Legislature and the other of new or old men. We understand the old members as formerly, are out and out-keepers of Mr. Tweedie and his administration, while the new ticket will support Mr. Tweedie if no straight Liberal Administration in New Brunswick, and if Mr. Hazen and his colleagues come into power they will be in opposition. This ticket is composed of Messrs. Curran, Boudreau, Morais, two men from the end of the county and one from Carleton. It is known particularly as the Turgeon Ticket.

Gloucester is a peculiar county in many ways and it is yet too early to attempt a forecast of the result of the struggle, but the old members have so far given good satisfaction and excellent service, and the people will think carefully before making a change.

Business in Bathurst is very good this autumn, the good crops and excellent fishing in the lower end of the county making money fairly plentiful, and we understand there is less grumbling than usual among our merchants. The large lumber firms are getting started at their winter operations, in fact, several teams are at work already, and it is thought if prices hold up as well as they have all summer that the cut of logs will be larger than last year.

Mr. John Robertson will again operate the Carquet mill next year and is already getting his teams to work for a good winter's operation in the woods. We hear of several new rotary mills being imported to work principally on ground land, and are glad to learn this. If the people about the North Shore knew how these mills are made to pay in the southern part of the province and in Nova Scotia, where the logs are so small and few, they would consider they had a fortune on the backs of every farm in Gloucester.

Mr. Wm J. Kent, our popular merchant, is away from home on a well-earned vacation, and his partner, Mr. Allan Pearson is conducting their large business in Mr. Kent's absence.

We regret to have to chronicle that our much respected Magistrate John E. O'Brien, Esquire is laid up at his home owing to a serious accident which was caused by a bolt belonging to the Squire, whether in a playful manner or not is not known, knocking him down and breaking his collar bone. Mr. O'Brien though a man of mature years retains his love of a good horse and always has one or more young ones.

Mr. W. A. Mott of Campbellton was in town on Saturday attending to some probate matters. We understand that Mr. Mott has cut himself loose from his former colleagues and will not support Mr. Tweedie's administration at the approaching election. Mr. Mott's principal grievance is that Mr. Tweedie refused to cancel leases of the Muskoka Lumber Co., a syndicate which several years ago leased a large tract of land on the Baginouch and branches from the Government. Mr. Mott claims that the Muskoka people had no mill and did not comply with the terms of their lease, which required them either to cut or pay for at least ten thousand superficial feet of lumber annually, and that they were merely holding the lands by paying the renewal, for speculative purposes in proof of which they have lately sold out their licenses to another syndicate for a very large sum of money. Mr. Mott protested against the transfer of the licenses, but Mr. Tweedie, we understand, considered if he refused the Muskoka people the right to transfer, he would be doing something which might make the lumbermen all over the Province consider that leases were insecure, consequently having the courage of his convictions, he preferred losing Mr. Mott to interfering with the rights of the Muskoka Lumber Co.

In our notes of next week we propose giving the public some information regarding the fishing and hunting in Gloucester. At the present time there are several parties hunting on the head waters of the Nepisiquit, and we hear with great success.

On, Yes! There is going to be an election this fall, and how the people of Northern New Brunswick do love an election! At the first blast of the trumpet you can see them, like King Henry's young men at Harfleur, "Land the eye a terrible aspect" and men go around handling assessment rolls, and lists of voters, with an air of mystery.

By even telegraph pole or horse back, you may see two or three prophets waving their arms, and in animated accents proclaiming their convictions. We learn there are already two tickets in the field, one composed of the present members of the Legislature and the other of new or old men. We understand the old members as formerly, are out and out-keepers of Mr. Tweedie and his administration, while the new ticket will support Mr. Tweedie if no straight Liberal Administration in New Brunswick, and if Mr. Hazen and his colleagues come into power they will be in opposition. The Steamer "Universe" loading for Messrs. Summer Company is about the last of the water shipments this season, there will likely be one or two more vessels for the different firms, and a good loading season will close. When the shipments have ceased we will endeavor to obtain for the readers of the "Advocate" a synopsis of the shipments of this season.

GRANDANSE.

Daniel Murphy of Black Rock and Miss Mary Whelton of Pokeshaw were married in the R. C. church here Sunday afternoon. After the ceremony the party drove to their future home in Black Rock where a pleasant evening was spent by residents of Black Rock and relatives of Waterloo and Pokeshaw. The party returning to their respective homes about 12 o'clock well pleased with their evening's enjoyment.

Kate Coughlan was visiting her cousins in Waterloo Monday. James Madden and Nora Whelton are to be married next Sunday. Other weddings are spoken of in the near future.

J. W. Dumas contractor of the building of the Grand Anse breakwater has the block nearly completed. Mr. Dumas had many difficulties to contend with in the commencement but he has overcome all difficulties and has the work nearly completed with the exception of the dredging of the harbor which I understand will not be undertaken before winter or next spring. It is hoped said breakwater will shortly be extended another hundred feet or more towards the shore and made to serve the double purposes of breakwater and wharf. In fact it will be of no practical benefit more than a shelter for small boats until this is done and it is too bad so much money is already spent, not to have the work completed. I know there is the scarcity of water, but after the harbor is dredged I believe fair sized craft could load or unload at the wharf if freight could be hauled on and off breakwater by team. I was a little surprised the other morning to see a fair sized schooner bound for Stonehaven to load grindstone sail into Grand Anse harbor and a soon as they discovered they made a mistake, hoisted anchor and sailed away without getting into any trouble and when the harbor is dredged there will be much more water.

