MRS. RUSSELL SAGE DIES OF OLD AGE

Widow of Great Financier, Poor in Early Life, Gave Millions to Charity.

New York, Nov. 4.—Mrs. Russell Sage, widow of the financier, and one of the richest women in the world, died at her home here early Monday. She was 90 years old and had been in feeble health for several years. Three or four days ago her condition became serious. Death was caused by ailments due to advanced age.

Mrs. Sage had been virtually a recluse in her Fifth Ave. home for several years. She had been seen but rarely by public and her visitors were limited to close friends and relatives.

A nurse on duty in her room noticed a change in her condition shortly after midnight. Mrs. Sage died about an hour later.

Margaret Olivia Sage until she reached middle life was only the daughter of a school teacher, and then in a day she found herself mistress of one of the great fortunes in America. Her early days were devoted to scraping together enough money to give herself a fair education and her last years were devoted to the science of giving money away.

At the age of 16 she started her own business of complete stewardship of the $70,000 left by her husband, Russell Sage, she returned nearly $30,000,000 to the public by systematic philanthropy.

"My experience has taught me," she had said recently, "that successful people are those who take what comes to hand, and if it be small, wait and work for something better. The root of failure lies often in the thought that you can do but one thing and must do that or nothing."

This practical philosophy developed when she was a girl in Syracuse, N. Y., her birthplace. Her father, Joseph Slocom, was so reduced in circumstances by the panic of 1857 that the daughter, at the age of only nine years, was obliged to help in the upkeep of the household. At the age of 16 she started her own business of complete stewardship of the $70,000 left by her husband, Russell Sage, she returned nearly $30,000,000 to the public by systematic philanthropy.

It seems to me, however, with the lessons which we, as a nation, have learned from the war, the period of depression will be relatively short, and only a prelude to the greatest era of prosperity we have ever known.

One of our greatest lessons has been the power of organized effort to meet national needs. We have cheerfully and readily delegated to our central authority, the government, in order that the demands of the nation should be adequately met. We have submitted to drastic taxation that Canada should carry on the war, and we have carried out the war in order that the demands of the nation should be adequately met.

MIGHTY PROBLEM TO CARE FOR THE RETURNING BOYS

Task of Getting Canadian Soldiers Back Into Civilian Life Ably Discussed by Prof. F. H. Sexton—Heavy Responsibilities.

(By Professor F. H. Sexton in The Maritime Merchant.)

The problem of getting that of our soldiers back into civilian life after the war was discussed more widely and vigorously two years ago than it is now. Although we were facing then a Germany which acknowledged no defeat, we seemed sure that our victory was not far off. Today when the battle is spurring for the end of the war is somewhere in sight, we are prone to somewhat less than our former enthusiasm.

FIND $9,000 MORE OF BANDIT'S LOOT

All But $150 of $20,000 Stolen in Train Hold-up Recovered.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Covered over with leaves a bag containing $9,000 in bills found by detectives this afternoon in a yard at the rear of a house. With this find the police have recovered all but $150 of the $20,000 stolen in the express hold-up on a railway train in the west end of this city on October 23.

Shackled with handcuffs, John Lett, one of the three men under arrest in connection with the robbery, was taken by Detectives through the residential section of High Park today to try and locate the spot where he left the money. Express leaving headquarters he drew a map of where he thought he had gone after jumping off the train at Sunnyside. This diagram took the officers to Garden Avenue, and after a lengthy search they found the spot. The bag had been thrown over a fence and was lying between the fence and a chicken coop. It had not been disturbed, and the leaves that partially covered it from view had been blown over it by the wind.

The Red Cross shipped clothing to replace that which was stolen.

AWARDED A MEDAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Allan of 36 St. Andrew street have received word that their son, Gunner Jack Allan, has been awarded a military medal for conspicuous gallantry on the battlefield. He is twenty years old and has served overseas with the 15th Battalion.

In organized industry and in the main has enjoyed high wages. He is organizing everywhere against the times of peace and he will have much to press home his demands in the future. The present high wages must recede because these are extraordinary boom times and boom times must end. The scale will, however, never go back to the level which existed formerly, nor will the workmen ever go back to his former level of living. He has become used to better circumstances for himself and his family and intends to continue as nearly as possible in the same manner. If desperate attempts or drastic measures are taken to push him backwards again he will reach out and take what he thinks belongs to him. It is this means political power, he will say.
