

S.S. Sachem Brings Disabled Ship to Port.

A Tow of 750 Miles Under Most Trying Marine Conditions.

The finish of a long and eventful tow came at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, when S.S. Sachem with the ore laden Norwegian steamer Capto arrived in port. Both ships anchored in the stream. The Capto was guided through the Narrows by 4 tug boats, two at either bow and two astern. Shortly after the ships dropped anchor the captains and officers, wearied after their long vigil, retired to their cabins and dropped into well earned slumber, leaving the ships in charge of the pilots. For ten days, or since the morning of the 18th inst., the Sachem has been battling with wind, sea and ice to bring the Capto to port. As previously reported by wireless the disabled ship was picked up about 750 miles East of this port. Six days after leaving Liverpool on the 18th inst. at 7 p.m. Capt. Furneaux received an S.O.S. from the Capto. The ship reported her rudder lost. On the previous day the Sachem received a drubbing in a storm, which broke away a number of boat chocks and shifted one of her lifeboats. The gale continued on the 17th, and although the Sachem's course had been altered no sign of the Capto could be seen. The Sachem was judged to be about 100 miles distant from the disabled ore boat when the S.O.S. calls were received. At 4.30 a.m. on the 18th inst. the Sachem located the Capto through the means of a message from S.S. Montclair, she being fitted with a direction finding apparatus.

PREPARATIONS FOR TOWING.
Shortly after daylight on the 18th preparations for towing were begun. A lifeboat in charge of the 2nd officer of the Sachem was launched, and after much strenuous work a five and a half inch wire cable and some forty fathoms of Manila cable were put on board the Capto.

HAWSER PARTED.
By noon hour towing began, but at 8 p.m. due to a heavy swell the hawser parted and until next morning the Capto drifted helplessly about. At 8 a.m. a boat from the Sachem, in charge of 3rd Officer Thompson was launched, and after considerable difficulty the broken lines were again connected. A fresh breeze with a bit of a tumble made towing difficult, and the ships did not average more than four miles per hour. On the night of the 20th inst., a change of conditions set in. The wind freshened and every minute the hawsers threatened to give way. In the morning an extra fifteen fathoms of cable was added to the towline from the Sachem, and everything went fairly well until Monday the 22nd, when the ships ran into field ice.

HAWSEES AGAIN PART.
Great difficulty was experienced in keeping the Capto on her course, owing to ice getting between her and the towing ship. The strain became greater and at 5.15 a.m. the hawsers parted for the second time. On this occasion a boat was launched from the Capto, and after five hours a wire hawser from the freighter was put on board the Sachem, and towing was resumed shortly after 10 a.m. The ship's course was then altered to the South in order to get clear of the floes.

SHIPS IN BLIZZARD.
On Tuesday towing progressed fairly well in spite of a heavy S.W. swell with increasing wind. At night fall it was blowing a gale, and another anxious time was experienced by the crews of both ships. On Wednesday, the following morning, at 2 o'clock the hawsers again parted. The gale increased to a blizzard and with blinding snow squalls it became impossible to see the ships.

ST. BON'S vs. TERRA NOVAS
The final game of the first round in the League Hockey Series will be played to-night when the St. Bon's and Terra Novas will be seen in action. Both teams have suffered two losses in the series to date, and the game to-night will be a battle for the much wanted 2 points. The lineup will probably be as follows:

St. Bon's	Terra Novas
Goal	Goal
Left Defence	Left Defence
Right Defence	Right Defence
Left Wing	Left Wing
Centre	Centre
Right Wing	Right Wing
Reserves—Terra Novas, Parker, G. Gillie, W. Peters.	Reserves—Terra Novas, Parker, G. Gillie, W. Peters.

FLAYER INJURED.
"Billie" Clouston, the Guards centre, who sustained a painful injury to his left arm during the Guards-Feldian game, may be out of the game for the rest of the season. An X-ray shows that the wrist bone is bruised, and the arm badly sprained; however it is hoped that massage treatment will do the needful and that Billie will be seen in action before the end of the series. Clouston's loss to the Guards will be a great handicap as he was their chief goal getter.

A LUTHER PSALTER FOUND IN GERMANY.

BERLIN.—A German psalter has been discovered by Professor Ahlbrecht, of Halle, which is believed to have been written by Luther. The book was printed in Wittenberg in 1541 and bound in 1544 in rich leather.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

AN OFFENSIVE ALLIANCE.
BERNE, Jan. 29. The Bernese newspaper, Tribune, says that to-day, Foreign Minister Tchitcherine of Russia, and Ismet Pasha have made a secret agreement at Lausanne, by which Russia and Turkey will give each other military support in the Near East in case hostilities are resumed. The agreement, which is said to have been accepted by both Soviet and Turkish Governments, stipulates that Russia will send several divisions into Mesopotamia, should British and Turks take up arms.

