

From the Examiner.

TO ST. ANDREW'S.

Let not a Scottish voice tell
The sad, the withering deed,
That Presbyterian Marshall
Abjures his fathers' creed.

BRITISH COLONIST Nov. 24.

O bigot bard! what more, man,
Could your Covenanters do
Than Marshall does?—give o'er, man,
Glebe, manse, and stipend too.
Was conscience not the glory
Abjurers once could claim?
But now, another story,
To change and starve is shame!

If men must be derided
Their fathers' creed who slight,
A knotty point's decided—
The stubborn Jew is right;
The follower of Mohammed
Is justified and free,
And you and I are damned,
That Christian dogs we be!

TOBACCO A REMEDY FOR ARSENIC.—A young lady in New Hampshire fell into the mistake, so often committed, of eating a portion of arsenic which had been prepared for the destruction of rats. Painful symptoms soon led to inquiry; and her mistake was discovered. An elderly lady who was present advised that she should be made to vomit, as speedily as possible, and as she had always felt a perfect loathing for tobacco in every shape, it was supposed that this would at once effect the purpose. A pipe was used, but without producing a nausea. She next chewed a large portion of strong tobacco, and swallowed the juice, and that even without a sensation of disgust. A strong decoction was then made of hot water, of which she drank perhaps half a pint. Still there was neither nausea nor dizziness, nor did it operate at all, either as an emetic or cathartic.—The painful sensations at her stomach, however, subsided, and she began to feel well. On the arrival of the physicians, an emetic of blue vitriol was administered, and produced one operation. One or two days after there was a discharge of dark green color, approaching to black. No ill consequences followed. Another case occurred in the same place a few years subsequent, in which arsenic was taken through mistake, by a sick person, and she employed tobacco with the same success. She, too, had always loathed the article, but now chewed it, and swallowed the saliva, without producing sickness at the stomach.—No emetic was administered nor any other remedy.—Silliman's Journal.

THE BANK OF ENGLAND covers five acres of ground, and employs over nine hundred clerks. Every thing for the use of the bank is made on its own premises, and the printing of its notes is a large item. A note once returning to the bank is never re-issued but is filed away, and at the end of ten years burnt. The workmen are busily at work every day in the year save Sundays, in printing notes.

In adversity, the real principles of men appear.
