From France and the Continent gen-erally agricultural reports continued very stifs-factory. Trade in French marketa was quiet, principally in consequence of the discouraging advices from England and Amèrica, but the de-pression in values was not so great as in Eng-land ; the Paris "term" market, in fact, was firm on the whole. Eight marks flour closed with but little change on the week ; owing to the small stocks, outside influences were expected to have but little effect for some time to come.
