

SUCCESSIONS :—

"	no one is bound to accept,	641
"	acceptance of, may be unconditional or under benefit of inventory	642
"	acceptance of, as regards married women	643
"	" minors and interdicted persons	"
"	" effect of, reaches back to the day the succession devolved	644
"	" may be express or implied	645
"	what constitutes acts of acceptance	645, 646, 647
"	when the heir dies without making an option, his heirs may still do so	648, 649
"	acceptance cannot be receded from	650
"	renunciation of, must be express	651
"	effects of renunciation of,	652, 653
"	no one can take as representative of an heir who has renounced	654
"	renunciation of, may be rescinded at suit of creditors of the heir	655
"	when may be renounced	656
"	when heir who has renounced may resume the succession	657
"	of living persons cannot be renounced except in a contract of marriage	658
"	heir who has abstracted or concealed can no longer renounce	659
"	acceptance of under benefit of inventory	660
"	" must be registered	661
"	beneficiary heir, must have an inventory made	662
"	" when he must give security	663
"	" when he may sell moveables	665
"	" delay allowed him for an inventory	664
"	" when sale by, does not amount to acceptance	665
"	" effect of delay allowed for inventory ..	666 to 668
"	" :—See HEIR, beneficiary.
"	" sale of property by,	674 to 676
"	" costs of seals, inventory and account chargeable to the succession	681
"	" not excluded by more distant unconditional heir	683
"	vacant, when deemed,	684
"	" curator to be named to,	685
"	" duties of curator to,	686
"	" when functions of curator to, cease,	687
"	" duties and obligations of curator to,	688
"	:—See PARTITION.	