

HARDWARE MEN ENJOY OUTING

Soft Ball Game and Monkey Contest Feature Spring-bank Picnic.

1,000, Including Relatives and Friends, Take Part in Program.

When London's retail hardware men get together to put anything over success is always the result. Their seventh annual picnic at Springbank Park Wednesday afternoon was not an exception. Almost 1,000 hardware men, their relatives and friends journeyed to the city playground for the event. And the weather was indeed kind. The program was one of the best carried out this year by any group of picnickers.

Perhaps the feature of the outing was the softball game between the married and the single men. Although a total of 46 runs were earned during the game the playing was by no means slow. Many fast plays featured every inning.

Until the final frame the married men had the lead. The single men outwitted them before the game was called, overcoming their lead and adding two more runs to put the victory on ice.

Exhibit Curves.
The opposing pitchers, Tom Purdom and E. K. Lewis, exhibited some curves and drops never seen on a ball diamond before. W. B. Gillespie was a safe and sane umpire and was able to please both sides. Under Charlie Craig the single men walked away with the tug-of-war honors.

Feeding the monkeys was the most interesting event on the program. The men were the monkeys and their lady friends were required to throw pieces of gum into their mouths. The "monkey" having the greatest number of pieces at the end of a given time was awarded first prize. The winners were Howard Crummer, Russell Beatty, Charlie Craig.

The elopement race provided much excitement. Mr. Westman and Miss O'Dell were the winners in this event.

During the afternoon refreshments were supplied to everyone, candy, peanuts, ice cream cones and bananas being supplied to the children.
The First Hussars Band rendered an enjoyable musical program.

VICTORIA LODGE PICNICS.
The annual picnic of Victoria Lodge, No. 120, Ladies Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, at Springbank, was one of the most successful outings held at the park this year, and was attended by more than 400 members and their friends.

The feature of the afternoon, baseball game between the ladies' auxiliary and the trainmen guests, resulted in a victory for the ladies. The final score was 13 to 3.
Many of the members of Local 415 and 240, B. of R. T., also attended the picnic.

TOMORROW'S DOINGS.

FRIDAY—London Motor Club holds annual outing for Orphanage children.
C. P. R. employees' picnic at Springbank.

BANK CLEARINGS for the past week were $2,541,300, in contrast to the clearings for the corresponding week of 1921, $2,342,200.

NO. 3, THE RECTORY STREET CORPS of the Salvation Army, held their annual picnic at Springbank, Wednesday. Ball games, with a program of races and contests, featured the event.

AMONGST OTHER large picnics which are scheduled for Port Stanley Saturday is that of the London Soap Company, Limited. Committees are preparing a program of sports and games which they believe will establish a record for enjoyment and success.

AS THE REPRESENTATIVE of the London Public Utilities Commission, A. O. Hunt, acting general officer of that body, attends the formal opening of the Galt hydro building Friday. As Jared Vining, chairman, leaves this week for a month's holidays, it is unlikely that a special session of that body will be held until the last week in August at the earliest.

DR. W. S. DOWNHAM, medical officer of health, reports that not one case of scarlet fever or diphtheria has been detected in London since last Friday, and he declares it to be an enviable record for this city. "Aside from a few cases of chickenpox, London has had no new cases of communicable diseases reported this week," said the medical officer of health, Thursday morning.

SOME LONDON motorists believe there should be a time limit each day for serving summonses. One man charged with failing to have three lighted lamps on his auto between the hours of dusk and dawn, thought the constables came to his house too late at night. "Is it the custom of constables to deliver summonses at 10.30 o'clock at night, rousing a person out of a sound sleep, with a series of rings and rappings?" he asked.

DR. GEORGE W. KERBY, president of the Mount Royal College, Calgary, is to be the speaker at Friday's Kiwanis luncheon meeting. Dr. Kerby enjoys a widespread reputation as an orator, and it is with great interest that Kiwanis look forward to his next address. The Boys' Band from Shawbridge is to provide the musical program at the meeting. For the ten days following they will visit the Kiwanis summer camp, which is now in full swing at Sage's farm.

COUNTY POLICE CONTINUE WAR AGAINST SPEEDERS

Claim Long List of Summons Still Await Distribution.

Appearing by proxy before Squire W. H. Chittick in county police court, Wednesday afternoon, a prominent member of the Kent County Motor Club was assessed $13.50 for speeding.

He was represented by C. E. Bernard, secretary of the London Motor Club, while the charge was preferred by one of the provincial motorcycle squad who have been operating in this district during the past two weeks.

