NEARLY WEDDED HIS SISTER.

A Marriage That was Prevented at the Last Moment.

New York, Oct. 27.—A wedding announced for Sunday last at Dr. Houghton's 'Little Church Around the Corner' did not take place, because almost at the last moment the discovery was made that the bridal couple to be were brother and sister.

Fifteen years ago a man named Bryan and his wife died in Chicago, leaving two girls, Edna, aged 10, and Maude, five years younger. Their only son, Joseph, had run away from home a year previously. The little girls were bright and pretty, and Mrs. Alice Townsend, the wife of a variety show manager, adopted them. In course of time they went on the stage as the Harvey sisters. A year ago Edna married a Mr. Melrose, of Baltimore, and retired to private life. Maude went to London, where she found employment at the Alhambra. There she met Peggy Prime and her husband, Joe Allen.

Maude and Joe Allen loved each other at first sight. Miss Prime objected and finally obtained a divorce. Allen and his new love came to the United States, intending to marry. They obtained work in a company now playing in Brooklyn. Miss Harvey announced her approaching nuptials to all her friends.

Mrs. Melrose came from Baltimore to see her sister married. On Friday Allen entertained them with stories of his early life. He told them he ran away from his home in Chicago when a lad of ten years, because his father beat him, and had worked as bootblack, newsboy and other lowly occupations until he rose from being a 'supe' to doing a turn at a music hall, and finally became a variety actor. Mrs. Melrose asked him if he had seen his parents since he became prosperous, and he replied that he had written to inquire about them, and had learned that both were dead. 'Their name wasn't Allen, you know,' he added. 'It was Bryan.'

A few questions hurriedly put and as hurriedly answered discovered to Mrs. Melrose that in her intended brother-in-law she had found her long lost brother. The invitations to the wedding were recalled, and Dr. Houghton was notified that his services would not be required.

WHY THEY DO NOT PASS.

Kidney Disease Prevents Hundreds of Apparently Healthy Men From Passing a Medical Examination for Life Insurance.

If you have inquired into the matter you will be surprised at the number of your friends who find themselves rejected as applicants for life insurance, because of kidney trouble. They think themselves healthy until they undergo the medical test, and they fail in this one point. South American Kidney Cure will remove not alone the early symptoms, but all forms of kidney disease, by dissolving the uric acid and hardening substances that find place in the system. J. D. Locke of Sherbrooke, Que., suffered for three years from a complicated case of kidney disease, and spent over $100 for treatment. He got no relief until he used South American Kidney Cure, and he says over his own signature that four bottles him.—Sold by E. Lee Street.

GOLD MINING IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 28.—The gold brick from the Cariboo hydraulic mine is on its way here. It is valued at $35,741 and is the product of 14 days 20 hours run in on the pit. This makes $118,000 mined so far this season. The hydraulicing will go on until cold weather stops operations. The Two Friends Mining Company, owning a claim in the Slocan district, received returns to-day from the Tacoma smelter of the first car load of ore shipped. It gives a net value of $164.20 per ton. Deducting the cost of mining and hauling to water, the net return is about $131 per ton. The mine will now be a regular shipper. About 750 tons of ore are being already blocked out on the dump.

A CRIPPLE FROM RHEUMATISM.

Cured by a Few Doses of South American Rheumatic Cure—Miraculous but Fact.

Mrs. N. Ferris, wife of a well known manufacturer of Highgate, Ont., says: 'For many years I was sorely afflicted with rheumatic pains in my ankles and at times was almost disabled. I tried everything, as I thought, and doctored for years without much benefit. Though I had lost confidence in medicines I was induced to use South American Rheumatic Cure. To my delight, the first dose gave me more relief than I had had in years, and two bottles have completely cured me.'—Sold by E. Lee Street.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT OTTAWA.

Joseph Girouard, a married man, who resided in Hull, met with a horrible death yesterday. He was employed at Booth's mill. While at work at a band saw he was struck by a cantdog with such force that he was thrown several feet away and fell through a hole in the flooring into the water beneath. The mill was instantly shut down and search made for the unfortunate man, but no trace of him was found. As the water into which he fell flows out into the river just above the falls, it is feared that he was instantly carried out over the falls. The hole in the flooring was one through which sawdust and millwood was thrown into the water.

ONCE A YEAR ONLY JUST OUT

The Dodds' Kidney Pill Calendar for the Year 1897.

SUPPORTED THE WORLD

On His Heroic Shoulders—Atlas Must Have Healthy Kidneys.

As the first to be laid on our table for the year 1897, we welcome the reappearance of the Dodd's Kidney Pill calendar; published by the Dodds Medicine Company, Limited, Toronto.

Prepossessing, beyond anything of its class hitherto published in America, though its purpose is at once obvious it has been made exceedingly pleasing by the fortunate choice of a design for the cover, which has been charmingly worked out by the artist in red and blue lithograph, the classic subject being—Atlas supporting the world.

