HOSPITAL WILL HAVE AMPLE ROOM FOR SOLDIER PATIENTS

Isolation Hospital Also in Fine Shape—Board of Governors Met Yesterday and Considered Many Important Matters.

The Hospital Governors met yesterday afternoon. Present, Messrs. C. H. Waterous, chairman, Mayor Spence, George Watt, Dr. Bell, Warren Cook, T. H. Preston, H. Symonds, F. D. Reville, R. Sanderson.

The meeting was held for the first time in the new board room—one of the former wards—a capacious apartment, which will also be used by the doctors.

A communication was read, received by Mayor Spence from the military authorities asking what hospital accommodation Brantford possessed in view of the fact that half a battalion will be established here for the winter.

The superintendent submitted a report as follows: Public Ward, men 36; Public Ward, women 36; Maternity Ward 6; Semi-private, men 9; Women 3; Private rooms 3; Isolation 12.

It was pointed out that more beds could be easily installed.

Dr. Secord wrote stating that he had decided to devote his time to surgical work and asking to be ranked as a specialist in connection with the hospital in the same way as the eye and ear specialists and to be relieved monthly duty. On motion his request was granted.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT. Miss Ford submitted a lengthy report for September from which the following extracts are taken: Admissions 107, discharges 85, deaths 5, operations 61, in residence 60.

There have been a number of typhoid cases, eleven, the largest number at one time. Contrary to predictions, it has not been epidemic. One death resulted, a patient of 43 years of age, and his condition was such that his recovery was hopeless from the first.

OUTSIDE PRESCRIPTIONS. Under the rules and regulations governing the hospital, there is one regarding "External Patients." During the past few weeks, persons have toiled up the hill presenting prescriptions to be filled, from some of the doctors, persons who have not been hospital patients, the extremely poor, of course, and on the Patriotic League list last winter. We would like to know the pleasure of the board in this matter, whether the regulation covers the filling of prescriptions. It might mean quite an item in these days of expensive drugs.

NUMBER OF NURSES. As the board will remember no graduating exercises for the class of 1915 (four in number) were held in the summer owing to amount of work connected with the opening of the public wards, etc., and as some recognition of previous classes has been customary, we believe some simple afternoon affair should be arranged when their diplomas can be awarded them.

We have now in the training school twenty-eight nurses, of these six are recent probationers, and two post-graduates, making thirty in all, and a staff of five (six including the house doctor). When the two post-graduates are through the 19th of October, two others have been promised a three months' course. In general, we have more room in the Nurses' Home, we will not be able to take any other post-graduates, as we need all available space to train nurses for our own work. Greatly to our regret we have to put two beds in a few rooms, realizing fully that the rooms and the cupboard space are not large enough to accommodate two nurses quest for a reduction in rates to members of this class, because of said reduction being at variance with its policy as already laid down. The board fully appreciates the kindness of the Polly Anna Class, and also of various private individuals, in assuming the expense of furnishing private wards in the hospital, but it does not feel justified in accepting such reductions lower rates of pay than are exacted for similar accommodation in other parts of the hospital.

Obituary PAUL STEVES. There died this morning at his residence, 118 Albion street, Mr. Paul Steves, in his 22nd year, after a lingering illness. The funeral will take place on Friday morning from his late residence to St. Basil's church and St. Joseph's cemetery.

ROYAL EDWARD, TRANSPORT SHIP, SANK QUICKLY

Montreal Survivor Thinks It Was an Austrian Sub. Which Put Her Under.

Montreal, Oct. 6.—When the Canadian Northern liner Royal Edward carried with her to the bottom of the Aegean Sea nearly eleven hundred British soldiers over one hundred members of the crew, Quartermaster Thomas Ramsay, now on the White Star liner Englishman, managed to escape. He is a strong swimmer, and was on deck at the time of the explosion, away from the end where the torpedo struck. He was later picked up with others by the hospital ship Soudan.

The Royal Edward had taken on over sixteen hundred troops at Deception Point for transport to Lemnos for service against the Turks, and among them were such famous old British regiments as the Norfolks, King's Own Scottish Borderers, the Border Regiment, South Wales Borderers, the Lancashires, and a detachment of men of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve.

