SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

Kansas City Times: The Germans have announced to the Geneva Conference that they are willing to abandon gas warfare, which seems to indicate their conviction that they have not gassed the other nations haven't duplicated.

A FIRST-CLASS MATHEMATICIAN

Providence Journal: De Valera, finding his Presidency financially unprofitable, has accepted a post as professor in an Irish college. He is, according to the despatches, "a first-class mathematician," but it took him a long time to put two and two together.

KING COAL TOTTERING.

London Daily Chronicle: The bottom seems to have been knocked out of our coal industry. Our manufacturers, our trade, our transport, our wealth, our financial supremacy in the world, are based on coal, and our coal industry is tottering. Are we going to do anything about it? Are we going to think it worth while to have a policy? Or are we going to follow the Baldwin and bury our heads in the sand?

WHAT IS CANADA'S POSITION?

Johnsburg Sunday Times: Either this country is an important member of a great Commonwealth of Nations, or it is a third-rate "independent." Power tumbled offering trivial tariff bargains to a cynically contemptuous world. South Africa cannot expect to enjoy the incalculable benefits of the British connection without attempting to make some small return for it. When a portion of that return, inadequate as it is, is deliberately withdrawn, we think it is high time for reasonable people to take stock of the situation.

THE JAZZ HORROR

The Australasian: Jazz has always been characterized by a lack of ideas so palpable that all its raucous outpourings cannot conceal its vacuity, but that is no reason why its exponents should raid the classics for what they do not themselves possess and pervert them to their own uses. It may be hoped that the taste for folk dancing and music will spread to Australia, for these folk tunes are ancient and delightful things, hearty and jovial. They inevitably regenerate a musical atmosphere pervaded by an imported vogue of sheer barbarism; and they might even replace by English sense of true rhythm and melody a fashion of dancing execrably degraded to imitate the dreary posturing of the African negro.

CURIOUS BRITISH METHOD

Kansas City Star: This Majesty's recently laid the corner stone of the new Lloyd's building in the City of London. When a British institution has occupied the same quarters for a matter of three hundred years, it shakes the confidence a little to see it get frisky and go to hopping about like a medicine show. That's why we were inclined at first to withdraw all our bets from Lloyd's. But you have to give it to the British—they know how to do these things without alarming business. The chances are that Lloyd's won't lose a bet by its compromise with the spirit of modern ism, dangerous as that sort of thing usually is in Britain. It's all in doing the revolutionary in a constitutional manner. The British are great at it. If they should abolish the monarchy they'd do it with the King's approval.

PERIODICAL EXAMINATION MOST EFFECTIVE HEALTH MEAS. THE EVER DEVISED, PROMINENT M. D. SAYS.

Minneapolis.—"More could be accomplished in developing health, forestalling disease and providing for success in treatment of all the preventable and many of the non-preventable diseases if all persons at all ages were examined at intervals according to their age and condition, than by any other resource or device, applicable to conditions in this country at present. This statement, made by Dr. Haven Emerson, New York City, before the National Tuberculosis Association, was the basis of a plea and plan for periodic health examination for men, women and children of all ages being launched jointly by the American Medical Association, the National Tuberculosis Association and other health agencies.

Dr. Emerson's plan for periodic health examinations for all ages including the following: For the expectant mother at least four medical observations between the fourth and eighth month of pregnancy, of which perhaps only one need be by a physician. If reports can be obtained during the intervals by a visiting nurse. At least 12 medical observations in the first two years of life, of which six in the first six months.

Six in the years 2-5 (one each 6 months) unless acute febrile infection or serious loss of weight demands more frequent examination.

Once a year from 6-25 unless acute febrile disease or loss of weight calls for additional examinations during the year.

Once every two years 25-45 unless there is a definite disturbance of weight either excess or loss, or albumin or sugar in the urine.

Once a year 45-65 unless overweight, high blood pressure, albumin or sugar in urine is present in which case the examinations should be once every six months.

At 65 an examination every six months.

REVENUE ON GASOLINE.

$750,000 Income Estimated From Increased Tax.

Quebec.—Judging by the revenues collected already and the tourist prospects for the season, Mr. J. A. Dohin, controller of the provincial revenues, estimates that at least $750,000 will be obtained from the increased gasoline tax. In the course of the first month of operation of the new tax, which was increased at the last session of the Legislature from 2c to 3c, according to reports received by Mr. Dohin, about $23,000 was collected as was the case last year. It is thought there will be a very considerable increase in this figure in the months of June, July, August and September, reaching in those months nearly $100,000.

COW TESTING ASSOCIATIONS

Numbers of These Being Formed Throughout the County, Grade Herd Register Interesting Many of Our Farmers.