In the meanwhile, the general campaign against speeding and reckless driving continues unabated, with both the county and provincial authorities participating. A long list of offenders still await to be tried, while the county constables Thursday morning revealed another list of similar proportions, intimating that there are dozens of motorists yet to be summoned.

The indications are that sessions in the Middlesex County police court will be a daily feature throughout the summer. The police are adhering strictly to their policy outlined early in the spring.

ACADIA SUGAR REFINING COMPANY REORGANIZES

Halifax, July 26.—A reorganization of the Acadia Sugar Refining Company, Limited, involving a reduction in capital of one million dollars and the provision of one million dollars working fund, was decided on at an extraordinary meeting of the shareholders following the annual general meeting here yesterday. The plan involves the reduction and cancellation by the shareholders of their present holdings, and the subscription by them of mortgage debentures to the extent of 20 per cent of their present holdings, the mortgage debentures not to exceed one million dollars.

Denies Provincial Officers Assured Game Operators Of Non-Interference

Questioned Thursday, George Tustin, provincial humane officer, issued an unqualified statement with reference to the operation of the so-called games of chance or skill at Springbank Park, declaring positively that he did not give assurance to any of the operators in question that they were acting within the law, and "to go ahead and give away cash prizes."

While county police were investigating certain booths at the park they were informed that the operator under question had declared that

AVERS SPRINGBANK FREE FROM LIQUOR

George Tustin Denies Allegations of Bootlegging at Amusement Park.

There is nothing wrong at Springbank Park, which is a credit to the city, according to George Tustin, who in company with Arthur Palmer, until Wednesday provincial officer for this district, has been more or less conversant with conditions down the river this summer.

Touching upon the recent suggestion that the civic breathing space was fast becoming a mecca for bootleggers and their associates, Mr. Tustin stated that during the several visits that he conducted there with Officer Palmer they noted nothing out of order.

"I speak of both sides of the railway tracks," he stated, "in the park proper and in the Springbank Amusement Park across from the pavilion. As far as the provincial police are concerned, I am confident that they have no cause for complaint. As a matter of fact I don't believe we noticed any suspicious drinking either in the amusement park or in the vicinity."

"The park in my opinion is well policed, two constables being in charge. I should say that it would be almost impossible to make a row in the park, and I should be boosted, Springbank should be the finest resort of its kind in this part of the country."

SEEK ADVICE ON SALARIES FROM CITY SCHOOL BOARD

Educational Bodies Throughout the Province Follow Lead of London.

As school boards throughout the province undertake to revise their respective schedules for teachers, W. A. Tanner, secretary of the London board of education, continues to receive requests from them for a copy of the local readjusted scale and all data concerning the situation here.

It is quite evident that the situation has gone abroad respecting the manner in which the teachers and trustees in this city settled their salary difficulties within the past few months, and the secretary explains that, after dispatching the material requested he has received more than one letter of congratulation from the trustees from outside points.

The secretary accedes to all requests with a copy of all data that was specially prepared by him earlier in the year, dealing with the situation in all the principal centers of Ontario. This was employed to great effect and with seeming satisfactory results by the salary committee of the board when the local salaries were adjusted.

PLAN TO CONTINUE MAIL SERVICE WITHOUT BREAK

Postal Authorities Arrange to Overcome Train Cancellation on Guelph Route.

Arrangements are being made at the district postal superintendent's office here to have mail service between London and Toronto, through Guelph, continue with its present regularity, after Sunday next, when a mail train on that route will be discontinued owing to the coal shortage.

The mail for that train will likely be carried after July 30, on the train which will leave Toronto daily at 6:30 a.m. Though no serious interference has yet been met with through train cancellations, either in effect or about to be put into effect, by the mail authorities, yet the postal superintendent's department is in receipt of information concerning what will happen if the present crisis continues, and they state from that information the outlook is bad if the coal shortage continues.

SQUIRE PROCEEDS WITH THEFT CASE

Only Half Supply of Coal Secured for City Schools

Concluding the evidence at 2:30 p.m., Squire Chittick committed Elliott for trial. He will appear, it is understood later in the afternoon before His Honor Judge Talbot Macbeth.

Commenced in the Middlesex County court Thursday morning, the case of the Crown vs. Russell Elliott, an Indian resident of the Cape Croker district, is still proceeding with Squire W. H. Chittick on the bench.

Elliott, who was attending the Mt. Elgin Institute at the Muncey reservation, Canada Township, is charged with theft of a wrist watch from a resident of that locality.