A LENGTHY DOCUMENT.
LAUSANNE, Jan. 29. A draft of the proposed treaty of peace to be submitted to the Turks on Wednesday has been distributed semi-officially to all delegates. The document contains one hundred and sixty articles, with eight conventions annexed. There were no developments this morning, to show that Turkey are more favorably disposed towards the signing.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN.
MOSCOW, Jan. 29. The foreign office has sent a note to Japan protesting that Japanese pirates, with the assistance of employees of the Japanese Customs Service, sank the Russian ships Viga and Anna, after seizing their cargoes and killing the crews. The note places the responsibility with the Japanese Government.

V.C. VETERAN DEAD.
LONDON, Ont., Jan. 29. Sergeant George Richardson, a Veteran of the Indian mutiny and Fenian raids and the oldest wearer of the Victoria Cross in the British Empire, died yesterday at Westminister Military Hospital, and will be buried in Toronto with full military honours. He received the V.C. in 1859 for service during the Indian mutiny, and was chosen to represent Canada at the burial of the unknown soldier at Washington.

BLOODLESS DISORDERS.
DUSSELDORF, Jan. 29. Sporadic disorders of a minor nature occurred Saturday evening in Ruhr Valley, when French sentries, in Duisberg and Ratingen, were fired upon. In Dusseldorf French cavalry broke up a demonstration staged by a few hundred men, but none of the incidents resulted in casualties.

THE DISTRESSFUL ISLE.
LONDON, Jan. 29. A Daily Express despatch from Dublin says rebels have destroyed the water works at Youghal, in reprisal for the execution of two men found possessing arms. Six thousand inhabitants are in a critical condition, with only one day's supply of water left. The despatch adds that every post office in West Ireland has been destroyed, and it is almost impossible to buy stamps or send or receive letters. The plight of Killarney, with six thousand inhabitants, is such, that all food and fuel supplies must be conveyed seventeen miles under military escort.

Smuggler Caught by Odor of His Wares.

MEXICO CITY.—Highly scented toilet soap is a dangerous product for smugglers to handle. Proof of this is the sudden demise several weeks ago of Martin Villareal, veteran Mexican smuggler, who ran afoul of customs guards at Nuevo Laredo and was killed. The guards were aroused to activity one day when breezes blowing off the Rio Grande wafted a strong scent of perfume. Investigation showed Villareal was attempting a crossing from the United States with 18 burros, each of which was carrying as many boxes of toilet soap as his back could hold. In the ensuing skirmish Villareal was killed and his soap confiscated. Customs guards along the Rio Grande say that toilet soap and perfumes are the smugglers' favorite, next to liquor-running.

Minister O'Higgins Explain Irish Situation.

DUBLIN.—Writing regarding peace, Kevin O'Higgins, Minister for Home Affairs in the Irish Free State says: "The actual position is that a body of the people of the country, though numerically insignificant, refuse to accept the majority's will as a deciding factor in our political affairs, and declare there can be no peace on the basis of the treaty signed by five plenipotentiaries, endorsed by the Dail and accepted by the people. This minority is straining every nerve to restore British power in Ireland and rob Irish people of the fruits of their struggle and sacrifices of the last six years. We members of the Government elected to the Dail Eireann to carry out the treaty would be false to our trust if we acquiesced in any way to such a programme."

London Attempt to Solve The Servant Problem.

LONDON.—Graduating from offices, laundries, fashion salons and victuaries, 150 women, after 13 weeks training, are shortly to enter domestic service. This is being made possible by a course of intensive tuition under the auspices of the Central Committee on Women's Training in an attempt to solve the servant problem. The training is undertaken at a few centers, and the women will start out on the new venture with smart uniforms made under the guidance of their instructors at the various centers.

British Liberals.

MAY UNITE TO SAFEGUARD FUNDS.
LONDON.—The Asquith-Grey Liberals are casting a covetous eye upon the Lloyd George party funds, which are said to amount to more than two million pounds sterling. Their argument is that the subscribers to the Lloyd George fund gave their money to be used as Liberal propaganda, and not for the use of any one section of the party. This is said to be one of the compelling motives for a reunion of the two branches of the party. The Asquith-Grey Liberals have turned down the suggestion made by some of the subscribers to have the matter taken into court.

King Edward's Tailor Dies in Europe.

