THE ROAD THAT WILL PAY.

The discussion of the terms of the Grand Trunk Pacific charter in the House of Commons, with regard to the amount of capital stock and the bond issue, was long and animated. A common sentiment being expressed by Mr. Barker, who said that "the heavier the capital the more the public would wonder of later have to pay for the services rendered." Perhaps there is too much politics and too little business in the discussion. Eastern Quebec and the Maritime Provinces insist that the rails shall be laid to the city of Quebec and thence to Moncton. Then Halifax and St. John begin to fight over the merits and demerits of their respective harbors. Up jumps Mr. Talbot with the statement that "the proposed route from Quebec to Winnipeg was the most expensive possible. They could not select a route that would have gradients of less than 1 per cent. throughout that section."

Business men will ask why, if this is the case, should a long and costly road be built from Winnipeg to Quebec. It will not carry grain, for bulk freight seeks the water route. The grain which the Grand Trunk Pacific will collect in Manitoba and the Territories, will be put on shipboard at Port Arthur and transferred to the railway at Midland, whence there is an easy grade to Peterborough, Belleville and Montreal. The package freight will go back the same way. Harvesting and threshing machinery will go to the Northwest, all rail, from Hamilton and Toronto, for the most part on flat cars. Now what is that road to Quebec or Moncton going to carry? Some passengers in a hurry to get to England will like the shortest route. But most of the men who come east from Manitoba will want to do business at Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal. If the patriots and politicians in Parliament insist upon the Company building a road to Quebec and Moncton, they must quit quibbling over the amount of stock and bonds needed to pay for such a road. If they will leave the Grand Trunk free to build a road that will pay interest on the investment, while serving the true business interests of its patrons, there will be no need for a fight over the capitalization.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Sombody has been figuring 'out that the Car gets $50 a minute. The risk is worth it.

What does the Toronto World mean by prattling about "the Gamsey-Stratton dead-lock"? The World lays itself open to the suspicion of being "batty."

A Peterboro' man has invented a new kind of bait, which is said to promise well. But it is not likely to crowd out of the market the variety that comes from the worm, and which has long been in favor with fishermen everywhere.

If Gamsey's managers do not think he has blackguarded the judges enough, we hope they will give him another chance. Every minute of that sort of campaign deepens the public disgust. And it does not hurt the judges.

Beavers are becoming so numerous in Maine that lumbermen are forming a combine to compass their extermination. What a pity they could not be removed to Northern Ontario. We could spare them room there.

The Russian Court has gone into mourning for thirty days for Alexander and Draga, but we hear no word of a period of humiliation and repentance for the shocking butcheries of the Jews at Kishineff. And yet Nicholas' word is law at Kishineff. That is hardly consistent.

There are rumors that the manager of the Elgin Loan Company added forgery to embezzlement. If that be true it furnishes an added reason for his disappearance. And it is not a big jump from taking another man's money without his permission to the forging of the permission.

Evidently the U. S. Steel Trust does not think the Canadian iron and steel industry suffers for lack of high protection. When it gets its big works on this side of the line in shape, will the organs of the Opposition clamor that our people be taxed more highly to fill its coffers?

Mr. Gamsey's greatest vindication is the fact that he returned the bribe. -Mail and Empire.

He did not. He "returned," or presented with his speech, to Mr. Whitney, $300. The money held in court at the order of the judges was impounded, and Gamsey deserves no credit for that. When he saw that the Tory funds were likely to be put in jeopardy he balked and did not deposit the $1,200 he said he held back.

Hamilton merchants and manufacturers do a considerable business with Owen Sound, which is the largest town and the best distributing point on the Georgian Bay. It is connected with this city by both Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, and a little more social intercourse between the two places would be beneficial to both. Is another column, a Times man tells of his recent visit to the pretty and enterprising capital of Grey County.

A Conservative paper quotes Mr. E. B. Ouler, M. P., as saying: "Better elect an honest Liberal than a dishonest Conservative; better elect an honest Conservative than a dishonest Liberal." That was said at a Toronto meeting. In practical politics Ouler prefers the Liberal-Smiths of politics to the honest and purest Liberal that draws the breath of life. It is because E. B. Ouler to denounce anybody as "intensely partisan."