The prospects, at present, are that the farmers of Annapolis County will have a most satisfactory hay crop. With the storing of the crop will come the question of marketing. It is not known that there will be a large number of buyers for the crop. These buyers will be of several classes. One class—the smallest, will handle the portion of the crop which will be shipped out of the country. The remaining classes consist of those who will convert the hay-crop into the finished product which will take the market as human food. The first class will pay a fairly stable price but that paid by the other classes will vary greatly. Take the dairy cows for example, these giving a good yield of milk and butter fat will pay a much better price for the hay which they consume than will those giving lower yields. The important thing is to know exactly the return over cost of feed given by each cow. With this object in view various farmers in Annapolis County have approached the Department of Agriculture from time to time asking that assistance be given in Cow Testing work. During the early part of June the Dairy Promoter for Nova Scotia, representing the Dominion Live Stock Branch, spent some time organizing Cow Testing Associations at Port Lorne and Lawrencetown.

At Port Lorne a public meeting was held on the evening of June 13th, when it was decided to organize an Association to be known as the Westmount Mountain Cow Testing Association with Mr. J. M. Brinton as tester.

An Association to be known as the Lawrencetown Cow Testing Association and covering the territory of West, East and Central Clarence and of Lawrencetown and Paradise was also formed with Mr. Robert P. Longley as tester. This is the largest Cow Testing Association yet organized in Nova Scotia, and shows that the farmers realize the need of keeping a close watch over the production of their cows. Cow Testing Association work means much more than just the discovery of the poor cow. It also means an organized effort to reduce production costs by discovering the best methods of feeding and the best crops to grow to reduce the bills for imported feed.

In addition to the regular Cow Testing Association work a number of farmers have become interested in the branch of the work recently established by the Live Stock Branch and known as the "Grade Herd Register." This provides for closely supervised records and for the issuance of certificates of production for grade cows equal to those now granted to the pure breeds through the "Record of Performance." This should result in an increased value for the surplus stock of the herds so tested.

STRANGE VALLEY IN NORTHERN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Where Mysterious Animals Hold Forth and Indians are Atraid to Hunt.

Vancouver, B. C.—A strange valley in the Wilderness of Northern British Columbia, where treacherous conditions are said to prevail, was recently discovered by a party of men that the Indians are afraid to hunt for them. It is to be explored this summer by an expedition being organized here.

The valley lies in the heart of the vast unexplored area lying north of the Skehne River. It is said to be only two hundred miles long and barely forty miles wide, but if the reports brought out by those who have made a partial investigation are true, it is one of the most remarkable places in the world.

Although hemmed in by snow-capped mountains and surrounded by a territory which experiences a long and severe winter, this mystery valley is said to enjoy a tropical climate from one season to another. Moose and deer and all other game animals are said to be of great size and, exceptionally tame, and with them dwell, according to reports, many animals and birds that at present are unknown to science. The vegetation is luxuriant and quite different from that of the surrounding district.

Rose bushes are said to be growing there as high as fruit trees and with branches as thick as a man's wrist.

It is more than a year since Frank Perry, Vancouver mining man and prospector, came out of the north and told of his discovery of the mystery valley. He related how, after climbing a mountain top, he had looked down a valley that was overcast by a bank of fog. This seemed an unusual phenomenon in winter. He descended into the valley and found that it contained rivers of

NERVES AND FAINTING SPELLS

Sent Woman to Bed, Great Change After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sarnia, Ontario.—"After my girlie was born I was a wreck. My nerves were too terrible for words and I simply could not stand or walk without pain. I suffered with fainting spells until I was no longer any good for my household duties and had to take to my bed. The doctor said I should have an operation, but I was not in a fit condition at that time. My neighbor said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? I am sure it will do you good and will save those doctor's bills.' So I was advised by my husband to try it after I told him about it. I have not yet had an operation, thanks to your medicine. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to a few people I know and have told them the good it has done me. I know I feel and look a different woman these last few months and I certainly do not feel without a bottle of your medicine in the house. You can use this letter as you see fit, as I should be only too glad for those suffering as I have to know what it has done for me."—Mrs. ROBERT G. MACGREGOR, R. R. No. 2, Sarnia, Ontario. A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound report 98 out of 100 received beneficial results. This is a remarkable proof of its merit. C warm water that flowed from a spring. "There is said to be a mineral spring of the area and the vegetation, Perry travelled with dogs and claims to have spent eight years in the district living of the land. He visited civilization occasionally, bringing out with him his seasonal stores of a strain game partridge.

For a time Perry's assertions were not credited, but he has convinced several well-known capitalists and he is going back this summer with an airplane as part of his equipment to make a more thorough examination of the valley. One of those behind the enterprise is Hon. Charles H. Mackintosh, former governor of the Northwest Territories. Another is Philip P. Lonczan, pioneer Seattle mining engineer.

