

BELLEVILLE AVIATOR IN AMAZING FEATS

Capt. Wilmot Astonishes South Americans by Aerial Skill

Capt. Erdley Wilmot, son of Mrs. Chas. Wilmot, Belleville, who is in the aviation service of the Argentine government, was recently injured while flying but has so far recovered as to be able to write to his mother.

Capt. Wilmot is a skilful and daring aviator and his feats in the air astonish the South Americans. La Nacion, leading newspaper of Buenos Aires, under date of March 27th, 1920, speaks of an exhibition of flying stunts given by Capt. Wilmot as follows:

"Buenos Aires witnessed a most impressive flying feat yesterday, when a crowd assembled in Plaza del Congreso to pay homage to the brave pilots of the Argentine army. At 4 p.m. somebody among the multitude which crammed the northern and western sides of the squares gave word of the presence of an aeroplane which at some height speedily approached. Nothing showed any extraordinary event, and the calm flight of the machine gave an impression of absolute safety.

"By looking at the skies for the expected machine, a second aeroplane was noticed at a great height and still far off. Suddenly the first machine, already over the plaza at 1000 feet started a strange manoeuvre. With perplexing rapidity its pilot turned to the right, causing the wings to be perpendicular and so the machine deprived of support, fell a long distance (the aviator, at the same time raising his hands in a greeting).

"A great silence fell upon the spectators, some fearing an accident, and some in the hope of a happy issue. In fact the latter occurred when the aeroplane was only at 200 feet above the public, but in an unexpected marvellous form. Instead of returning to his flight line, the aviator reverting his machine in a preliminary movement for a "tonneau or roll" masterly performed. Already at the level of the surrounding buildings the aeroplane suddenly resumed its normal position and raised its nose for an ascension.

"While it easily rose the crowd burst into a clamorous demonstration to the gallant pilot, cheering and applauding. As if obeying an imperious order, all the traffic was interrupted and the tramways and carriages, almost abandoned by their conductors, were blocked by the multitude which flooded the central part of the plaza.

"To those acquainted with the performances in the military aerodrome, the identity of the courageous pilot was not doubtful. The exactness of his movements, his incredible audacity, and confidence he had in his machine, told them that the man who so astonished Buenos Aires was Capt. Wilmot. The pennant floating behind the fuselage was other confirming proof of this belief.

"That daring feat was only the first of a series of spectacular evolutions, rapid turnings to the Congress domes, followed by falls upon both wings, long drills, steep veerings, all sorts of loopings, assaults against the surrounding buildings, attaining at a distance of only ten feet from their walls, great steep deviations, which made the machine rise perpendicularly till no ascensional force was available, and all kinds of aerial gymnastics incessantly repeated. This spectacle, the most impressive that Buenos Aires had ever seen, lasted twelve minutes. Finally Wilmot ascended, and after some evolutions around a Breguet piloted by Lt. Abel and a Foreman Savoy manned by the German Lieut. Holsem, and the Argentine pilot Molina, went further towards the fields of the Sociedad Sportiva, where he landed to re-new water in his engine.

Lines to Queen Quinte

Green are the hills when far away
And youth in leath'ry manhood's sway
Black the waters that wash the sands,
Black the blue o'er distant lands.
Yet Phantom castles—springtime dreams,
Dissolve like foam on woodland streams,
As fancy—chastened by breath of Time,
Reasons in prose and not in rhyme.
Yearning cease—hold at home
The glories pictured by those who roam.
Rimmed with verdure of verdant green,
Basks Quinte Bay—perennial queen:
Matron—a seer—she spans full years
Of promise, hardship, wreckage, tears.
From pre-historic days of yore
Her scroll is writ with mystic lore.
O'er her breast stole beryl craft
Burdened with Redskin, bones and shaft;
Swiftly stalking wildgeon and deer
Or Palace Hiller settled near.
Champlain and Franklin sensed her spell,
As did good priest with book and bell.
Soldier, trapper and creaking stage,
Have seen Dame Quinte lashed in rage.
But seldom doth she portend ill
Her mood is tranquil, coaxing, still.
Who hath not felt her soft caress,
Limpid, seductive as maiden's tress,
Who hath skimmed her foaming crest
With spreading sheet at her behest,
And doth not sing throughout his days
Of this real gem amongst the bays.
Enscathed in a setting of green and gold,
She is ever young too young and old;
Could her waters speak as they flow along,
"Forget me not" would be their song.

Seattle Banker to Go to Brazil

E. B. Ireland Chosen for Important Post in Rio de Janeiro.

WILL MANAGE NEW BANK

Sails for South America August 5th to Install Branch Office for Canadian Bank of Commerce.

By Emmett C. Brown.

Financial Editor, Post-Intelligencer.

Signal honor has been conferred upon the banking fraternity of Seattle in the selection of E. B. Ireland, for the past five years manager of the Seattle branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, to go to Brazil as manager of the new South American branch of the bank soon to be opened at Rio de Janeiro. Mr. Ireland will leave Seattle in about ten days for New York, from which city he will sail for South America on August 5, taking with him an entire staff for the new bank which will be assembled in New York from various branches of the institution in the United States and Canada.

