

Cleaned by the Way.

Miss Ascum—But he's her intended. Miss Newitt—Oh, no. He intended I believe, but that's as far as it got.

Young Wife—Am I very dear to you, darling? Young Husband—Yes, lovey; just look at these receipted bills.

Inflamed Eyelids.

When the eyelids become red and inflamed and there are feelings as though particles of sand were in the eye you will know that you have granular ophthalmia. Our readers will be glad to learn that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a complete cure for this trouble and should be applied at night after washing the lids with warm water.

The Professor's Wife—You haven't kissed me for a week. The Professor (absently)—Are you sure? Then who is it I have been kissing?

Curate—I haven't seen your husband at church recently. Mrs. Bloogs. What is he doing? Mrs. Bloogs—E's be a doing six months, sir.

Teacher—Name some of the most important things existing today which were unknown one hundred years ago. Tommy—You and me.

'D'nt you make a mistake in going into law instead of the army? Lawyer—Why? 'By the way you charge there would be little left of the enemy.'

'Every one speaks of your benevolence, madam, and that you provide so many needy ones with food.'

'Yes, yes; when one has three daughters learning to cook at the same time.'

Chronic Bronchitis 15 Years.

Mr. James B. B. Waller, Ont., writes: 'My husband was ill with chronic bronchitis for fifteen years and was attended by several physicians without success. By the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Marshmallows and Turpentine the bronchitis has been entirely cured and his system has been built up by the use of Dr. Chase's Nervine Food.'

Opportunity knocked loudly at the man's door. But the man was busy discouraging on panics, their habits and habits. So Opportunity grinned and ambled along.—Pittsburg Post.

How do you do, Mr. Pompus? said Chamley. Really, began Mr. Pompus frigidly, you—or have the advantage of me.

Apparently I have. Your manners are as bad as you'd have me believe your memory to be.

American—No, dueling isn't allowed in this country except with one kind of weapon. Parisian—A-h! Tell me ze name of zat weapon, so ze next time ze American insult me I know zat weapon.

American—Lawyers. 'What is there so attractive about automobiling?' 'For one thing you get such a fine view of the country.'

'I've noticed that you get such a fine view of the under side of the automobile as well.'

The daughter of an English lady of very high rank had some pain in her foot, which her mother asked the governess to be good enough to look after. The latter, after examining it, said with deference:

'If it were not for her ladyship's exalted rank, I should say it was a bunion.'

'You don't take the interest in horse racing that you did?' 'No, I have passed it up.'

'You used to say it was the sports of kings.'

'So it is, but I am bughouse now on automobile racing, the sports of millionaires.'

The American Chinese exclusion act is so vigorous that it is about to send back to China, a young woman who was sold by her parents and brought to America at seven years of age. She has grown up in a Montana town, is an active worker in the Presbyterian church, and is to all intents and purposes an American, but it was found she had not the necessary certificate. She is heart broken at leaving what she considers her home.

Dr. A. W. Chase's 25c. CATARRH CURE... is sent direct to the afflicted party by the Improved Blower. It is the only medicine that does not irritate the mucous membrane, and it is the only medicine that does not require the use of a syringe.

Tell me, ye winged winds that around my pathway roam, do you not know some sacred spot where virtue's quiet house no more; some lone, sequestered vale, some island, ocean-adjacent, where life's not care concerns you with cobwebs and dirt; where only nature's carpet spreads beneath their feet, and wretched men are never compelled to enervate their souls?

The river breeze fanned on my heated face and said: 'Beat on, There's no such place.'

The janitor of a small church on the north side of New York raises a few chickens in his back yard. The eggs of these he sells to some members of the church. On a Saturday one of his customers asked him if he could give a dozen eggs within the next ten or twelve days. 'Oh, yes, no, no,' replied the janitor. 'I'll bring you a dozen fresh ones tomorrow morning.' 'Well, you'll bring them on Sunday,' said the customer. 'Well, replied John, 'I'll bring them on Sunday, if you say so, but I don't make sacred eggs in the house.'

Brave Irish Lady.

Seven children caught by the tide while bathing at low water from the shore of Sigo Bay were saved by the courage and presence of mind of Mrs. McNally. The lady, who is a native of Sigo, saw the little ones standing on a small island a quarter of a mile away. This is submerged at high water, and, as the tide had cut off their escape, their danger was extreme. Although unable to swim, Mrs. McNally dashed to the rescue. The strength of the incoming tide drove them once threatened to overcome her, and her foothold was the more uncertain owing to the slimy mud. She reached the island, and took the two smallest children in her arms, but then the water was too deep to allow of her return by the way she came.

Fortunately, she recalled how it was possible to walk back by a circuitous route on a mud bank. With the two babes in her arms and the others clinging frantically to her gown, she had a long and dangerous struggle to reach the shore, but she succeeded although in a terribly exhausted condition.