It seems that these clever and persistent advertisers, not content with decorating the grassy hill-slopes and rugged mountain sides with their mammoth letterings, seek also adroitly to seize upon the imagination and assist it to account for the superhuman strength of the heroic Atlas, suggesting the secret of his power by representing him as being himself supported and relying upon a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

On the back of cover, in a few pithy words those previously convinced of the urgent need of kidney treatment are warned against substitutes, imitations and counterfeits of the genuine Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Thus much as to the cover; of the book itself, we have to say:—The arguments all seem unanswerable, the proofs ample and undeniable, the whole unique, admirable and useful, not only for the coming year, but for always.

We are assured by the publishers that sufficient are being printed to go around, that in due time every family in Canada will get one to their present and lifelong advantage. And as usual, adding: 'Dodd's Kidney Pills Always Cure.'

MURDEROUS BANDITS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Morristown, Pa., Oct. 28.—Murderous highwaymen did bloody work just outside the limits of this borough early this evening. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kiser, a young couple of Morristown, were returning from an afternoon drive when just before they reached the borough limits two men sprang from the roadside and seized the horse's head. The men were armed with revolvers and they demanded of Kiser that he turn over to them his valuables. Despite the threatening pistols, Kiser refused the demand of the highwaymen and started to whip up his horse. Thereupon the desperadoes opened fire. Kiser was shot through the arm and his wife was shot through the head and instantly killed. Undaunted by the murderous effect of their fire, the highwaymen completed their work. They dragged Kiser out of his carriage and robbed him of his watch and the money he had about him. The ruffians then rifled Mrs. Kiser's body of her gold watch and made their escape. Bleeding and fainting, Kiser dragged himself to a nearby house and summoned assistance. He was brought to his home here and is badly wounded. Kiser was able to give the authorities a good description of the highwaymen and the police of this borough and Philadelphia are bending every effort to capture the bandits.

TAKEN WITH SPASMS.

A Collingwood Resident Tells How South American Nervine Cured His Daughter of Distressing Nervous Disease.

The father of Jessie Merchant, of Collingwood, tells this story of his eleven year-old daughter: 'I doctored with the most skilled physicians in Collingwood without any relief coming to my daughter, spending nearly five hundred dollars in this way. A friend influenced me to try South American Nervine, though I took it with little hope of it being any good. When she began its use she was hardly able to move about, and suffered terribly from nervous spasms, but after taking a few bottles she can now run around as other children.' For stomach troubles and nervousness there is nothing so good as South American Nervine.—Sold by E. Lee Street.

BRITISH WARSHIPS IN ATLANTIC WATERS.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 27.—The present probability of an increase in the great fleet of British warships in the Atlantic waters, with a number of them stationed at Halifax all the year round, is received with great satisfaction here, coupled of course with much curiosity to know what prompts the measure. The promotion of Capt. Brackenbury, now in Bermuda on the warship 'Terror,' as Rear-Admiral, is regarded as having something to do with the new naval measure. The officials at Her Majesty's dockyard here decline to give any information. One hundred years ago, when Great Britain's wooden ships swarmed about the American coast, there were two naval divisions on this side of the Atlantic, with headquarters at Halifax and at Bermuda.

REMARKABLE DEPORTATION OF GOATS.

How the St. John's, (Nfld.), Council Are Abating a Picturesque Nuisance.

The Municipal Council of St. John's are making strenuous efforts to deliver the city from a long standing nuisance, namely, the presence of a regiment of goats that have long held possession of the thoroughfares, and to which the 'freedom of the city' has been tacitly accorded. We had got accustomed to the presence of the Billies and Nannies in the streets, and not merely tolerated them but had even established a sort of sympathetic and affectionate regard for the nomadic race. They were considered to have acquired vested interests and civic rights by virtue of long continued usage and walked the streets with an air of confidence and independence which showed that they were 'to the manner born.' They were picturesque, if scarcely ornamental. In the course of time they developed literary tendencies which became hereditary, and showed themselves chiefly in a fondness for wall literature. The placards on the walls were specially relished and eagerly devoured, more, I suspect, from the underlying flour paste than from any literary enjoyment of their contents. It was a common sight along the thoroughfares to see numerous goats standing on their hind legs and swallowing auctions, concerts, proclamations, bricks by the thousand, and whole cargoes of timber or iron rails. Maternal affection showed itself in the willingness with which the Nannies permitted their offspring to share in the luxurious banquets, by mounting the kids on their backs and so enabling them to reach the tempting morsels. A goat standing on her hind legs, with a lively kid in the same attitude on her shoulders and sharing in the literary banquet, was a picturesque sight, especially to strangers. The wandering tribe obtained a precarious existence by picking up cabbage leaves, decayed turnips and occasionally a door mat, to which their digestive powers were quite equal. At times the hay and straw market supplied many a toothsome meal, and in seasons of scarcity there was the never failing bark of trees and an occasional raid on a garden. On fine days they went off in scores to the neighboring hills, returning with full udders to their owners in the evening. On the whole they appeared to enjoy a pleasant life, free from gnawing cares or anxious considerations regarding the morrow.

