THE EMPIRE'S EFFORT.

(From the Toronto Globe.)

Lord Northcliffe, speaking in his new official role as head of the British Business Commission in the United States, tells the Overseas Club of New York that the British Empire has 2,200,000,000 soldiers in France and Belgium. Of these probably about 1,900,000 are from the British Isles. There are British armies also in Greece, Macedonia, Mesopotamia, Palestine, Egypt, and East Africa. The United Kingdom must be maintaining today in active service on land and sea at least 2,500,000 men, perhaps 3,000,000 not including the enormous reserves at home. The contributions of the self-governing British Dominions and colonies are tabulated as follows, the first column showing the estimated population in 1914 (excluding native races), and the second column the total enlistments up to February 1, 1917:

Canada	8,000,000	391,800
Australia	4,900,000	350,000
New Zealand	1,100,000	75,000
South Africa	1,275,000	70,000
Newfoundland	250,000	3,300

For the purpose of comparison the number of men sent overseas, or actually engaged in fighting, is more informing, especially in view of the fact that 70,000 enlisted men were discharged in Canada. The first column below shows the total expeditionary forces despatched up to February 1, 1917, and the second column the strength of the forces at the front:

Canada	284,000	4 Div.
Australia	300,000	5 Div.
New Zealand	65,000	1 Div.
South Africa	60,000	1 Batt.
Newfoundland	3,100	1 Batt.

One brigade in Europe and the remainder in Africa.

These figures cover only land forces. As for the naval service, Canada's showing does not equal Australia's or New Zealand's nor, in proportion to population, that of Newfoundland. Nor has the comparison of land strength changed in Canada's force since February, in a period of low recruiting. Up to February 1 last Canada's war expenditure had been $500,000,000; Australia's $500,000,000; New Zealand's $112,000,000, and South Africa's $130,000,000. The daughter British States have done magnificently, but they are not content to rest on past achievements. All are bracing themselves for new exertions. The record of her sister Dominions, should be an incentive to Canada, as the most important member of the family, to put forth full strength.

Great as has been the efforts of overseas British countries, the mother country's have been greater still. There is a challenge, too, in the unexampled sacrifices of France. With a population less than 40,000,000 she has mobilized from 6,000,000 to 7,000,000 men since the outbreak of the war. Of these, 2,000,000 have been killed or permanently disabled. France is now calling up her boys, her last resource, these exhausted British, too, is summoning her remaining men of military age to the ranks to save France, and with France the cause of liberty and democracy. It is Canada's case as much as theirs, and Canada must continue to be worthy of it.

BRITISH FORCES IN MESOPOTAMIA ADVANCE

LONDON, July 19—An official report relating to the Mesopotamian campaign was issued tonight, showing a considerable British advance. The report reads:

"On July 13, one of our columns engaged a Turkish force in the direction of Ramadies, on the Euphrates. After a short action, in which considerable loss was inflicted on the Turks, a further advance was broken off by us owing to the extreme heat. As a result of these operations we have been able to advance about twelve miles up the Euphrates in the last ten days."

FLOUR CONSUMPTION
TEN PER CENT, LESS

WASHINGTON, July 19—A decrease of ten per cent in the consumption of flour in England in June is the claim made by the National war savings committee as a result of the "eat less bread" campaign inaugurated to conserve food, according to a report received by Herbert C. Hoover today.

This saving, it is stated, is in excess of all expectations. The success of the education campaign in England, it is stated, is shown by the fact that in March the saving was but two per cent and in April four per cent, as against ten per cent for June. The committee says that it expects an even greater increase in the future and gives much of the credit to the intelligent cooperation of women in their homes.

U.S. GOVT. HAS BEEN INVITED

WASHINGTON, July 19—The United States has been officially invited by the Allied Governments to participate in the Inter-Allied conference to be held in Paris some time this month, but has decided that for the present it will not be necessary to take part in such meetings not directly affecting this country's part in the war. It was officially explained at the State Department that while this course was followed at present, it was not to be taken as an indication of a permanent policy.

CROPS OF POTATOES

Enquiry from U. S.—What is the greatest yield of potatoes obtained at the Canadian Experimental Farms? Ans.—In the Maritime Provinces crops of 500 and more bushels per acre are occasionally grown. In Ontario and Quebec from 400 to 500 are good yields and not many get them. The largest yield per acre obtained at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, was 772 bushels per acre, but this was estimated from a small plot.
