

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

THE HARP is well worthy of a most generous support from the Irish Catholics of Canada, and we desire to see it so well and universally encouraged that the spirited proprietors may have it in their power to add new attractions and improvements to their enterprise. It is creditable to them in its present shape, being a magazine of 48 pages, and making a handsome volume of 576 pages for the year. But what is most astonishing, is that it is given for $1.00 a year. If its value were known, few would be without it for that amount. Send a dollar to the publishers and get a copy for a year.—Cobourg Sentinel.

THE HARP.—This sprightly and entertaining magazine contains a number of well-selected articles and choice pieces of poetry.—Star.

We like the tone of THE HARP—thoroughly Irish, thoroughly Catholic it is both fair and moderate. Readers may not agree with the opinions expressed in its articles, but they will approve of the judgment and taste in their selection, as regards the amount of information conveyed, and the manner in which it is given. For a cheap, popular monthly, we do not know any better; it deserves a good circulation beyond the nationality and creed for which it is specially designed.—Montreal Herald.

THE HARP.—This highly entertaining monthly admirably sustains its interest. As a magazine of choice Irish Catholic literature it has no superior.—Chicago Pilot.

THE HARP.—The value of THE HARP is considerably enhanced by several illustrations. The Irish Catholics of the Dominion owe a debt of gratitude to the publishers, for providing them with so excellent a periodical, and the best way they can show their gratitude is by subscribing to it.—Montreal Gazette.

THE HARP.—This little monthly is entertaining as usual and is surely well worth the subscription price of $1 per annum.—Tribune.
