Among the coming attractions at the Brisco Opera House, none will be welcomed with more enthusiasm from all music-lovers than the presentation of "Dolly Varden," scheduled to appear here on Saturday evening next with the dainty prima donna comedienne, Lillian Spencer, in the title role, surrounded by a cast and chorus that, according to all reports, is one of the most meritorious seen and heard in any musical comedy or comic opera organization of the present season. Miss Spencer made a memorable hit in "Florodora" at the New York Theatre a few years ago, jumping from the chorus to the leading role in a night, and has since won many still brighter laurels in the east supporting Lillian Russell, and other theatrical offerings of the same high standard.

At the Brisco Opera House—Sept. 8. Dixie in Old Virginia—Sept. 8. Power Behind the Throne—Sept. 13. Daily Varden—Sept. 15. The Two Johns—Sept. 18. John Griffith—Sept. 21. The Red Feather—Sept. 24.

MOST SENSATIONAL SENSE.

In the new melodrama, "The Shadow Behind the Throne," to be presented at Brisco Opera House on Thursday, Sept. 13th, and as announced as coming from a Greater New York season with the same excellent company, wealth of Oriental mystic scenery, superb imported costumes, talented stage beauties, realism of action, and dramatic effects, we are promised a melodramatic production original, powerful, consistent, catchy, comical, picturesque, romantic and patriotic beyond recent comparison at least. The staged story and its stalwart Western and Yellow Peril Eastern characters appeal equally to the loyal, the loving and the laugh-seekers, and in the American born Mandarin, who is the dauntless and dictatorial master of the throne, Victor, and dies heroically in the tremendous dynamic explosion caused by a shot from his pistol, to enable the lovers to escape and to expiate his own disloyalty, a new character creation strides triumphantly into the time light.