But this happy life could not go on for ever. Like all spoiled favorites they became impertinent, abused their privileges and waxed positively tyranical in their conduct. It was no uncommon thing for a householder to be aroused in the middle of the night by some reckless belated Billy butting the door and creating the impression that burglars were at work. Then the sanitary men pursuing their scavenging labors at early morning complained that the ash heaps, tubs, etc., left outside doors were overturned and the contents scattered far and wide by these nocturnal prowlers. This might have been borne, but when the press went against them and among other things declared that they carried about the germs of diphtheria, scarlet fever, etc., and spread infectious diseases, the tide of public opinion turned against 'the tribe of the wandering foot.' The Municipal Council took the matter up. Long and anxious debates followed. The goats were private property and compensation for their appropriation for the public benefit was inevitable, and to award such for 300 or 400 goats was a serious matter when ratepayers came to consider it. Besides, any movement for the removal of them was sure to be unpopular and to evoke fierce resistance, and perhaps might imperil the return of some of the Councillors at the next elections.

At last a bright idea struck the municipal mind, and the decree went forth that every goat found in the streets was to be lassoed, impounded and deported by railway far into the interior, there to be turned loose like the 'scape-goat' of the old Dispensation. The work began and was vigorously followed up by the lively street arabs, who got a reward for each goat captured. A rebellion broke out among the owners, and numerous old ladies defended for a time their nannies, plying their broom-handles vigorously. All in vain. Batch after batch was despatched to the wilderness by railway, amid piteous bleatings and heartrending partings with the owners. Soon the place that knew them so well will know them no more. We shall miss them for a time. There was one stately William that I often admired. He was tall and stoutly built, with a set of powerful antlers on his well-poised head—'pride in his port, defiance in the eye.' Woe to the gamin or dog that attacked him. He was evidently the Sultan of the race, and might be seen at any hour of the day pacing the streets with a lordly air, or at early morning leading his harem to the hills. His capture was a tough job; but the lasso caught his wide-spread horns, and, with wild 'baas,' he was dragged to prison.

Many are the conjectures and theories as to the fate of these creatures when deported and set free in the wilderness. They are a hardy race and will probably survive and adapt themselves to their new environments, and, under the operation of the law of 'the survival of the fittest,' they may develope into a healthy, powerful species of wild goats that in a century or two may make their mark in the animal world and possess many of the qualities of the deer, and become an attraction to foreign sportsmen when the Cariboo have disappeared.

Get Munyon's Guide to Health From Your Druggist. It Will Tell You What to Use and How to Cure the Most Obstinate and Complicated Diseases.

Professor Munyon is honored to-day as the leading authority in the medical world. His new and humane methods of treatment have swept away all the old-fashioned ideas of doctoring with poisonous drugs that create a dozen diseases in the effort to get rid of one. He does not claim that he has one remedy that will cure all complaints, but that he has prepared a specific cure for nearly every disease. He does not claim that Munyon's Rheumatism Cure will cure consumption, dyspepsia or any other complaint, but he does assert that it will cure rheumatism. Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure is prepared expressly to cure dyspepsia: Munyon's Cough Cure to cure coughs; Munyon's Catarrh Remedies to cure catarrh; Munyon's Kidney Cure to cure kidney troubles. The same may be said of all Munyon's different remedies. They may be obtained at all drug stores, mostly at 25 cents a bottle.

ARMENIAN ANARCHISTS ARRESTED.

Constantinople, Oct. 27.—A number of important arrests were made by the Turkish authorities in this city yesterday and to-day. All of the prisoners are described as 'notorious revolutionary Armenians.' The Governor of the district of Fera declares that one of the persons arrested, a Persian, had in his possession letters showing that he was engaged in a conspiracy against the Government. The other prisoners included three Armenian men and four women, all Anarchists and all living in the same house. Six of them had revolvers. The Governor adds that when the prisoners were searched five small bombs intended to be charged with dynamite were found concealed in the corsage of one of the women.

DYNAMITE AND BOMBS FOUND.

One case of dynamite and three bombs have been found in the Selamis quarter of Scutari. These repeated finds do not signify any greater danger in this city than before, but are merely a proof that the Armenians lately captured seem to be betraying one another and revealing everything owing to the manner in which the police have cornered them.

ELECTION RIOTS IN HUNGARY.

Buda Pest, Oct. 27.—Serious election riots have taken place in different parts of Hungary. At Tyrnau, a detachment of hussars, while attempting to restore order, was stoned by the mob and one trooper killed. The hussars thereupon charged with drawn swords and several of the rioters were wounded. Troops have been sent to the various disturbed districts.

STARVATION IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 27.—The Newfoundland Government has decided to inaugurate a series of relief works to assist the destitute fishermen who returned from Labrador without the means of providing their families with a winter's subsistence, owing to the failure of the fishery. All the authorities represent that the situation is serious, and thousands of people are likely to be starving before Christmas.
