Monster Halifax Audience Amazed by This Test

1000 critical music lovers gathered in the Academy of Music, Halifax, on April 7th, to judge if Thomas A. Edison had really Re-Created music as he claimed.

They heard beautiful Ida Gardner, the highest paid Church singer in New York, actually sing side by side with her own voice on the new Edison Phonograph, and they could not tell the original from the Re-Created voice. Read what the Halifax papers said:

"It sought to establish the fact that perfection has practically been reached in recreating the human voice in correctness of tone, enunciation and quality. Those who were present left the auditorium with little doubt in their mind that this had really been accomplished. The Daily Echo and Morning Chronicle, April 9th, 1917."

"The Musicalists consisted of fifteen numbers. At times it was impossible to know whether Miss Gardner was actually singing or the voice issuing from the phonograph, so truthfully has the voice been simulated. The opening number was 'There is a Green Hill Far Away'. It demonstrated Miss Gardner's right to a position in the first rank of American singers. Miss Gardner sang several bars of the music and then the phonograph was heard in several bars, showing how perfect Thomas A. Edison has the mechanism of his achievement." The Halifax Herald and the Evening Mail April 9th, 1917.

One of our Kentville staff was present, and can give you first hand information about the test. Would you like your home to have a phonograph to sing exactly like the world's greatest singers—that plays like the world's greatest bands, violinists etc? Come in and hear the New Edison—you won't be asked to buy.

ACADIA REUNION

The Reunion Classes for this year will be those which graduated in years ending 2 and 7—1862, 1867, 1872, 1882, 1887, 1892, 1897, 1902, 1907 and 1912.

It is hoped that there will be a large gathering in Wolfville this year, and the members of the classes named should start immediately to make arrangements for this gathering. The Seminary has also attempted a larger reunion; instead of simply one class the classes from 1898, 1902 will meet and with them the principal when these classes graduated, Mrs. Ellery, formerly Miss Adelaide True. The classes are attempting to secure a section or two of Willett Hall for their quarters, and it looks as though the matter was going to be a very great success. Nothing revives the old spirit and takes so many years off one's life as meeting old friends amid old scenes and renewing former experiences. — Acadia Bulletin.

Mr. Benj. R. Hamilton, who had an attack of measles went to his home in Kentville, Yarmouth to recuperate before taking up studies again.

The Captain reports having sighted a schooner on fire April 12th, about 50 miles off Canso. He boarded her and found it to be the schooner Doris V. Myra, dismantled and how and stern on fire. There was one dory on deck, and the crew were gone.
