Mr. Parker is at this moment probably second only to Mr. Rudyard Kipling in the estimation of the reading public. The St. James Gazette says: "He has the instinct of the thing: his narration has distinction, his characters and incidents have the picturesque quality, and he has the sense of the scale of character-drawing demanded by romance, hitting the happy mean between lay figures and over-analyzed 'souls.'"

THE BATTLE OF THE STRONG

A Romance of Two Kingdoms(50,000 copies sold within three months of publication)

It is a more complicated and elaborate work than "The Seats of the Mighty." It is also more purely imaginative, and the creative work is more ambitious. . . . It shows at least equal success on a grander scale. . . . It is splendidly dramatic. Mr. Parker has in this book finally proved himself a master of imaginative fiction. He has given us of his best, and his best deserves very high praise. . . . Modern fiction has few finer examples of the perfect woman.—Scotsman.

Guida is a fine character, finely and convincingly presented. Wars, panics and massacres, brave actions and dark deeds, touched in with force and vividness, are the background from which is detached the figure of this girl and the tragedy and romance of her life—the main motive of the story. The book is full of varied emotion. . . . The story gathers in force and dramatic intention to its close.—Daily News.

No one who takes a pleasure in literature but will read Mr. Gilbert Parker's romance with keen enjoyment. The mere writing is so good as to be a delight in itself, apart altogether from the interest of the tale.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Every personage in the story seems to live. A fine piece of work.—Speaker.

His newest story is strongly written, glows with color, is full of action, and is at once romantic and intensely dramatic.—Vanity Fair.