SANK IN FOUR MINUTES. Malta was reached, and after coaling, the Royal Edward proceeded to Alexandria, leaving the naval men there. On the night of the 13th of August they left for Lemnos, and the next morning at 9.15 a torpedo ripped the bottom out of the boat, sinking her in four minutes.

The boat lifted about three feet. No one saw where the torpedo came from, but Quartermaster Ramsay says he thinks it was from an Austrian submarine. Hundreds were killed by the explosion.

One thing Quartermaster Ramsay says he will never forget. Soldiers were lined up on the deck standing at attention, with an officer at the head of each line. There they stood with a discipline that paralleled those men who died with the old Birkenhead, faces set and stern, figures upright, never flinching. Very few of these men were saved.

When the ship disappeared four minutes after she was torpedoed, millions of fragments of debris were shot into the air, and many of the hundreds of struggling human beings were injured before reaching the water.

WIRELESS LOCKED UP. The wireless apparatus of the Royal Edward was locked up when she was hit, and for several hours a message could be sent out. Another transport, the Alwick Castle, which was just ahead going in the same direction, saw the Royal Edward's plight, and sent calls for help to the Soudan, a few miles behind. This vessel immediately turned and came back, and the command and his crew were instrumental in saving nearly five hundred men. Commander Gatten of the Royal Edward, a well known figure in Montreal when the Royal liners used to ply here with passengers from Bristol, went down with his ship, as did the chief officer and a majority of the crew.

The survivors were landed at Alexandria by the Soudan the next day, and were furnished with new outfits and carried home to Southampton on another transport.

ASKING SPECIAL RATE. A letter is submitted from the Young People's Society of the Coburne St. Methodist church, regarding a special rate for members who might need the use of it. The question was brought up at a former board meeting but no action taken in the matter.

IN GENERAL. The joint meeting of the house committee and the Women's Hospital Aid which lapsed during the summer, will be resumed in October. The regular meeting will be held Oct. 26th, and the Tuesday previous to the regular meeting of the board.

We are indebted to Miss Leeming, Dufferin Avenue, for a large number of books of fiction which have proved most acceptable, also to Mrs. Spence and Mrs. Newman, who represented the Women's Hospital Aid for fruit, magazines, etc., for the patients.

ACTION TAKEN. With regard to persons presenting prescriptions it was decided to refer the matter to the Social Service League who have a system for having certified prescriptions filled by chemists.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Women's Hospital Aid for furnishings for the isolation hospital and other things.

It was decided to at once secure suitable brass tablets for the different rooms furnished through the generosity of friends of the hospital. The following resolution was adopted:—That with reference to the application of the Polly Anna class of Colborne Street Methodist Church, the secretary be instructed to reply, expressing the regret of the board that it is not in a position to grant the request.

LIEUT. CORNELIUS PRESENTED WITH PEN AND CHEQUE

Home Guard Honors Their Secretary, Who Leaves To-day to Join 58th.

A very interesting event took place last evening in the city council chambers at the city hall, when several members of the Home Guard and rifle committee met together to wish Lieut. Cornelius farewell. Lieut. Cornelius, who has been secretary of the Home Guard and an active and efficient member of the rifle committee, is leaving to-day for Niagara en route to England for active service. Major Jones, in a few well-chosen remarks befitting the occasion, stated the object of the meeting, and called on Mr. Sweet, assisting commanding officer of the Home Guard, and Mr. Burt, chairman of the rifle committee, to say a few words. Mr. Sweet and Mr. Burt spoke very highly of Lieut. Cornelius, stating that he was in a great measure due to his untiring zeal and good marksmanship that the Home Guards had reached its present high standard of efficiency. While regretting the necessity of losing Lt. Cornelius, they felt sure that a man of his calibre would most surely attain much glory, and only hoped that he might be spared to return and enjoy it. Major Jones echoed his fellow members' sentiments, and on behalf of the Home Guards presented Lieut. Cornelius with a beautiful fountain pen as a slight token which he might carry with him and keep in remembrance of his friends in Brantford.

Mayor Spence then gave an address expressing regret at the necessity for Mr. Cornelius to have to leave the city, and wishing him success on behalf of the citizens of Brantford, and presented him with a cheque to be used in defraying expenses for his equipment.

Chief Slemm and others made a few flattering remarks, and amid much handshaking and many wishes of good luck and God-speed, the meeting was brought to a close.
