C. L. B.

The Battalion yesterday morning paraded at 10 a.m. for the last Church Parade before camp. Lieut. Col. R. F. Goodridge in command with Capt. J. A. Winter, Adjutant, and the following officers attached to the companies: Lieut. Phil Rendell, Frank Miles, Rev. and Lieut. Pike, Captain Avalon Goodridge, Battalion Paymaster Ash and Walter Williams. The Shannon Munn Memorial Company, under Lieut. Pittman and squad from C. Co. were also on duty. The Old Comrades, in Khaki and mufti, under Sergt. Wiseman, also paraded in good strength. The band, under Lieut. Morris, and bugle band under Armourer Sergt. Bursell were also present. The Colour Party was in command of Lieut. R. G. Ash. The church was crowded and the service was taken by Rev. Arthur E. S. Stirling, Rector of the Parish. The hymn music was furnished by Lieut. Morris and his brass band musical artists. A feature of the service was the rendering of the Hallelujah Chorus by the full band and we have never heard it executed better. We congratulate the bandsmen and regret Captain Snow, the founder of this band, did not parade with the "Old Comrades" and hear the music yesterday. The sermon or address to the lads by the Rector was perhaps the most practical one the lads have ever listened to in the annals of the Brigade. It was the first occasion the Rev. A. Stirling addressed the Battalion and his appeal to the lads to practice courage, courtesy and cheerfulness, with illustrations from every day life and out of the famous book written by Judge Hughes, "Tom Brown's School Days," went straight to the lads' hearts and we feel sure will do good. Rev. (Lieut.) Stirling, C.L.B., is a very fluent preacher, has a good voice and the Brigade hopes he will give a lecture to the lads on some wet night in

Camp in the big mess tent! The Rector is also a Lieut. in the Battalion and will no doubt do his duty. After parade the Lieut.-Col. presented the following officers with their commissions: Major Geo. R. Williams, Captain Avalon Goodridge, Rev. and Capt. H. L. Pike, Lieut. R. G. Ash, after which Capt. J. A. Winter, Adjutant, addressed the Brigade on behalf of the "big educational drive" and distributed pledge cards and asked every lad to do his bit. A meeting of N.C.O.'s and camp officers was also held to arrange final camp matters. Lieut.-Col. Goodridge addressed the Brigade at the close of the parade and specially welcomed the "Old Comrades," and was delighted to see Sergt. Chas. Peckham of the American Flying Corps, in the ranks of the ex-members. Charlie was one of the early members of the Brigade some twenty years ago. He also welcomed Pte. A. Bishop, who was in A. Co. seven years ago. The lads parade with kit bags at the Armoury to-morrow night at 8 p.m. On Wednesday the Battalion will march to Camp at 10 a.m. Lieut.-Col. Goodridge will take command in person, marching over the route. Camp funds had a handsome voluntary subscription of fifty dollars during the week from one of its former prominent officers. It was very welcome, considering the high cost of living and the big crowd of all ranks going to Topsall this year attacking the rations. This morning at 10 a.m. the first truck goes to Topsyall with tents and equipment and the pioneer squad. Another goes at 5.30 p.m. this evening. All the boys want now is ten decent fine days and we wish them good luck. Heart's Content and Wabana Companies are coming, so it will be a case of "Hail, hail, the gang's all here."

"H. C. of L." in Nelson's Day.

The returned soldier, who is disgusted to find how horribly dear everything is, will enjoy this story of Horatio Nelson.

The Admiral was dining with Beckford, the author of "Vathek," and a very rich man. Owing to the great scarcity of wheat, even such folk often denied themselves bread at dinner. Lord Nelson asked for bread, and when told by a servant that bread was not served at Mr. Beckford's table, he looked angry, drew from his pocket a shilling, and sent his own servant to buy a loaf, observing that, having fought for his bread, he was not going to be denied it by his fellow-countrymen.

Seaman Suicides.

The schooner Nina Lee, Capt. J. Wiseman arrived yesterday morning, after a 22 day run from Oporto, with salt cargo to Messrs. A. E. Hickman & Co. The passage was exceedingly rough, gales of wind from N. W., W. N. W., and S. W. prevailing. The only damage done to the vessel was the loss of her top and jibstays.

On entering port the Ensign was flown at half mast, announcing the loss of one of the crew, Roland Reddy by name, a native of Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, who while suffering from a nervous attack jumped overboard on the fifth day out from Oporto, and despite the efforts of those on board the ship to rescue him, was drowned.

Captain Wiseman in endeavouring to launch the ship's boat at the time was somewhat injured about the chest by being caught between the boat and the mainboom, but luckily not seriously.
