Where He Gained.

Twenty years ago there was an old farmer living about 100 miles from New York, who took forty pounds of dried apples to the village merchant, and was told that the price was 4 cents per pound. "I'll be darned if I submit to this extortion any longer!" he exclaimed; "why they are quoted in Horace Greeley's paper at 7 cents!" "Hadden't you better take 'em to New York?" "I'll be kicked if I don't!" And he did. When he came home and figured up he said to his wife: "Well, Hanner, it cost me $8 to come and go, $2 tavern bill and maybe a little extra for tobacco." "Then you lost by the trip?" "Yes, kinder lost in one way, but in another I got my tea for four cents a pound less than Jackson sells it, and I tell you 4 cents don't grow on every thistle!"—Wall Street News.

A Baltimore woman by the name of Charity struck her husband over the head with a boot and came near killing him. Charity begins at home.