MARIENBAD, Czechoslovakia.—Wenzel Wilfert, for more than ten years court tailor to King Edward VII of England, died here recently at an advanced age. Because King Edward's clothes served as models of fashion, Wilfert's workmanship became widely known throughout Europe. Of late years the veteran tailor was proprietor of a local hotel. He not only served the English sovereign during the annual royal visit here, but sent the King's clothes from Marienbad to London during the winter months.

George! Oh, George!

"George! Oh, George! Come! Come!"
"What was that?" George Brightly sprang up at the sound of his wife's voice raised in an earnest entreaty. She was in peril.
"George! Oh! Oh! Quickly!"
Oh, how he scrambled into his coat! Not a second must be lost. He must save her. She was in peril.
"George! George! George!"
He is on his way down, three steps at a time, to arrive, breathless, in the dining-room. "Oh! Oh! George, you are too late! Too late!"
"Too late!" gasped George, sinking into a chair.
"Yes, the baby had his toe in his mouth, and he looked so funny! I did want you to see him! Why didn't you come when I called?"

Had Him There.

Jack Pickford, brother of Mary, who was recently married at Los Angeles, is fond of relating how he scored off a barber who wished to make a sale. The man had just shaved him, and wanted to sell him a lotion to use on his face when he shaved himself.
"Is that what you use on your customers?" asked Jack.
"No," replied the barber, "it's so expensive I cannot afford it."
"If you can't afford it when you get twenty-five cents for shaving a man," returned Jack, "how do you expect me to afford it when I shave myself for nothing?"

Men And Things at Greenspond.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Having got settled away for a month or two after a very trying season in which we had to rough it to save our families from destitution, I thought I'd write a few lines to let the country know how things in general are shaping themselves. Since the Prospector's mill stop the authorities have been kept busy—so they say—and fail to find a place for a question mark. Anyway, there are no search warrants issued yet, in spite of all that's being said. The salvors are anxious to have the matter settled as quickly as possible as some of them are in need. Some of the people who boarded the passengers have questioned the writer as to when they would be paid. The proper authorities will please take notice and govern themselves accordingly. (This matter of payment, has, we understand, been settled by the Coastal Dept.—Editor). The political situation seems to be more acute in Union circles as the agents and heeler have made strong appeals to have the ranks strengthened by giving little more for fish than our merchants, and promising passes for the Humber. A few nights ago another public meeting was held in Glover Hall to hear the United Fishermen's delegates report. The speakers were accorded the highest appreciation by a packed hall and superb conduct, with an occasional outburst of enthusiasm giving them apurs to their harness. Democracy with a big D is the aim of the people of this place, and a Government "of the people, by the people, for the people" the consummation of their activities. Messrs. Bragg, Carter, and White, representing the United Fishermen's Movement left by S.S. Fortia en route to St. John's, with others from Westville, to take their departure from the city to various places, proclaiming the messages of Liberation from Bondage by reduction of Expenditure. Recently a stir was made among the people by the prosecution of one of the many around here who was implicated in the pit prop business. A public meeting was convened by the prosecuted victim to get public sentiment on the action of the authorities in taking up one of the last to bring pitprops here, and moreover starting here when they knew of other places implicated in the scramble long before Greenspond. It is understood a resolution recognizing the action of the authorities passed unanimously at that meeting, copies of same to be forwarded to the Minister of Justice, the Public Press and Magistrate James. The people say if punishment is to be meted out, then all must suffer and not one for all. It is commonly reported that some of our fearless and active citizens are determined to hold public meetings fortnightly or monthly, so that the people will have a chance of bringing everything of a public nature in the limelight for public scrutiny. Before concluding I wish to refer to another matter which has been reported, over which the public are indignant. It is understood that the Big Nine met in the Magistrate's office a day or two ago at the call of the magistrate, and the people are anxious to know for what. Rumor says they had to put the finishing strokes on Greenspond's attitude re reduction of taxation. Any way we'll have shortly for it's hard to keep the cat in the bag regarding public matters these days. Our slogan is reduction of expenditure and taxation. Hoping you will find space for this letter and thanking you in anticipation of same.

Yours truly,
BEACON LIGHT.

Chimes of Potsdam.

