Attack On Listowel Girl At Palmerston Carefully Planned.

ARRESTS EXPECTED TODAY

Anonymous Letters Were Apparently Written by Well Educated Woman.

PALMERSTON, May 19 .- Miss Ida Lee of Listowel, choir leader of Knox Presbyterian Church, who was found early yesterday morning in a lane on the outskirts of the town; with arms and ankles bound, and suffering from the effects of chloroform, has not yet mixture administered to her. Her physician, Dr. H. B. Coleman, will not permit her to talk of the affair to anyonce except the police officials, and in periods of consciousness she has given man who lured her into an automobile Tuesday night. He was about 5 feet inches tall, she said, and wore a dark overcoat. Take it Seriously.

The police are taking the case very seriously. They are satisfied it has been the work of persons responsible for the choir wrangle in the Methodist Church here four years ago. They believe there is a clue to the outrage in a lot of anonymous letters written to Miss Lee and to Jack Nairn, a member of the Knox Church choir. Sometimes the letters addressed to Miss Lee signed with Nairn's name, and those addressed to Nairn were signed with Miss Lee's name. They were the work of an educated woman. Several times on receipt of these letters, Miss Lee went off in a swoon, but she never spoke of them except to her parents.

Clearing Case Up.
Provincial Police Inspector Boyd is here, and will interview Miss Lee to-morrow, and no arrests will be made he has more fully investigated the