The fact that Mr. Stratton's explanation of his famous "Can't you forget some things?" to the Globe reporter differs materially from the Globe's explanation, suggests that a third explanation may be necessary. -Woodstock Express.

We suppose that by this time the Woodstock Tory organ will have learned that there is no difference between the Globe's and Mr. Stratton's explanation. Will it have the candor to say it wronged the Provincial Secretary?

Don't flatter yourself that you can note the shortening of the days yet. It takes sharper instruments than your eyes to mark any difference for a matter of a week or two at the summer solstice. For instance, Toronto observatory figures are:

Day	Sunrise	Sunset
Thursday, 18	4:35	20:2
Friday, 19	4:35	20:2
Saturday, 20	4:35	20:2
Sunday, 21	4:35	20:2
Monday, 22	4:36	20:3
Tuesday, 23	4:36	20:3
Wednesday, 24	4:36	20:3
Thursday, 25	4:36	20:3
Friday, 26	4:37	20:3

Already 120 of the 400 Townships of Ontario have abolished statute labor. A new generation will soon grow up without knowing any of the joys of "working for the Queen" - or King - by the day. But the old fellows remember the sweatless days under a taskmaster of a kind that would have been popular even among the bondsmen of Pharaoh. The system served its purpose in the early days, but we have long outgrown it in this section of the Province.

Manager Tiffin expects a larger tourist traffic over the Intercolonial Railway this season than that of last year. There are lots of good places for a holiday in the Maritime Provinces, and Canadians ought to get acquainted with their own country before setting out to explore the United States or Europe. Mr. Tiffin is an old Hamilton man, and he always has a warm welcome for anybody from this locality.

Talking of faith cures, here is a remedy for warts sent to the Buffalo News by a reader in this late day of the age of enlightenment. Take an apple and cut out a quarter of it, rub the piece of apple on the wart for about a minute, then replace the piece of apple used in the whole apple. Set the apple upon a shelf or away so no one disturbs it. When the apple has entirely decayed the wart will have disappeared. I have seen a cure made by this method when iodine and other remedies applied by a physician had failed.

William Murray, the bard, who knows a couple of generations of Hamilton's old boys, is having a good time in Vancouver, where he has met Walter Ferrie, Alex. Gartshore, Stuart Livingston, Walter Nichol, William Braid and many others who are doing well in their far western home. He found a namesake - another William Murray - occupying the position of President of Vancouver St. Andrew's Society and they have had great times together. Rev. Dr. Fletcher, Dr. Lyle and Mr. Murray expect to be home early in July.

When even the members of the Legislature decline to sit and listen to Mr. St. John droning away at his vain repetitions about the Gamsey case, it is pretty evident that the public is sick and tired of the whole business. The subject has been talked stale. Gamsey has said the meanest things he could think of about the judges, and the flavor of his language does not improve when regurgitated by St. John or any other of Mr. Whitney's followers. Unless some new ideas can be imported into the debate, the subject should be dropped and the Legislature prorogued.

The Ottawa Citizen says "The little one-horse kingdom of Serbia has an army on a war footing of 170,000 men and 308 guns. Its population is less than half that of Canada, so that if this country was similarly afflicted with militarism it would have an army of 340,000 men and 616 guns. Instead of that we have 40,000 men and 108 guns, some of them obsolete mule-loading 9-pounders. As 40 is to 340, so is Canada's proximity to militarism where that term really applies." And Canadians have every reason to thank Providence that in this as in some other respects they are not like Serbia.

It is not likely that one man in 10,000, Grit or Tory, would find Stratton guilty from the same evidence, were that one man on a jury trying the Provincial Secretary. -London News.

We think the News is pretty near the mark. The men who are blackguarding the judges do not themselves believe Gamsey's yard. While they write speeches for him, and hurl at the judges abuse that would disgrace the lowest pot-house habitué, they feel in their hearts that they are in a contemptible business.

