

Workshop productions to present 'Bus Stop'

Under the name of Workshop Productions, the U.N.B. drama classes have collaborated this term to present William Inge's romantic comedy entitled Bus Stop at Memorial Hall (U.N.B campus) on March 29th, 30th, and 31st beginning at 8 p.m.

Since its inception in 1970, Workshop Productions has staged such popular shows as Sean O'Casey's Juno and the Paycock, Brian Friel's Lovers, Al Pittman's West Room, and Woody Allan's God. Workshop productions promises the same quality entertainment of the past with this year's production of Bus Stop.

Bus Stop is a touching story about human relationships and the play focuses on the relationship between a night-club singer and a young cowboy who is "off the ranch for the first time and wild as a bronco!" The two leading roles are played respectively by Julianne Fiander and Glen Ellegood. Other members of the cast include Alan Lawrence, Sandra Rose, Ross Antworth, John Mowat, Shelly Harper and Tony Russell. Bus Stop is directed by Alice Luther, a doctorate candidate in Theatre Arts at the University of Minnesota.

Tickets for Bus Stop will be available at the door prior to each performance and are $4 for adults, $3 for students, and $2 for children and senior citizens. Profits from Bus Stop will go to the U.N.B. Third Century Fund.
