on the Grand Ligne Mission, replete with incidents of a humorous character and otherwise. Mrs. Grant sang a solo. A silver offering for the home mission was taken up.

On Monday evening a mass meeting of the Baptist Young People's Society of St. John was held in the school room. C. R. Wasson, president of the Germain street society, occupied the chair. James W. Griffith contributed a solo and Mrs. A. Pierce Crockett and Miss Gathers a duet.

C. R. Wasson the president, then read a historical sketch of the Germain street Baptist church Young People's Society Christian Endeavor. The society, he said, was organized on February 12, 1882, and was therefore the oldest of its kind in Canada.

The first Christian Endeavor Society was organized in Portland, Maine, in 1881, one year before that of the Germain street church. At first the local society, which started with 12 members, devoted most of its energies to organizing entertainments and socials for the benefit of the young people. But later it began to take an interest in the various phases of Christian work radiating from the local church as a center, and became a factor of considerable importance in the life of the young people of the congregation. In recent years the society has been contributing annually to the Baptist foreign mission fund.

Continuing Mr. Wasson gave a list of all the presidents of the society since its inception and pointed out that many of the young men who have since risen in prominence in various walks of life in St. John and other cities.

The Influence of Ideals.
Rev. A. S. Lewis, of Yarmouth, N. S., delivered an interesting address on the influence of ideals. Ideals, he said, were an uplifting influence in the life of the individual. At the present time young men were set before themselves the highest ideals as a goal of endeavor. A young man today could not ride very far on the reputation of his father. The positions worth having required men of initiative and energy inspired by high ideals.

Men who had no ideals were apt to find life a sort of treadmill. They needed ideals to save them from the deadening influence of hard work, and keep their thoughts upon the mountain tops.

Upon the community as a whole, ideals had a transforming effect. At present men were more concerned with getting than with giving, and that spells miss for any community. But high ideals would transform the spirit of getting into the spirit of giving, and the nation would be the better for it.

Deacon William Lewis occupied the chair, and in a characteristic little speech, extended a cordial welcome to the visiting clergymen and members of the church. After a song by Mr. Kingsmill, the chairman called upon the visiting pastors for speeches.

Rev. W. R. Robinson, of Ludlow street Baptist church, expressed his pleasure at being present on such an auspicious occasion. It was, he said, gratifying to be able to recall the progress made by the church on Germain street and the Baptist denomination in general during the past hundred years and he felt that progress would be continued throughout the next hundred years.

Dr. G. O. Gates said he had been looking forward for a century to the present occasion. It had been the dream of his life that he would be permitted to take part in the exercises in connection with the centennial celebration of the old church where he had officiated as pastor for 80 long.

Considering the fact that the church started 100 years ago with only 12 members, its growth had been great. What it would be one hundred years hence would not venture to predict. But in view of the fact that it was equipped with all the agencies that make for progress and was evidently conscious of its mission, its future was bound to be great and fruitful in good works.

The early church had started under difficulties and its members had to endure oblation, and made many sacrifices. If the younger members of the church trained in the young people's societies and blessed with many advantages would not venture to predict them by their fathers, the church would extend its influences in ever widening circles.

Portraits Unveiled.
Dr. Gates then unveiled the portraits of Mr. and Mrs. James Dyall, which had been presented to the Sunday school, and took advantage of the occasion to pay an eloquent tribute to the character of these departed members of the church and their work for its advancement.

They were, he said, two of the oldest members of the congregation when he came to the church 25 years ago, and had done much for him and for the church. The story of their lives would be an inspiration to generations to come.

Rev. J. A. Glendenning, Baptist missionary to India, who is in New Brunswick, on furlough, was then called upon to address the gathering. He said he had long known Dr. Gates and entertained pleasant recollections of the Germain street Baptist church. At the time Dr. Gates was given his degree of doctor of divinity, he was president of the Y. M. C. A. at Acadia university, and he might say that he was instrumental in securing Dr. Gates the honor conferred upon him at that time.

Continuing the speaker gave a number of reminiscences of his associations with various preachers connected with the Germain street church.