Which Liniment is Best? For muscular pains and aches, a thick oily preparation can't penetrate—that's why Nerviline beats them all—it sinks right in. 'I wouldn't live without Nerviline in my house,' writes J. B. Cottam of Mastow, N. S. 'If you have rheumatism or soreness in the muscles or in fact any need of an honest liniment, Nerviline fills the bill. I can recommend it highly because I have proved that its application of Poison's Nerviline there is more virtue than in a whole bottle of ordinary liniment.' Try one of the large 25c. bottles.

New Anaesthetic Used. An experiment which may add to the revolutionizing of the method employed in surgical operations was successfully carried out last week at the General Hospital, Toronto, by Dr. Norman Anderson.

Frank Simpson, a laborer, who received very severe injuries from the kick of a horse several weeks ago. The man, who had been previously operated upon three times, was in an extremely weak condition, and it was found he would not survive another application of anaesthetics of the usual kind. Dr. Anderson resorted to the use of an anaesthetic which, it is stated, has never heretofore been used in Canada.

The preparation owes its discovery to Foreau, an eminent chemist in Paris. While containing cocaine, it has properties which deprive the patient of any sensation of pain, allowing him at the same time to retain full possession of his senses.

Are You Drowsy After Meals? Is there a fullness in your stomach—a drowsy, lazy desire to sleep. This isn't natural in healthy folks and only occurs when the liver is torpid. You need a stimulating tonic—need Dr. Hamilton's Pills to stir your liver and put life into sleepy organs. You'll feel brisk and lively—you'll eat, digest and sleep well after regulating with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. No medicine so universally used, so mild, so sure to be beneficial as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Sold by all dealers in 25c. boxes.

The Cat. To day the domestic cat is found in every country on the globe and can prove a known history of nearly four thousand years.

The cat was a sacred animal in Egypt. The Egyptians built temples and offered sacrifices in honor of the cat, even embalming its body after death. The large number of bronze inscriptions, monuments and cat mummies found give convincing proof of the great veneration in which the cat was held in ancient Egypt. As a pet, the cat is the favorite animal of the nursery, and is a quiet, affectionate, purring, useful cat in a valet innate of nearly every household.—Pets and Animals.

The man who has no sense of humor isn't missing much these days. Primitive man is still strong enough in the average person to make the indulging of the savage instincts in the past look heroic.

'She doesn't love him just because his hair is curly.' 'How do you know?' 'I know by the look in his head.'

That languid, listless feeling that comes with spring and early summer, can be quickly changed to a feeling of buoyancy and energy by the judicious use of Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

The Restorative is a genuine tonic to tired, run-down nerves, and but a few doses is needed to satisfy the user that Dr. Shoop's Restorative is actually reaching that tired spot. The indoor life of winter nearly always leads to sluggish bowels, and to sluggish circulation in general. The customary lack of exercise and outdoor air ties up the liver, stagnates the kidneys, and all-day weakness the heart's action. Use Dr. Shoop's Restorative a few weeks and all will be changed. A few days rest will tell you that you are using the right remedy. You will easily and surely note the change from day to day. Sold by A. V. Rand.

A Relic of Early San Francisco.

A relic of the old time when the water came up to Montgomery St., has just been unearthed in San Francisco. In the old days of '49 the ships which called at Yerba Buena, as San Francisco was then called, found themselves stranded for the crews would desert en masse for the gold diggings. More than one captain, seeing the hopelessness of getting a crew, followed his men in the hope of washing out a fortune. These delirious ships were soon stranded in a double sense, for the land encroached, or was filled in, seaward, and the ships gradually became hotels on dry land. Among these ships was the 'Nautic' built in a Maine shipyard of Maine pine, or hull pine as it was called in California. After being deserted, the ship was pulled ashore at Clay and Sanson streets and converted into a lodging house. The shallow water at her stern was gradually filled up with sand brought from the neighboring streets and the Nautic Block was one of the best constructed buildings of the early days, was erected over the site of the ship. The block was destroyed in the conflagration of April, 1906. Recently while digging the foundations for a new Nautic building, the keel and ribs of the old ship were found fast in the mud and sand.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved. Mr. Thos. Stanton, postmaster of Poytop, Ont., writes: 'For the past eight years I suffered from rheumatic pains, and during that time I used many different liniments and remedies for the cure of rheumatism. Last summer I procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and got more relief from it than anything I have ever used, and cheerfully recommend this liniment to all sufferers from rheumatic pains.' Throwing the Egg. In some parts of Europe there is an Easter game which is lots of fun, tho' it is hard on eggs. The children stand toeing a line on a smooth place where the ground is soft, and then one by one they throw their eggs, each one aiming to see how far he or she can throw without breaking or cracking the egg. The skilled players aim to throw their eggs so that they shall skim along the ground and land only on their smaller ends, which are the hardest.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

'One Touch of Nature Makes the Whole World Kin.' When a rooster finds a big fat worm he calls all the hens in the farm yard to come and share it. A similar trait of human nature is to be observed when a man discovers something exceptionally good—he wants all his friends and neighbors to share the benefits of his discovery. This is the touch of nature that makes the whole world kin. This explains why people who have been cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturers for publication, that others similarly ailing may also use it and obtain relief. Behind every one of these letters is a warm hearted wish of the writer to be of use to someone else. This remedy is for sale by Rand's Drug Store.

