

NOVA SCOTIA GOLD FIELDS.

SEA LEVEL

since gold, in this country, appears to be mainly confined to the quartzite group, and to the lowest members of the clay slate group.

The line along which the section is made out, extends from the sea shore at the south-east entrance of Halifax Harbor, to the Renfrew Gold Field, a distance a little over thirty miles, intersecting, in that distance, no less than six great anticlinal folds.