He was apprehended by the police of Warton at the request of the Middlesex authorities, and Constable William Fifield brought the prisoner down to the city.

Board of education officials, while pointing out that no real difficulty will confront them if the coal is received before winter sets in, are trusting that the strike will soon terminate, in view of the fact that it will be much more difficult to keep the schools free from dust and dirt than when they are occupied, and this delay upsets their summer clean-up program.

Police Fail To Find Mystery Man Lurking In Shadows of Tombstones

While none of them has as yet been apprehended by the police, the district surrounding London would appear to be literally swarming with "wild men with long, flowing beards," who remain out of sight during the daytime and come out only at night to haunt convenient graveyards.

This is the case, if one desires to place any credence in every report that drifts in to the Middlesex County court house. Early in the week, Constable Alex. Shaver was requested to investigate the report of a strange individual who was supposed to be lurking nightly in the shadows of the tombstones in a cemetery not far distant from that officer's home.

The man disappeared evidently, and Wednesday night, Special Officer Arthur Reynolds of Lambeth, responding to a similar report journeyed out to Woodland Cemetery about 10 p.m., and prowled around in that vicinity until near midnight without noting anything of a strange nature.

CLAIMS ALCOHOL WAS USED FOR RUBBING SHOULDERS

James Pearce Admits Being Intoxicated, But Denies Having Rubbed Shoulders

James Pearce was found in an intoxicated condition on the West London breakwater, with a bottle of rubbing alcohol in his possession, by Constable William Snell Wednesday night.

According to the officer, Pearce pleaded that a drop be saved for the morning.

Pearce denies he made such a statement, and said he would not drink the contents of the bottle. "It's poison, your worship," he stated in police court Thursday.

"Anybody else can drink it, but I won't."

Chief Birrell declared Pearce would drink anything until Monday, and "Well, I wouldn't drink that. I use it to rub my shoulders. You can buy that stuff in a drug store without a prescription. I was intoxicated but I didn't get drunk on that stuff."

Judgment was reserved by Deputy Magistrate Bartlett until Monday, and Pearce remained until that date. Meanwhile, Chief Birrell is investigating Pearce's story of getting alcohol without a prescription, and is also having his men obtain Pearce's record during the past five years.

PURCHASE LARGE SITE IN WINDSOR

Dodge Brothers To Erect Plant For Canadian Trade.

Windsor, July 27.—By Canadian Press.—Dodge Brothers, automobile manufacturers, Hamtramck, Detroit, have purchased a large factory site in Windsor and will erect a large plant here to care for their Canadian and possibly their export trade.

M. G. Campbell, general manager of the Kelsey Wheel Company, was the owner of the property which Dodge Brothers have secured. There is seven and a half acres in the piece which faces on Janette street, with Ellis, Tecumseh road and the C. P. R. as boundaries.

The site is particularly well adapted for manufacturing and shipping, the main line of the C. P. R. out of the city practically cutting off half an acre of what would otherwise be an eight-acre plot. Mr. Campbell purchased the property four years ago. It is vacant.

On the books of the assessment commissioner the property is assessed in two parcels, the largest being 5 1/2 acres, and the total assessment value $7,625.

While no official announcement of the Dodge plans for the immediate future are available, owing to the absence of all but one of their high officials from the city, and he cannot be connected with it, it will be welcome news to Windsor that the oft and long-heard rumors that this big concern was coming here, has now assumed definite shape.

It has been known for some time that the Dodge concern was looking for a site in Windsor, and not long ago it was said they were divided between two properties, that of Mr. Campbell and the Yawkey farm at Sandwich. However, not long ago P. J. England put the question on the rumor connecting the Yawkey property with these negotiations, and the consummation of the deal for the Campbell property quickly followed.

ONLY HALF SUPPLY OF COAL SECURED FOR CITY SCHOOLS

Board of Education Trusting That Strike Will End Before Fall Term Commences.

Although three local coal dealers are endeavoring to fulfill their contracts with the London Board of Education, W. A. Tanner, secretary of that body, reports that, as near as can be estimated, but half of the winter's supply of coal for the public schools is in the bins.

While one of the dealers explained a week ago that three car loads destined for the city schools was seized by the railroad before the consignment reached the Canadian border, the secretary states that several tons have since been placed by the same firm.

ASKS CONTRACTS OF CITY TEACHERS

Secretary Requests Agreement and Medical Certificate From Prospective Tutors.