No definite date has been set for opening of the Rio de Janeiro branch, as all arrangements for its installation will be completed by Mr. Ireland and his staff after arrival in South America. A number of distinguished persons will sail on the same boat with the Ireland party, including Sir Alexander Mackenzie, president of the Brazilian Traction Company, and Lady Mackenzie, who have made their home in Rio de Janeiro for the last twenty years. Mr. Ireland will be accompanied by his wife and family and will make his home in the Brazilian city.

Considered Great Tribute.

Among banking officials of Seattle it is considered a great tribute to Mr. Ireland to have been selected by the governors of the bank for the first South American branch, an initial step in a far-reaching foreign activity to be extended overseas by the institution. Further distinction is given the appointment by the fact the selection was made from among a number of senior bank managers, in charge of more than 4,000 employees of the bank at its many offices in Canada, the United States and England. The staff accompanying Mr. Ireland to the new post has been selected from among highly trained men familiar with the many problems and activities to be encountered in the South American field.

Mr. Ireland came to the Seattle branch five years ago to succeed Mr. George V. Holt, now manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch at Vancouver, B.C. For eight years prior to coming to Seattle, he had been manager of the branch bank at Sidney, N. S. He began his career with the bank twenty-nine years ago at Toronto, Canada. He has served in various capacities with the institution at Ottawa and Hamilton, in Canada, and for seven years was with the New York branch. A feature of his last two changes of post is the long distances between stations. From Sidney, N. S., he came 4,000 miles to Seattle and his change to Brazil involves a journey of more than 10,000 miles.

Active in Seattle.

Actively identified with civic and patriotic activities during his residence in Seattle, Mr. Ireland, as manager of the bank, took a prominent part in all liberty loan campaigns, the bank having handled more than 2,000,000 of the various issues with the distinction of having had every subscription paid "out to the last penny." He is director in Todd Dry Dock, Incorporated; the Seattle Construction and Dry Dock Company and the Thomas Investment Company, and is a member of the Rainier and Seattle Golf and Country Clubs. He will be succeeded in the management of the Seattle branch by A. C. Steven, assistant manager of the Vancouver, B. C. branch who has had long experience in American branches of the institution.

Mr. Ireland is stopping a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Robinson, Bridge street.

Wedding in Jail Groom a Prisoner

Charles Albert Bishop Gets a Different Sentence in Court Room

PETERBORO, July 22 — Love, which proverbially laughs at locksmiths, extended its activities yesterday to the county gaol, bringing together Charles Albert Bishop, one of the Castle Nesbit's guests, and Mrs. Mary Ann Selman.

The ceremony, which was not by any means the first, which has been performed at the gaol, was performed by Rev. A. G. Donner, in the court room, the procedure being a rather difficult process on account of the deafness of the groom, who is advanced in years. All questions, in written in the ceremony had to be written for the prisoner, who very promptly promised to "love and cherish" the lady of his choice, and implored the authorities to allow him his liberty at once. The honeymoon, however, has been postponed until the prisoner, who is serving an indefinite sentence for assault, fulfils the demands of the law.

The ceremony was witnessed only by Mr. Ray, the turnkey, Rev. Mr. Donner, Mr. Woods, and Mr. Heaslip of Backhorn, the latter two who accompanied the bride to and from the wedding.

No Camp at Barrielfield

Ottawa Has a Successful Local Camp and a Similar One to be Held at Peterboro.

KINGSTON, July 22—The De La Salle Academy Cadet camp closed at Rockville on Saturday and it was pronounced a success by Lieut. Col. G. H. Gillespie, officer commanding cadet corps in M. D. No. 3, Lt.-Col. Gillespie has returned to the city, and when questioned regarding the possibility of holding a camp in Kingston, stated that owing to several circumstances, and particularly to the fact that all of the boys within a radius of sixty miles of Kingston, were so scattered, there was no likelihood of a camp at Barrielfield this year. The De La Salle Camp demonstrated the great value of local camps and Col. Gillespie is now engaged in an effort to hold a similar camp at Peterboro, where there are fine facilities. The Peterboro camp would include boys from the counties of Peterboro, Victoria and Haliburton, Northumberland and Durham, and as there is a splendid watering place there a splendid outing will be enjoyed by the lads. If the present plans work out the camp will open there the first week in August.

The object of holding local camps is to eliminate transportation, which is a big item in the expense account. The boys come from nearby points and the camp serves as a community centre, where in addition to military drill and shooting sports of different kinds are indulged in. It is desirable therefore that a good watering place be near the camp site. Col. Gillespie hopes to see this local camp system become adopted permanently.

Obituary

SIDNEY A. RUTIAN

Mr. Sidney A. Rutian passed away at his home in Edmonton on Friday July 23rd, after an illness of about three months. The deceased was of U. E. L. descent and the only son of the late Walter Rutian and had spent all his life in the vicinity of Picton until about six years ago when he and Mrs. Rutian moved to Edmonton to be near their daughter, Mrs. R. A TOAST TO THE OLD BOYS AND GIRLS OF BELLEVILLE

(By I. P. Davis)

Here's to you dears, because we love you
Because you're true,
Because all Nature
Whispers "YOU."

Here's to you dears, in the Spring-time
When life is new.
Through all your lifetime
Years not a few.

Here's to you dears, when in the Evening
The Silver gleams.
When naught is left to you
But Life's past dreams.

Here's to you dears, because we loved you
When we met.
Because Love's lamp
Is burning yet.

Here's to you dears, because we're parting
Perhaps for aye.
Here's Hoping we will meet again
Some day.
