At one time this company was said to have held sway over a country half as large as Europe, to have had forts and posts to the number of 136, and to have employed 2000 men. It may be truly said that it did much for the development of the Northwest.

Among the names indissolubly connected with this company, with the west, and with Canada generally was that of Donald A Smith now Lord that of Donald A. Smith, now Lord Stratheona, who, coming out to Canada a poor Scotch lad, entered the service of the company, worked his way up to its head, was one of those instrumental in the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, attained great wealth, entered the field of politics and diplomacy, at the time of the South African war organized the Strathcona Horse, recruited mainly in the great Northwest, perhaps as fine a troop of irregu-lar cavalry as ever fought on any field, cles which the countries might adopt. and which, at a cost of $1,000,000, or tariffs for revenue only, or tariffs for upwards, he voluntarily gave to the empire, the princellest sift of the war. In conclusion, an array of figures were quoted in proof of the remarkable strides being made.

Canada's Progress. Hugh Guthrie, M.P., of Guelph, Ont. spoke in response to the toast, "The Progress of Canada." Mr. Guthrie dwelt upon the progress of Canada from a constitutional point of view, tracing the history of Canada in respect of parliamentary government from the parliamentary government from the British conquest in 1759 down to the year of confederation, showing how Canada had started merely as a crown colony and had developed into a great self-governing confederation, enjoying all the liberties of an independent nation, while remaining a possession of motherland.

Mr. Guthrie traced the rapid growth of the Dominion since confederation down to the presentime, dwelling upon the great increase in population, par-ticularly to the Northwest; upon the construction of the C.P.R., the first Canadian transcontinental road; upon the prospect of at least two other transcontinental roads in the near future. The trade of the country was going ahead by leaps and bounds, and so far as Canadians could judge there was at the present time no cloud upon horizon of Canada's future.

to Obtain His Confession. BOISE, Idaho, May 16 .- There is still every reason to hope that the jury will have been selected before court adjourns on Saturday afternoon. Haywood has changed greatly in his demeanor within the last two days. At first he left his counsel severely alone and appeared to be taking little or no interest i nthe selection of the jury. Now, however, he scans each talesman closely and is almost continued ously in conference with his counsel. It would appear from interviews with the best informed person here that any fear of trouble caused by the more radical element has now disappeared. The belief is expressed that the representative men of labor union thruout the country fully realize that the State of Idaho proposes to give this men a fair trial. Harry Orchard, the prisoner witness upon whom the State of Ihado chiefly relies to prove its charge that an inner circle of the Western Federation of Miners planned the murder of ex-Gov. Steunenberg, broke his long silence today. Orchard denied that force was used to obtain the statements he made, and denied that state officers promised him mimunity for his confession of cirme or reward for the value of his alleged confession. Orchard's manner and conversation tended strongly to confirm the assertion that he has converted to Christianity, which statement he made himself. As a precautionary measure, the ac-
