DANGEROUS PRACTICE

Osteopathy Condemned by a Coroner's Jury

Toronto, Nov. 3.-The jury in the inquest on the death of Margaret Keen-an, at 1 a.m. today returned the following verdict: "We find that the decame to her death in the rooms of H. C. Jaquette and Flora A. Frederick, in the Confederation Life building, on Oct. 20, by suffocation from bleeding in the windpipe and lungs, caused by goitre. In view of the evidence and medical testimony submitwe attach no responsibility to any person or persons. We believe that the course of treatment pursued by the prisoners in this case, H. C. Jaquette and Flora A. Frederick, under the name of osteopathic, is unskill-ful and dangerous. We are of the opinion that strict laws should be enacted, which would put an end to this dangerous practice and others of a kindred nature, which we have reason to believe are far too numerous in this

British Military Men Are Astounded by the Boer General's Recent Exploit.

The Fighting Was Desperate on Both Sides--- The Attack on Col. Benson's Column Declared To Be the Forerunner of a Vigorous Campaign by the Enemy.

London, Nov. 4 .- In commenting on 1 of commandos and severe the recent severe loss by the British in South Africa, Mr. I. N. Ford, in a dispatch date London, says: Reflecting men who follow the course of military operations in South Africa are bewildered by General Botha's latest exploit. They had been convinced by Lord Kitchener's dispatches that Botha had narrowly escaped capture and was somewhere east of Ermelo with only three hundred burghers, and that a series of British columns had come into line and were in communication with one another for the purpose of surrounding and running him to earth. Suddenly they are confronted with a terrible casualty list of over 200 killed and wounded, including many officers, and with practical evidence that Botha, with 1,000 men, succeeded in surprising the rear guard of a British force, rushing the guns and making so determined an attack that a relieving column was ne-The fighting was desperate on both sides, and the Boers, after inflicting heavy losses, retired either with or without the captured guns. Details of this engagement tend to discredit the conclusion of a military journal that General Botha had ceased to be cf much account for the present. BOERS FIGHTING WITHOUT AR-TILLERY.

This remarkable episode of the war in the Eastern Transvaal directs attention to the question of guns as an impediment for mobile columns. The Boers are apparently fighting without artillery, whereas every one 67 British columns is supplied with guns, and these invariably keep them back and restrict their operations. Military critics are beginning to blurt out the truth that guns are useless when the Boers spring out of the darkness or mist or veldt smoke, and that it is not worth while to trek about the country with them.

Keen sportsmen are asking why the guns are not as useless in operations against bands of guerillas as motor cars would be for a fox hunt across country. The last battle was the severest engagement of the present year and resembled Vlakfontein, where a point. rear guard was attacked under cover of a grass fire.

AN ANGRY FEELING.

The cheers that greeted the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York on Saturday, as they passed on their return from their world tour, through crowded streets of London, were ntermingled with the shrill cries of the newsboys shouting: "Terrible dis-aster in South Africa." Beneath the jubilation on the safe arrival of the heir-apparent, there existed a keen under-current of grief and anger over the reverse to Col. Benson's column. Of the thousands who lined the route from Victoria station to Marlborough House, many were personally concerned in the 236 British casualties incurred in this latest reverse.

A BOER PREDICTION. A Brussels dispatch says: Boers here in close touch with South Africa de-clare that the recent disaster to Col. Benson's column was the forerunner of a vigorous campaign, the season beagainst isolated British columns. Commandant Grobler, who, it is believed, participated in the Bethel fight, is considered a second Delarey. BOTHA WAS THERE.

Pretoria, Nov. 3.-Further details have been received regarding the atby the Boers, under Commandant-General Louis Botha, last week upon Col. Benson's column, near Brak-enlaagte, Eastern Transvaal. It appears that Gen. Botha, who had been joined by another big commando, aggregating 1,000 men, attacked Col. Benson's rear guard Oct. 31, on the march, an captured two guns, but was unable to retain them. Col. Benson fell martally wounded early in the

A DESPERATE STRUGGL9.

Major Wools Sampson took command, collected the convoy and took up a position for defense about 500 yards from the entrenchments prepared by the Boers. The captured guns were so situated that neither side could touch them. The Boers made desperate efforts to overwhelm the whole British force, charging repeatedly right up to the British lines, and being driven back each time with heavy loss.

BOER LOSS 300 TO 400. The defense was stubborrly and successfully sustained throughout the whole of the following day and the succeeding night, until Col. Barter who had marched all night from Bushman's Kop, brought relief on the morning of Nov. 1. The Boers then retired. Their losses are estimated at between 300 and 400. Col. Benson did not long survive. Not only did Gen. Botha direct the attack, as already cabled, but he personally shared in the fighting.

IN A RAINSTORM. London, Nov. 4.-The special disspatches from South Africa reveal practically nothing further about the disaster to Col. Benson's column. It appears that the first attack was made in a blinding rainstorm. The heaviest casualties occurred while Major Wools Sampson, who is a Johannesburg re-former and an officer in one of the colonial levies, was gathering the convoy under the brow of a hill, a most difficult task. It is assumed in London that the two 15-pounders remained in the possession of the British, but the telegrams are not clear on this

PRO-BOERS IN LONDON. A riotous scene occurred yesterday

(Sunday) afternoon in Peckham, a suburb of London. A small gathering of the local branch of the Democratic eague undertook to hold a meeting to protest against the war in South Africa. The crowd started in procession for the place of meeting, but before they arrived there they were hooted, buffeted and dispersed. A crowd estimated at 20,000 gathered to oppose them. There were many ugly rushes and the police were barely able to protect the struggling pro-Boers from the fury of the populace. After considerable fighting, during which a man was stabbed, the pro-Boers were removed under police protection. The victorious crowd then held a jingo meeting and sang "Rule Britannia." Vaccination Keep Quebec Physicians Busy-A Case of Smallpox in Russell County, Ont.

Quebec, Nov. 3.-Vaccine is in great de mand, and the local druggists are kept busy selling it, while the physicians have a very difficult task to vaccinate the many who wish to render themselves as immune as possible from contracting the much-dreaded smallpox. Dr. Catellier much-dreaded smallpox. Dr. Catellier was engaged throughout the day yester-day vaccinating the pupils of the Patronage school, while hundreds of children from other different schools underwent the operation at their respective homes. The disease, however, is not assuming any dangerous proportions, and it is full any dangerous proportions, and it is fully believed will disappear in the course of a few weeks. The victims who are at present suffering are not by any means considered to be in danger, and many of them are not even confined to bed. Only two cases have been discovered within the past 48 hours, and as these are believed to be original ones, there is every leved to be original ones, there is every reason to believe that the malady is practically on the decline.