In addition to the unusual climate and flora of the valley, it is said that an oil lake and open coal seams were seen by Perry during his visit, and that he found traces of placer gold, copper, iron and lead.

George Blaser, an old-time prospector and trail blazer, will be a member of the Perry expedition, for which supplies have already been shipped from here in Telegraph Creek, B. C. in north-western spring point.

ST. JOHN, N. B., PROTESTS

Money for Home Bank Relief Needed by Maritime Provinces.

St. John, N. B.—A protest against the granting of money for the Home Bank depositors by the Federal Parliament while the ports of the Dominion were so badly in need of a development was voiced today at a meeting of the contact of the St. John Board of Trade, and a resolution along these lines will be sent to the Government and Maritime members of Parliament.

The report of the West Indies committee of the board and recommendations to be forwarded to the conference at Ottawa June 19th were approved. The committee recommends a ten year contract by the Government with some reliable private company for a fortnightly service between the ports now served by the R. M. S. P. by a resolution and Government refrain from competition with the C. G. M. M., during that period. They also ask that the Government assist in the establishment of an adequate service to Jamaica and other ports to the Caribbean sea from the ports of St. John and Halifax. They protest against changing of the summer sailings from the West Indies to Montreal but want Halifax and St. John continued as the summer ports.

A committee was appointed to present suggestions for the improvement of the Maritimes at the economic conference to be held in Montreal on July 15th.

Dr. Vernon Parker of Stellarton visited his sister, Mrs. A. H. Inglis and Mr. Inglis recently.

Enjoyment in Every

THE VAMPIRES OF LOVE.

(By a Harley-Street Doctor.)
A great mind doctor declared the other day that failure to cultivate habits of cheerfulness and independence produces in the end the "vampire type of mind."

What he meant was that if we possess no happiness of our own we are sure sooner or later, to begin to steal the happiness of those nearest and dearest to us.

During my work as a doctor I have come across a fairly large number of these thieves and I am inclined to think that the type is growing common.

Their distinguishing mark is their terrible dependence. It is the most persistent and the most merciless quality of which a human mind can be possessed. Moreover it is infinitely crafty. The vampire almost always poses as a saint or a martyr. Only those at whose expense he or she is living realize the truth.

Doctors have been studying the type carefully of late years and have reached some surprising conclusions. It is a fact, for example, that every vampire is at heart a moral coward. Behind the terrible need for somebody else's joy lies a shrinking fear. The nature of this fear, has recently been discovered by psycho-analysis. It consists of a sense of inferiority and a morbid dread of being despised or pitied. So great is this dread that its victim is always ill at ease and despondent. Melancholy and depression sit as it were, on the doorstep.

Choosing Her Prey
There is felt, therefore, an overwhelming need of the tonic of some strong personality. The vampire lies in wait for self reliant people, just as a tiger lies in wait for its prey. If she is a woman she will exhaust all her resources to obtain a husband of this type. Having married him, she will literally make him a spiritual bankrupt. His happiness will be filched from him to nourish her wounded self-esteem.

I have a case of the sort in my mind as I write. The vampire-wife was a pretty girl, and she could be very charming to strangers. But her attitude to her husband was that of a martyr to her executioners. She told me herself that he "grudged her even a ray of happiness," that his jealousy was terrible to bear, and that he believed she was in love with another man.

Every vampire likes to think she is down, feeling, cautiously.

Another fruitful source of self-reliance is the send boys and girls to their companions are themselves. Far from advantage, such a variability inflicts ill. Generally speaking they are always demanding. They are women, they understand the men, they declare that they had a fair chance.

With all my heart I wish that all the girls and men to with people who talk like this.

BLONDIE AND BRUNET

Often they showed off. Inset is Blondie finishing One day in early summer, a party of guides were camping near Emerald Lake in the Canadian Pacific Rockies. Now it happened that the campers had with them a very young and very unwise dog, who rashly got frisky with a Lady Black Bear and chased her up one of the big jack-pines standing on the border of the lovely lake. The only thing that saved the young canine was the fact that the lady was a Black Bear, not a Grizzly. But when the bear stayed on her lofty perch, the campers discovered that she had left behind her a young family, cuddly little things not much larger than puppies and just as playful. Two of them they took along, leaving one for the unnatural mother.

One was a light-brown fluffy thing, so her new friends christened her Blondie, the other being of the dark brown variety, naturally was called Brunette. They were about two months old when Mary Graham Bonner met them and, so charmed was she with the two baby cubs, that she tells the story in St. Nicholas Magazine. "If you went away and came back in a week, you'd hardly know them, they grow so fast!"
