The same Report of the Board of School Trustees gives the number of Roman Catholic children in the City of Toronto, as per the census of 1863, as 2,455. Allowing the increase in the school population since then to be at the rate of seven per cent, this would make the Roman Catholic school population now about 2,600. Of this number, 2,142 are enrolled as attending Roman Catholic Sunday Schools, (as per the following table),—leaving 458 not attending Sunday School as compared with the 467 Roman Catholic children (now likely 500) reported, for various causes, as not attending School, or being taught at home, as stated in the Report of the Board of Trustees.
