MUST PROTECT FOOD FROM DUST OF STREETS

Ingersoll Board of Health Will Look After the Interests of the Public.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ingersoll, May 21.—With the object in view of having the public consume food as wholesome as possible, the board of health has passed a resolution in regard to the protection of food from dust of the streets. It is a well-known fact that dust from the streets, flies and other sources, do much to contaminate food, and thereby spread disease. The board of health is of the opinion that united action on the part of vendors would do much to insure more wholesome food, and the following resolution was unanimously passed: "That all vendors of food intended for human consumption be requested to keep same protected from the dust of the streets, from flies, and the lower animals, such as dogs, etc., and that the sanitary inspector be instructed to notify each vendor of this request."

Straighten Out Tangle.
Energetic efforts are being put forth by the promoters of town league baseball to revive the interest shown a couple of weeks ago. The public apparently want baseball in the summer sport, and the little tangle that has existed for the past few days will probably soon be straightened out, and more teams induced to signify their intention of entering the league. William Bragg, a well-known West Oxford farmer, was seriously injured while transferring a sack from one wagon to another. The wagon from which the sack was being lifted was unusually high, and in making a supreme effort, Mr. Bragg slipped with the result that his right leg was broken in two places near the ankle. The location of the injury makes the accident very severe, and it will be several weeks before Mr. Bragg will be able to be around again.

Forty Applications.
The vacancy in the position of chief of police is creating considerable interest. There are some 30 or 40 applications for the office, which have not yet been considered by the police committee. The appointment will not be made until such time as the applications have been carefully weighed by the police committee, then their recommendation will be sent to the council for ratification.

The severe question is still to be fronted. The special committee is busy with various phases of the big problem, and it is understood that the chairman of the committee, who prepared a plan, will be asked to make some changes, which will be discussed by the council later on.

Miss Susan Hughes of Woodstock, has been visiting relatives and friends in town.

Mr. Leo Law is receiving the congratulations of his numerous friends on his success in passing the examination of the Ontario College of Pharmacy with honors. Mr. Law has entered the employ of Mr. T. W. Good-year, of Woodstock, as manager of the store here. Mr. Walter Thurlwell was also successful in passing the examination.

The announcement was made today that it is the intention of the Imperial Bank of Canada to build a new modern building here. The site is an excellent one, being at the corner of King and Thames streets, where the Mansion House stands. None of the details have yet been taken into consideration. It is the intention to have plans prepared at once, and as soon as they have been approved, the work will be undertaken.

FALL ON SIDEWALK FRACTURED HIS SKULL

Alexander Campbell, of Kincardine, Was Found Unconscious by Citizens.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Kincardine, May 20.—The sudden death of Alexander Campbell (known as Lorne Sandy) was a surprise to his friends all through this district. The cause has been decided to be a fall on the sidewalk which fractured his skull. Some citizens picked him up and took him to his home on Mechanics' avenue. He lay unconscious for hours, and when he gave no sign of returning to consciousness, it was deemed advisable to call a doctor, but it was found that there was no hope of recovery, and death came quietly. The funeral will be on Wednesday to Kincardine Cemetery.

The board of health appears to be in a quandary over the action of Mr. B. Wood, regarding the placing of a quarantine card on the premises, which Mr. Wood claims was unnecessary. About three weeks ago Mrs. McDougall arrived in Kincardine with her two children, the younger one, about 1 year old, appeared to be ailing, but having had a long ride by train, the boy was thought to be tired out. He played with other children. The father and mother with their children stayed over night at Mr. Wood's. A neighbor, Mrs. Wellwood, took the child on her knee. The next day a doctor was called, and found that the boy was suffering from scarlet fever, and reported the case to the board of health. In the meantime the McDougall family had moved into their own house, which was promptly quarantined. So, also, was the child of Mr. Murdoch, because the sick child had stayed there over night. The house of Mr. Wellwood was also quarantined, because of Mrs. W. taking the child on her knee. The father, however, had been seen playing with the Murdoch children.

Mr. Wood objected to the whole household being quarantined, because his little girl was seen playing with the Murdoch children. He was willing to absent himself from public gatherings, but claimed that his business had to be attended to, and that an injustice was done by placing the red card, intimating scarlet fever in the house. There was no scarlet fever in the house when the card was put on, and the loss and injury consequent upon him has to be borne by the house placarded, and not by the board of health. Mr. Wood asks why the board of health should be so oppressive on Broadway in a case of smallpox, where the board allowed a dog belonging to the smallpox patient to go out and in the house, to be fed and caressed by them, and allowed the dog to wander anywhere and everywhere over the town.

