

CHAPTER XIX.

Kind reception at Mr. Disraeli's—View of Hyde Park from the top of his house—Review of troops, and sham fight—Breakfast-table—The Doctor missing—The Author finds him in the bathing-room—Champagne wine—Refused by the Indians—Chickabobbo: Chippahola tells the story of it—The Indians drink—Presents—The "big looking-glass"—The Doctor smiles in it—Speech of the War-chief—Shake of hands, and return—Exhibition-room, Egyptian Hall—Doctor presents a string of wampum and the "White-feather" to the "jolly fat dame"—Indians talk about chickabobbo—The Rev. Mr. G— calls—A different religion (a Catholic)—Interview appointed—Two Methodist clergymen call—Indians refuse to see them—The giant and giantess visit the Indians—The Doctor measuring the giantess—The talk with the Catholic clergyman Page 47

CHAPTER XX.

The Doctor and Jim visit several churches—The Indians in St. Paul's—In Westminster Abbey—The exhibition at the Hall—The Doctor agrees to go in the carriage of the "jolly fat dame"—Mr. Melody objects—The Doctor's melancholy—Indians stop the bus to talk with Lascars—Make them presents of money—Indians discover chickabobbo-ags (ging-palaces)—and ladies lying down in their carriages reading books—Chim-e-gotch-ees (or fish)—Jim's story of "Fish"—Experiments in mesmerism—Wash-ka-mon-ya (Jim) mesmerized—The Doctor's opinions on mesmerism—Ioways in Lord's Cricket-ground—Archery and ball-playing—Encampment—Wigwams—Indians invited by Mrs. Lawrence to Ealing Park—Their kind reception—Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge—The Princess Mary—The Duchess of Gloucester—The Hereditary Grand Duke and Duchess, and other distinguished guests—Amusements—Beautiful grounds—Indians dine on the lawn—Roast beef and plum-pudding—Chickabobbo—Alarm of the parrots—Doctor's superstition—Chickabobbo explained—Speech of the War-chief—Taking leave—Fright of the poor birds—Handsome presents—Conservatory—The Doctor's ideas of it—Indians visit Surrey Zoological Gardens—Fright of the birds and animals—Indians sacrifice tobacco to the lion and the rattle-snakes 63

CHAPTER XXI.

Indians' remarks on the Zoological Gardens—Their pity for the poor buffalo and other animals imprisoned—Jim's talk with a clergyman about