P. H. Melvin of C. Railway was the guest of friends here this week. Mr. Melvin recently returned from P. E. I. where he spent some days purchasing horses for Adams, Burns & Co. Mr. Melvin thinks the Island the granary of Canada. Crops good, farmers all seem prosperous.

The Misses McKenna of Bathurst stayed at Grand Anse hotel Thursday night on their way from Tracadie, Mizonette and other places. They say they had a fine cruise.

Lizzie Sullivan, Waterloo, entertained a number of her friends Thursday evening. Among the number were N. Baldwin, J. Nixon, Mand Salter, M. Murphy and M. Coughlan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Sullivan's home has been gladdened by the arrival of a daughter.

I met a few of the boys at Therault hotel on Monday evening: some of them were Jos. Sullivan, N. Baldwin, F. J. Cousens, A. Holmer, H. Salter.

John O'Neill was here Monday hiring men and horses for the Tracadie Lumber Co. He got the largest part of one crew here. He will be wanting two more camp crews in a few days. There have been several parties from Bathurst and Campbellton here lately also looking for men for the lumber woods. Men seem scarce, many are going to the States.

Frank Coughlan, Dan O'Neill and Jos. Sullivan were here on Thursday.

With the exception of Wednesday's rain storm we have had fine harvest weather for some time and the harvest will be much earlier than was expected a month ago.

Rev. S. J. Donnet is preparing a large class of boys and girls for confirmation which is to take place the latter part of this month.

P. J. Foley Esq. drove to Pokemouche Friday returning Saturday. The blue-berry season is nearly over. Not near the quantity of berries picked here or vicinity as there were last year. One reason is, the barrens were all so wet. W. S. Luggie & Co. were the only canners they caused at Pokeshaw.

Maud Salter, clerk for W. S. Luggie, Blue Cove, and James Nixon, manager for Hoeg & Co., Mizonette drove through here Monday.

Mabel Knowles, the popular telegraph agent, Stonehaven, visited friends here recently.

Mr. B. Murphy of Pokeshaw passes through here on his way to Waterloo often. So we to be an attraction there.

Minnie Sink spent some days in Bathurst lately.—Events.

CHATHAM.

BISHOP ROGERS VALEDICTORY CIRCULAR LETTER.

The expected kind acceptance by our Holy Father the Pope of my resignation of the Administration of the Diocese reached me on the evening of the 7th inst., and thus the Coadjutor Rt. Rev. Bishop Barry by virtue of the tenor of his appointment, enters into the right of succession and is now Bishop of Chatham.

In communicating the official document relating to the same, I gladly avail myself of the occasion which this gives me to address a few valedictory words of paternal greeting to the flock over whom a new venerable pastor is now to rule but which flock for the past forty-two years has been the object of my solicitude as well as my consolation and joy.

The sacred bonds of mutual affectionate relationship between pastor and people can not be severed suddenly without a pang; and it is to ease and soothe this painful separation that a few words of valedictory farewell—on the part of the pastor becomes useful if not necessary.

The family relationship—the union of husband and wife—gives birth to children and this mutual love between father and mother, parent and children, is the most strong and lasting in the natural order. But the supernatural transcends the natural, and the same Heavenly Father who gives the parent love the instinct to live knowledge, and so on, to provide nest and food for their young, in the natural order, gives the needed spiritual light and grace which animate and lead in natural love, officially, pastor and flock—priest and people. Many often wonder at the strong manifestations of love and respect which Catholic people in every land entertain for their clergy. But a little reflection on the work and words of God in connection with the institution of their church, and the appointment and ordering of her ministers will make this easily understood.

The greatest benediction God can give to any people is to give them good faithful priests, wise and enlightened guides and rulers; and such has been the favor which the people of this diocese have been enjoying, and hence the intense mutual love and esteem existing between clergy and people. I feel it is a sacred duty of justice and truth to testify that I always admired the spirit of true Catholic piety existing among the flock of this diocese; the people upright, intelligent, humble, charitable—wishing to do to others as they would wish others to do toward them. "Give the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy strength, and thy neighbor as thyself."—Yea in this love for their clergy was especially emphasized their love for the chief pastor, our Holy Father the Pope. And here let me express gratitude and felicitations to all, not only the members of my own flock, but to all my fellow-citizens of whatever creed and nationality, from whom I received kindness and good will; may God bless them and ever have them in His Holy keeping. I wish also to express congratulations for the devoted pastor now happily succeeding me in the flock from which I am permitted to withdraw. As one of the native priests of the diocese, he was a model always successful in every position in which he exercised his ministry, and beloved alike by both the good Acadian French people as by the others whose tongue is English. May this holy union and love always endure. In conclusion, Dearly Beloved, although it is some few days since my resignation was kindly accepted, and I was thus relieved of the administration by our Holy Father yet I have preferred to await this date to address to you my last words of farewell on the anniversary of my first address on that occasion of my installation—the 22nd, Aug. 1860, may God make us worthy and grateful.