The case of infection taken by a son of the Rev. Mr. Ferguson is said to have been carried by the dog since the case treated as chickenpox in the boy has developed into smallpox in the mother.

While the Ferguson boy was suffering with smallpox, the sympathy of the congregation was centered in the manse, and many visitors were paid manse, and many visitors who sat with the mother, and doctors who sat with the sick boy, should, it is claimed, have been quarantined more than the whole family of Mr. Wood.

Cured Stomach Gas, Stopped Hiccoughs

Pains in the Stomach That Yield to Nothing Else, Pass Away Quickly if Nervilleine Is Used.

Read Mr. Braun's Statement

"A few weeks ago I ate some green vegetables and some fruit that was not quite ripe. It first brought on a fit of indigestion, but unfortunately it developed into hiccoughs, accompanied by gas and cramps. I was dreadfully ill for two days—my head ached and throbbled; I belched gas continually, and I was unable to sleep at night. A neighbor happened in to see me and urged me to try Nervilleine. Well, I wouldn't have believed that any preparation could help so quickly. I took half a teaspoonful of Nervilleine in hot water at once, and my stomach felt better at once. I used Nervilleine several times, and was completely restored."

The above is from a letter written by G. E. Braun, a well-known stockman and farmer near Lettbridge, Alta. Mr. Braun's favorable opinion of the high merit of Nervilleine is shared by thousands of Canadians, who have proved Nervilleine is simply a marvel for cramps, diarrhoea, flatulence, nausea, and stomach disorders. Safe to use, guaranteed to cure—you can make no mistake in keeping Nervilleine for your family remedy.

FOUND DYING

Michael Meeney Was Discovered on the Roadside Near Mitchell.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Mitchell, May 20.—Michael Meeney, aged 75, was found in a hopeless condition beside the road near Dublin yesterday, and died in a short time. Deceased was a ditcher, and worked all through the district. He was of intemperate habits, and it is supposed had been drinking on Saturday and some time Saturday night got into the creek, which he crawled out and went a short distance and lay down beside a building, where he remained until he was discovered.

Dr. Armstrong, corner of Mitchell, was called, and on viewing the body and learning the circumstances under which the old man died, he deemed it unnecessary to hold an inquest. Deceased had no relatives, as far as the Dublin people knew, so the remains were buried in the afternoon in St. Patrick's Cemetery, Dublin.

RENEGADE WEEPS BEFORE SUFFRAGETTES

Witness Against the Militant Ones Almost Collapses in Court.

London, May 20.—The most dramatic moment of the suffragette trial in the Old Bailey court this afternoon was when a dressmaker, Lillian Ball, apparently a renegade from the cause, was put on the witness stand. The witness burst into tears and collapsed, looking pleadingly at the defendants in the dock.

Bouquets, which were noticeably present hitherto, were not present today, as the sheriff had notified the spectators attending the trial that they would be allowed no longer.

At the conclusion of Pethick Lawrence's defence, Mrs. Pankhurst addressed the judge, speaking with great emotion, and several times being on the point of a breakdown.

A WOODSTOCK MAN CHARGED WITH THEFT

Stanley Campbell Arraigned in the Police Court.

Stanley Campbell, of Simcoe street, a young man who came to this city a few months ago from Woodstock, appeared before Police Magistrate Judd this morning, charged with the theft of a suitcase and bicycle, the latter being the property of Sydney Huddell. The young fellow, who is said to be slightly deranged, was remanded to jail for a week for medical examination.

This morning he admitted the theft of the bicycle, claiming that he was standing on the Grand Trunk depot when a man came along and told him to take it away with him. He could give no explanation concerning the suitcase, which belonged to the colored porter of a Pullman car.

Imperial House

London, May 20.—Arthur J. Balfour, the former premier, speaking today at the annual meeting of the Victoria League of the Empire, said he believed that no distant date a scheme for an imperial parliament would be matured, by which Great Britain and her self-governing colonies would be united.

The whole trend of events, he said, was to bring closer the widely-scattered parts of the empire. He was a profound believer in the truth that local patriotism properly understood was no obstacle to a larger patriotism.

APOLOGIZED TO CHURCHILL

Blackwood's Magazine Hinted That He Broke His Parole.

London, May 20.—With a complete apology offered in Mrs. Justice Darling's court today, Winston Spencer Churchill, the popular first lord of the admiralty, ended the oft-repeated accusation that he broke his parole when he was a prisoner at Pretoria during the Boer war. This time it was repeated by a writer in Blackwood's Magazine, and led to the action, which was settled today by a complete withdrawal of the allegations. The warning of Mr. Justice Darling that it would be a serious matter for anyone repeating the charge doubtless ends a subject which for years has been a source of annoyance to Mr. Churchill.