Informing them that before the schools reopen September next, they will have to sign agreements and present medical certificates, W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board of education, has mailed notices to all teachers who have been recently transferred or have been added to the London teaching staff.

The secretary explains that as yet he is not quite sure respecting the rules supposedly laid down in former years by the board of trustees as to a medical officer, they will have to pay for the same themselves.

Secretary Tanner states that this was the custom for many years, and he does not believe that it has been since changed. He intends to deliver the report in the records, he explains, and verify the report, however.

The teachers are allowed until the last week in August in which to tender their certificates and sign their applications, as a number of them are attending special courses at outside points.

Although the provincial department insists that these contracts be signed by the applicants for positions, it was revealed at the last meeting of the board, much to the evident surprise of the trustees, that the practice had been automatically abandoned in London for a considerable period.

COAL STRIKE MAY HAVE SEQUEL HERE

The present coal strike in the United States may have a sequel in London next winter, if certain public institutions are unable to buy fuel supplies. A canvass of these institutions reveals that in most cases where they are under the direction of civic bodies coal has already been obtained, but in the case of government buildings little has been placed in the bins.

Western University has contracted for its supply, and some have already been placed. Customs house and postoffice are without supplies, and other government offices are in a similar plight.

Householders are for the most part lacking sufficient stock for their winter needs.

SAYS CLINKERS DUMPED ONLY ON CITY PROPERTY

Engineer Brazier Preparing Plans for Breakwater to Protect Front Street.

Detail of the charge made by Raymond Smith that city employees are disregarding the protests of Front street residents by dumping clinkers from the municipal incinerator along the north bank of the river in the rear of Victoria Hospital, thereby endangering their homes, was made by City Engineer H. A. Brazier Thursday morning.

"We are dumping clinkers absolutely on our own city property," said the city engineer in reference to the published charge. "Not one ounce of them is going into the river or likely to do so. The only dumping going on at the point to which Mr. Smith refers is to ballast up our light railway tracks over which the clinkers are carried."

Mr. Brazier stated that, in accordance with the wishes of the Front street ratepayers and following instructions issued by No. 2 committee of the city council, he is preparing plans and estimates on the cost of providing a breakwater to protect Front street property from flooding. These plans will be submitted to No. 2 committee, which meets next Tuesday night.

WILL BUILD ADDITION TO CHURCH IN EAST LONDON

St. Patrick's Congregation Plan to Expend $13,000 on Alterations.

Additions to St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church on Dundas street are being commenced this week, and the estimated cost involved is $13,000. Building Inspector A. M. Piper issued a permit for this purpose Wednesday, and the addition will be one story in height, and of frame construction.

Building permits issued in London this month total $38, and involve a sum amounting to $249,325. They include the following: E. W. McMurray, for a two-story brick veneer dwelling, costing $5,200; H. Smith, for a 1 1/2 story brick veneer dwelling on Tecumseh avenue, to cost $3,200; Mrs. J. McKillop, for a 1 1/2 story stucco residence on Hamilton avenue, to be erected at a cost of $4,300; and Frederick Young, for a 1 1/2 story brick veneer house on Brisbane street, to cost $3,500.

Adjournment In O. T. A. Case Allows Accused Time To Prepare Defense

As a result of a police raid, Nathan Goldberg and Isaac Herschberg, of Clarence street, were charged in police court Thursday morning with keeping liquor for sale.

John McEvoy, counsel for the defence, stated he was unable to proceed with the case Thursday when the crown produced a search warrant, claiming it forced him to change his defence, as he would be required

Jailer Happy; Has Now Good Staff Of Workmen

AS there is now no lack of workmen confined at the Middlesex county jail, Governor Bryon Dawson seriously contemplates placing them at work.

While "things have been somewhat quiet" within the past two days the governor has 17 prisoners at his disposal as against a quartet of two weeks ago.

Contractors have practically completed the elevation of the prison walls and when they finally depart he will select a crew of capable men from among the inmates and set them to work removing the kitchen floor. He expects that the work will be accomplished quite satisfactorily in this manner.

"HER OWN MONEY" CHARMS AUDIENCE

Percival Vivian Players Present Brilliant Offering at Chautauqua.

Money, as it affects matrimony, was the theme upon which was based the charming play, "Her Own Money," presented by the Percival Vivian Players at the Wednesday night Chautauqua.

Brilliant wit and humor pervaded the entire performance, yet the question around which the plot revolved had depth enough to remove the play from the class of mere comedy.

After living for years independently of anything save the salary earned from her own work, it was to be expected that Mary Alden should not altogether relish the fact that she had to ask her husband for every cent of money he made.

