a match with the world's heavyweight champion. Finally he succeeded in attaining that eminence—after eight lons years. And it took just two weeks for him to be toppled from the apex of puglistic prominence.

One ill-advised match is sufficient to one ill-advised match is sufficient to the contract of the contract of the contract of the next logical opponent of Big Jess. Then somebody reminded Dillon of his engagement with Eattling Levinsky. As Dillon's word is his bond, he went to Ealtimore and permitted himself to be decisively outpointed by the One ill-advised match is sufficient to destroy an entire career for a boxer. It is to be hoped that Dillon's Indiscretion will not turn out to be as detrimental as it appears at present. Also it is to be hoped that it doesn't take him eight long years to re-establish the prestige he enjoyed only a month ago.

Let Battler. Flop! went Dillon's stock. Fortunately for Dillon, the duration of the bout was cut from fifteen to ten rounds. If the battle had gone five more rounds, Dillon would have been more severely punished, as Levinsky was in astonishingly good form, while Dillon fought indifferently.

Had Beaten Him Before,
For eight years Dillon has been meeting all comers. Some of them he fought once; others he tackled as many the latter was the case.

Jeopardized His Fame,
Thus it is that an ill-advised match may cost Dillon a chance for the world's heavyweight championship. His Jeopardized His Fame fought once; others he tackled as many as nine times. The latter was the case of Dillon and Battling Levinsky, the Hebrew light heavyweight. Prior to a fortnight ago Dillon and Levinsky had met in the ring eight times.