In his own field of effort in India, he said the prospects of the growth of Baptist movement were very great. There was a great deal of unrest and present among the people. The natives had national aspirations, and that was a sign that their minds were opening to new things. The spirit of progress was being kindled upon them would abolish the system of caste which was a great obstacle to the spread of Christianity.

Rev. A. A. Graham.
Rev. A. A. Graham of St. David's Presbyterian church said the Germain street congregation had good reason to be proud of the centennial with enthusiasm. The progress of the church had been glorious. It was an adult when St. David's church was born.

Among the speakers, such as did not know of any other city where the churches lived in such harmony as in St. John. All stood side by side, striving to do the work of the Master, and making common cause against the forces of evil.

Rev. J. A. Millbury of the Tabernacle church said he was glad to be invited to the Germain street church, and heard Dr. Gates preach a sermon some of the points of which still lingered in his memory.

Deacon Lewis said that the ministers were the chief instruments in the promotion of temperance of St. John. As a temperance worker himself he could testify to their value in binding the forces of reform together.

At the conclusion of the speeches refreshments were served.

Today's Proceedings.
At the meeting this evening Dr. G. U. Hay will preside and T. D. Denham will read an historical sketch of the church. Dr. Gates, Rev. A. S. Lewis, Deacons D. Hunt, and Rev. D. Hutchison will deliver addresses. The conclusion of the speeches Deacons Vanwart and S. H. Davis will consign with appropriate ceremonies the church mortgage to flames. Owing to the length of the programme the meeting will be opened at 7:30 p. m. sharp.

Ald. White desired to know if it had been decided to place a three-way hydrant at the corner of Germain and Princess streets, as he considered it necessary at this place. It was stated that this had not yet come before the Safety Board, but would be dealt with shortly.

The meeting then adjourned.

TO PHOTOGRAPH GAME IN NATIVE HAUNTS

Mr. Douglas Clinch, accompanied by an American moving picture expert, left town on Monday for the North Shore, where they will photograph game animals and birds in their native haunts. These films will be of considerable value, owing to the difficulty of getting a machine into close proximity with the animals, and operating it under such conditions.

The pictures will be shown in the moving picture houses of the United States and Canada, and will doubtless prove a great attraction.

The advertisement the province will secure as a hunting ground, in this way, will probably bring many sportsmen and tourists, who would otherwise be unaware of the prevalence of game in New Brunswick.

Biograph Tragedy at Nickel Today.
After a holiday rush of unusual magnitude, the Nickel will again change its programme today in presenting as the leading feature the new Biograph poem story The Unchanging Sea, a picture suggested by Charles Kingsley's poem The Three Fishers. There is perhaps no work from the pen of this eminent English poet better known than is the tragic writing suggested as above mentioned. The story is that of a young married couple living happily in their fishing village and of the wife's long vigil for her shipwrecked husband and in after years the death of the young man's daughter. In addition there will be two of the brightest comedies of the year in the Selig force The Mulligans Hire Out, and another of the same brand of comedy, Seven Days. This bill of pictures is in itself enough to satisfy the most exacting, but this afternoon by special request the famous Esther picture of 1500 feet length will be repeated. Mr. Tom Clifford will today conclude his rendering of the sea song On The Goodwin Sands, and on Thursday will have a new number. Miss Dudley will sing Flippety Flop today, and is also to sing another popular song tomorrow. The Nickel will make an interesting announcement before the week end, relative to its feature for Monday, 30th.

Eclipse Obscured by Clouds.
Although the total eclipse of the moon, predicted for Monday night, no doubt took place according to schedule, the people of St. John owing to the cloudy weather were not vouchsafed an opportunity to witness the spectacle. A little before midnight the people on the streets noticed a lurid glow on the clouds, and some of them leapt at the conclusion that the eclipse was responsible for that the lost fall of the comet had arrived. After a little, however, they discovered that the peculiar appearance of the sky was due to the reflection of a fire in the North End upon the low hanging clouds.

Fire on Brussels Street.
A fire which was discovered in the second hand store kept by Mrs. Rose MacDonald, 18 Brussels street, about midnight, did considerable damage before it was extinguished. The interior and front of the building were practically destroyed. It was not possible to correctly estimate the loss last night.