NOT RUNG IN VAIN.
POTSDAM.—"Always be honest and upright." So runs a familiar old German song, the music of which chimes regularly from the lofty tower of the famous garrison church of Potsdam. Away down below, in the results of the edifice, rest the bodies of Frederick the Great and his father, Frederick William I. The organist who plays these chimes was forced recently by hard times to apply for an increase in wages. When his application came before the City Council it met with opposition from the Communist aldermen because of their political objections to the selections played on the bells. Not only, they maintained, was "Always be honest and upright" being chimered forth, but the organist even was so far as to play "Deutschland über Alles" on national holidays. The bourgeois representatives overruled these objections in favor of the organist, expressing themselves ready to live up to the "honest and upright" sentiment in their dealings with their employees. The Garrison church was built by Frederick William I., the first king of Prussia, and silencing of its chimes would mean almost as great a hardship in the lives of Potsdam's natives as would the closing of the gates to "Sans Souci."

Education of To-Day.

FATHER DISCUSSES MODERNITY.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—In your issue of the 27th inst. you reprint an article from the Toronto "Sentinel" about the question of education in Newfoundland. The writer uses the following words: "Of all the systems of education that have come under the observation of the sentinel, that which prevails in Newfoundland is the least calculated to secure efficiency and national unity." It is strange indeed that foreigners of every class and creed will persist in butting into our business in this way. George England would have us over to Uncle Sam's tender mercies. Willy Nilly, a Canadian paper is disappointed with our system of education, and would revise it so that it would measure up to their modern ideas, but we, who would pay for both education and rearing, are not to be allowed to please ourselves. Apparently the sentinel does not think we are competent to educate ourselves. What do the Principals of Spencer, Field, St. Bon's and Methodist Colleges think of it? What about the S. C. College, Holy Cross, St. Patrick's, Presbyterian, Centenary, and all the rest of our schools? Do they teach inefficiency and national strife, rather than efficiency and national unity? Is it not time for the Sentinel to realize that the whole trouble with the world to-day is that we are too modern—we have run ahead of our depth. The clergy of the world, of all denominations, are daily telling us both in press and pulpit, that it is time we cried halt in our mad rush to destruction via "Modernism." If you can, shunmy and jazz (the mere names are sufficient) talk flippantly on divorce, birth control, socialism and the rest of it, you are the lion of society to-day. All these are modern, up to date, advanced, and so also is the form of education which our friend the Sentinel would introduce in our midst. "Godless schools, God forbid." To exclude the very foundation of all wisdom from our children—to stand on the Church steps and say to Christianity "Thus far and no farther," to confine it to the Church alone, and forbid by legislation and the policeman's baton the entry of Christ into our schools, is this what we have to listen to from outsiders? A pretty pass indeed. "Suffer the little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not." We may not forbid the children, but by Sentinel methods we would surely forbid Christ. In other countries we see Godless schools, but they do not seem to have enlightened anyone very much. As for the "Godless" another name for hooded hoodlumism is no credit to any country, modern or ancient. Bolshevism, socialism, creed, hate, envy and sloth are our principal ailments to-day, as an universe. Divorce and unchristian schools are not going to help us out of the rut into which we have dragged ourselves by our refusal to practice Christianity. When we go to war we get our clergy to bless and pray over our weapons. When we convene our peace conferences we tell the clergy to go to the devil. Another name is added to the long list of conferences which have failed that of Lausanne. The agent of the British Government has returned home after an unsuccessful endeavour to arrange payment of Britain's debt to the U.S.A. France is faced with the possibility of open war at any moment. Is this Christianity? What we need is Christ in the Church, the school, the home, the office and factory. And there are some who would say "the Church is the place for that" and try to forbid His coming among our children. God help us, for we certainly do need somebody's help to realize just where we are and whither tending. Why not try to amalgamate the different Churches; there is about the same possibility of success.

Yours truly,
A FATHER.

Beavers Reappear.

ALONG THE ST. LAWRENCE.
BROCKVILLE, Ont.—Beavers have become so destructive along the St. Lawrence river that owners of islands in Canadian and United States waters have been given permission by the Dominion Government to exterminate them on the Canadian side of the boundary. An experienced trapper has been engaged for the season and will make his headquarters on Dillingham's Island. The presence of the beaver was revealed last spring by the number of fallen trees that had been gnawed through at the base. Beavers have not been seen along the St. Lawrence before in a quarter of a century. They are protected by the game laws on the New York side of the river.

The "Lady" Scored.

Mr. Matheson Lang, the great actor, has a fund of good anecdotes at his disposal. One that he is fond of relating concerns a young man of the "knut" type, who, getting into a crowded omnibus, was evidently very much chagrined because the only vacant seat was next to a big coster woman, whose home was obviously in the East End.

The "knut" eyed her contemptuously, but took the seat nevertheless, though as gingerly as possible. His manner was not lost upon the coster.

"I deary you wishes you was sitting next to a gentleman," she said with a sniff.

"I do," he answered her. "Yus, and so do I," the woman, to the great amusement of the other passengers.