At Paris on March 20th, Henry Harman an English aeronaut beat all records by going in a circular course over a mile and a half in an aeroplane.

Chamberlain's Has the Preference. Mr. Fred O. Hamman, a prominent druggist of Portsmouth, N. H., says: 'For the past six years I have sold and recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is a great remedy and one of the best patent medicines on the market. I handle some others for the same purposes that pay me a larger profit, but this remedy is so sure to effect a cure, and my customer so certain to appreciate my recommending it to him, that I give it the preference.' FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN

LYDIA E. PINKHAM HAS BEEN successful in relieving the suffering of women or received so many glowing testimonials as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.—Always remember that one you must have either been benefited by it, or has friends who have. In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., any woman any day may see the files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, and here are the letters in which they openly state over their own signatures that they were cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made from roots and herbs, without drugs, and is wholesome and harmless.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful, is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the feminine organism, restoring it to a healthy normal condition.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts, or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

Prohibition in Georgia. With the opening of the new year prohibition went into effect in two States of the American Union—Ohio and Georgia. The Okefenokee law, which, we believe, is a part of the constitution of the State, is said to be a very drastic one.

Georgia the movement toward State prohibition has been gradual and has proceeded by way of the adoption of prohibition by local option until out of about 140 counties only a score or so accorded a legal status to the liquor traffic. The circumstances attending the negro outrages and the consequent lynchings in September, 1906, in Atlanta, the principal city of the State, convinced the people that these atrocities were fostered if not caused by the saloons, and strong public feeling was aroused against them, which has now found expression in a prohibitory law. Preparations for the enforcement of the law in Atlanta are said to have been made in a business-like way. The city has been distinguished for the organization of law and order leagues, which will undertake to prevent or drive out 'blind tigers.' As for saloons under the guise of social clubs, a tax on such places imposed by the Legislature is expected to be prohibitive. Alluding to the introduction of Georgia's prohibitory law, 'The Outlook' says: 'If such a reform is to be made permanent restrictive measures must be supplemented by others that are constructive. This, many phases of the city have realized. In the place of the saloons they are undertaking to provide wholesome resorts. We are informed that the churches for the whites are projecting "institutional" facilities to cost over half a million—the Baptists two hundred and fifty thousand and the Methodists four hundred thousand dollars. For the negro population one colored church is preparing similar facilities. The minister of the church, Dr. H. H. Proctor, one of the leaders of his race in the South, has prepared plans for an enlargement which will include a reading-room and library, a gymnasium, bath, model kitchen, sewing room, etc. This movement has the endorsement of the Governor of Georgia, the Mayor of Atlanta, Dr. Booker T. Washington and others. In the effort to secure temperance and orderliness these positive measures taken by the citizens and churches of Atlanta are as important as the law.'

Temperance Libraries. A new enterprise is described in the Journal of the Patriotic League against Alcoholism, published in Brussels, that of lending libraries in small towns and villages in the province of Liege. A collection of books dealing with temperance has been included in these libraries, and a report received from Felix Waret, a town of some 2,000 inhabitants, it appears that it has been much appreciated by young and old, and the books dealing with effects of alcoholic liquors, and those dealing with other social questions, have been borrowed and taken home and read there. An intemperate drinker declared in a café: 'That since the librarian has given me my own these anti-alcoholic books to read I hardly venture to go to the public house as my wife and children complain so bitterly, and tell me of the bad effects of alcoholic liquors.' A Sterpigny, where these libraries have also been established, the people value the temperance books, and the librarian was told by one mother: 'You have saved me much money by lending these books, neither my husband nor my sons place their feet inside a public house now, all their leisure time is spent reading your books and I have a thousand troubles to get them to leave reading when I want their assistance in the house, but I do not complain. I only wish one thing—that it may continue.'—Temperance Record.

Age and Drunkenness. According to Dr. Charles L. Dana, druggists almost invariably begin their career under twenty years of age. If a man lives until he is twenty-five years old without having indulged in the excessive use of liquors, he is not likely to do so later on. Very few indeed begin drinking after thirty, and according to this investigator, not a single case of drunkenness has occurred who began the use of liquors at her forty years of age. It would seem from this investigation, adds Health, if we could keep the boys away from strong drink that they would grow up to be sober men.

Finland has passed a law prohibiting the sale and use of liquors with such stringency that no more wine should be a baby on its mother's breast. Price 25 cents, large size 50 cents.

At a recent trial for murder the judge, in rendering his decision said: 'The case at bar is the seventy-sixth murder case I have tried, either as state's attorney or as judge, during the past nineteen years. I have kept a careful record of each case and have seen the result of each case. At the present trial in seventy-six of the seventy-six, whiskey was the exciting cause.'

For Constipation. Mr. L. H. Farnham, a prominent druggist of Spirit Lake, Iowa, says: 'Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are certainly the best thing on the market for constipation. They have taken a trial on me several times and then a general and pleasant effect. Price, 25 cents. Samples free. For sale by Rand's Drug Store.'
