CONCERT GIVEN BY METHODIST CHOR

Excellent Artists Entertained Audience in the Auditorium.

A concert was given last night in the Auditorium under the auspices of the Askin Street Methodist Church choir. The artists were from Toronto. Miss Elizabeth Campbell, contralto, has a very fine voice. Mr. George Fox, violinist, has a remarkable mastery of his instrument, while Miss Mariette Ladd, elocutionist, delighted the audience with her readings and recitations. There was a large audience present and the concert throughout was of the highest calibre.

Faversham as Herod the Great.

William Faversham will present Stephen Phillips' "Herod" at the Grand Monday, April 18. The big scene of the play is the most extensive and elaborate that has been seen on any stage. The scene in question is the Audience Hall of Herod the Great, and an effort has been made to reproduce one of the most magnificent rooms that was ever a part of any Oriental palace. In all there will be nearly 200 people in the supporting company. The seat sale opened yesterday morning and indicates a large house for this production.