Householders are for the most part lacking sufficient stock for their winter needs.

Western University has contracted for its supply, and some have already been placed. Customs house and postoffice are without supplies, and other government offices are in a similar plight.

DENY LARGE SUMS STOLEN FROM MAILS IN LONDON

Postal Officials Consider Report Reflection on Honesty of Employees.

Only very, very small amounts of money, seldom going over $100 a month, and never approaching within the widest stretch of imagination $1,200 a month, as stated in a contemporary report, is stolen from undelivered mail matter in the London district.

Postal authorities are highly indignant concerning the report which alleges that this large sum was extracted from unregistered mail every month in the London district. They consider it a reflection on the honesty of the postal workers of the district, and said so Thursday morning.

The inquiry department of the postal superintendent's office recounted the true facts concerning the looting of mails in this district. Officials said that scarcely one inquiry a month comes from London's largest mail office house concerning mail matter or money gone astray. The inquiry department of the superintendent's office is the one which traces all lost matter or money. Small amounts, it is true, they state are sometimes pilfered from the mails, but these are negligible.

In many cases people make inquiries for money which was never even inclosed in their envelopes, and the tracing of the case eventually reveals it.

LOATH TO QUIT AS TRUSTEES

Several of Board Oppose Resigning Over Debentures Issue.

Chairman Udy Not Taking Trustee Wright's Statement Seriously.

Admitting that he had "heard something about it," Trustee A. N. Udy, chairman of No. 1 committee of the board of education, explained Thursday that he did not regard Trustee E. Wright seriously in his statement that he was all ready to resign from that body in the event of the city council rejecting their recent school building proposal.

"I thought it was just talk," commented the chairman of No. 1 committee. "I noticed his remarks, but did not view them at all seriously. Personally I am not inclined that way. I do think, however, that it is up to the city council to provide the money for the schools that we have shown are needed."

"We have discharged our duty in that respect. We know what is needed if the aldermen do not. If they should reject our debenture request then the children of the ratepayers must suffer, and I do not think that the public will stand for any further delay. I believe that if the council declines to approve of this, it will force matters to a show-down."

Has Quit Worrying.

Trustee A. E. Silverwood, chairman of No. 2 committee, adopts the attitude of "not crossing any bridges until he comes to them." He is past reaching out for trouble, he explains, and has quit worrying as to what the future may bring forth. "I indeed had a good deal of the present may be for that matter. He intimates, nevertheless, that he is prepared for action of some description when the time is ripe."

As chairman of the board, Trustee Edwin Pearson is striving to tread with caution so as to avoid any controversies, which are quite easily precipitated, as he points out, particularly in hot weather. While he is absolutely confident that Mayor Wilson and his associates will quite readily approve of the recent building program, he is not prepared, if they choose otherwise, to head the trustees in a general walkout as advocated by Trustee Wright. He favors allowing events to pursue their natural course, and the electors can voice their opinion next election.

"I want to avoid a discussion," Chairman Smith declared. "When the time comes I will present the case squarely to the council. It is up to them. We will have then accomplished our duty. We can do no more."

Opposed To Resigning.

While expressing the belief that it would be inexpedient to quit the board of education at this time of the year, School Trustee Thomas Rowe, the dean of that body, declared Thursday morning that despite the fact that he has another year yet to serve, he would be quite willing to resign next December and go to the people for a mandate in the event that the school building program became an issue between Mayor Cameron Wilson and the trustees.

"I don't suppose that Trustee J. B. Wright gives two hoots whether he sits on the board of education or not," Trustee Rowe asserted. "As far as that goes, I resign myself, but as long as I am there I want to be honest in my convictions."

"What would the electors think if (and by the same token we would have the same right) we attended city council meetings and commenced to heckle the mayor and his aldermen as to their paying or saving programs? I am not prepared to criticize them, I think."

"I have always maintained and do yet, that we should follow the advice of our school inspector and those whose business it is to make a study of this situation, and not to listen to those, like the members of the city council, for instance, who make but a casual survey of the educational needs of the city."

"Where is this civic commission of the mayor's that we heard so much about?" questioned Trustee Rowe in conclusion, as he warned that if the council rejects the new building program the blame for the lack of educational facilities in Southwest London must rest upon the shoulders of Mayor Wilson and associates and not the school trustees.

Police have in their possession a pair of size curtains for an auto, a robe and a quantity of dress goods found in various parts of the city. They are seeking the owners.