But they've got to see it through: to go back on Gamsey now means to tempt exposure, and exposure might mean penitentiary for some who occupy a high place in the Tory party to-day.

Hon. E. B. Wood had farewell to Brantford twenty-nine years ago, when he was appointed Chief Justice of Manitoba. He has been dead twenty-one years, hence his fellow citizens cannot be surprised of undying haste in doing honors to his memory by hanging his portrait in Brantford Court House. Mr. Wood was intensely loyal to his town, and he was a miserable manager of his own private business. In Court, in Parliament, and on the stage, he was one of the greatest orators Canada has yet produced, and no history of Canada would be complete without a record of what E. B. Wood achieved for Brantford, for Ontario and for the Dominion.

The New York Herald is laughing over a story told on Wil Carleton, the poet, who is also a publisher. The other day he appeared at his office in a new coat, which he hung up. The office boy picked the garment up without brushing it, and helped Mr. Carleton put it on. Catching a glimpse of his disreputable appearance in a mirror, the poet thundered: "Boy! What do you mean by this? I come in here looking like a publisher and you send me out looking like an author!"

The "sleeping sickness" prevalent along the shores of the Victoria Nyasas has been investigated by Dr. Chrissy, of the Liverpool school of tropical medicine, and found to be caused not by filaria in the blood, as was supposed, but by a minute bacillus. The disease is not infectious in the ordinary sense of the word. It is raging in South Kavirondo and along the Nyasas, where in the villages 50 to 75 per cent. of the people suffer from it. It exhibits no disposition to spread far from the shores of the lake.

Brooklyn Standard-Union.

So the dancing masters have finally found the courage of their convictions, and denounced the two-step as "mongrel." But the good old sailor's Hornpipe meets their high regard as a "vulgar" dance.

There's some life, and motion, and grace in that old time dance, and if folks are going to dance let 'em do real dancing. It was said at the annual national convention of the masters in Astbury Park, recently, that the "demand" for the two-step caused them to continue teaching it, contrary to their own ideas of the art graceful. Has it then, come to pass that the pupils "boss" the teachers? What are teachers for if they're not to impose? What are pupils for if they're not to be taught? That explanation which needs explaining.

Let Them Rage.

London News.

When the Gamsey debate is concluded in the Legislature the people of such language as is now being used each day was probably never heard in a Legislature in Canada before.

The Conservative day in the Royal Commission did not get to the bottom of the Gamsey charges, have set to abusing the judiciary, and yesterday Mr. Gamsey had a good word for nobody. The judges were perjured, biased hirelings of the Government. The witnesses were all barnacles on the province who got fat livings out of the Government, and who were afraid to tell the truth. The editor of the Globe was a religious monstrosity. Premier Ross had no word and could not be believed. Mr. Stratton had become wealthy at the expense of the Province. Even his wife's uncle, D. A. Jones, was no good, and not worth while considering. Surely Mr. Gamsey did not strengthen his case by this sort of abuse! We rather fear Mr. Gamsey has weakened his case by his speech of yesterday.

MADE IN CANADA.

Hamilton's Coming Exhibition of Native Products.

[Mail and Empire].

Hamilton is to be congratulated on taking the initiative in an important movement. The ladies of that city associated with the Daughters of the Empire decided to hold a "Made-in-Canada" Exhibition, that and they have secured the Drill Hall for a week in the fall, wherein it is expected that a comprehensive display of "Canada-made" goods will be presented. The object of the exhibition is so patriotic as to need no commendation. Every dollar spent on Canadian-made goods goes directly into the employment of labor and of capital in this country. Whatever tends to promote the appreciation of our own products is both hopeful and helpful. Too often we assume that an imported article is bound to be the best. Happily this theory is being rapidly discounted by the facts. Still there is much missionary work to be done in the way of educating the people to the merits and qualities of Canadian products. Hamilton alone, with its many and varied industries, could make a striking display of the enterprise and energy of Canadians. But its efforts to show what Canada can do is worthy of encouragement and commendation. The exhibition of native products should popularize the new movement. The Made-in-Canada Exhibition may become an annual feature in many localities.
