

VARSITY READY TO MEET ARGOS FOR CANADIAN CHAMPIONSHIP

PERFECT PLAY WON TITLE FOR VARSITY

The McGill Backs Were Weak in Catching, Kicking and Running.

Kingston, Nov. 20.—Varsity are senior intercollegiate champions. In one of the most exciting games ever played on the local gridiron, McGill but the dust to the tune of 14 to 6. Varsity emerged winners of the Intercollegiate Union. The inferior work of the McGill back division was directly responsible for the defeat of the Varsity team. Flanagan, Russell and Little played below form. They failed to kick or catch, and their running was poor. Almost every other kick from the Varsity half was fumbled by the McGill backs, and even the desperate charges, which shagreened made in the second, third and last quarters, availed nothing.

Varsity played perfectly throughout the game. Snyder, Brown and McKenzie, on the back division, never played better in their lives. Snyder's kicking throughout was wonderful. He handled the most of the kicking and together with Brown and McKenzie played faultlessly. As was expected, the back division made the turning point, as the remainder of the two teams were much on a par.

McGill's line held on Varsity's thrust the entire game, but the kicking tactics of Varsity, coupled with the fumbling of the McGill backs, allowed the Toronto team to win.

Remarkable Game. The game was a remarkable one throughout. Over 5,000 fans crowded the stands and the afternoon was a gala one. Varsity's outnumbers McGill almost two to one and throughout the game they showed their superiority. A battery of moving picture machines were on the job and filmed parts of the game, while an added feature to the day was the presence of the R.C.M.P. band. General Currie, principal of McGill University, was a visitor and sat throughout the game in the grand stand. A very cold north-east wind blew all afternoon and made the field was in remarkably good shape for the game, with only spots on the side lines being muddy. Shagreened offered no apologies for losing. The team failed to play anything near its regular form and Varsity won on its merits.

There was no doubt as to the superior team. Varsity showed better condition throughout. Anderson, Netman and Ambrose played exceptionally well for McGill, but they were accorded little support, while on the other hand Varsity played a well-rounded game.

The teams left at 8.30 for their homes, with the usual throng of fans following the special trains shortly after.

After the game Varsity fans went fairly wild and ran over the McGill goal-line for a touchdown, which McKenzie failed to convert.

Then in the second Snyder kicked over the McGill goal-line to Flanagan, who muffed, and Duncanson fell on the ball to secure a touchdown, three points, which McKenzie failed to convert.

In the final period McGill desperately to avoid a whitewash. Anderson went around the right end after catching a punt and carried the ball to Varsity's 10-yard line. On the third down Ambrose bucked over the Varsity line for a touchdown, which McKenzie converted. Score and teams:

Breen the Best Man. Capt. Breen of Varsity was easily the best man on the field. Murray, who replaced Hobbs, did most effective work, but Varsity players all did so well that it is impossible to single out any particular player for special mention. McGill's players seemed all to be pretty well off color. Notman, however, did some good work, but Flanagan was a disappointment. The game was a strenuous one, but clean one, most of the penalties inflicted being for holding.

A number of players received minor number of casualties. The field was in excellent playing condition, being capable of the very best football. The atmosphere, however, was too chilly for the comfort of the spectators, and at half-time everybody was moving about to get up circulation. The attendance fell below anticipation, but it is estimated, only about four thousand. It is present, whereas between five thousand and six thousand had been expected.

PENN STATE SOCCER TEAM COMING

An international soccer match, which may develop into an annual affair, is slated for the Varsity Stadium on Wednesday afternoon, when the touring eleven representing the State College of Pennsylvania will play the University of Toronto team, intercollegiate champions. Soccer is firmly established at Penn State, and the tourists have a very strong aggregation—one that should give the local students a hard game.

BILLY MORRISON SAYS MCGILL BACKS WORSE THAN PREPS

Montreal, Nov. 22.—William Morrison, writing this morning in The Gazette, says of Saturday's intercollegiate championship game:

Two victories out of a series of three games between the McGill and University of Toronto rugby teams has definitely determined the superiority of the Varsity players. In the game at Kingston on Saturday, it was the back division of the Toronto University team that scored the victory. While Varsity's backs played an almost perfect game, McGill's trio played in mediocre style, not even worthy of a "prep" school half-back line. They showed poor judgment at all times, fumbled catches, and even went further than that—to mix up their signals, which, no doubt, cost the team a touchdown in the earlier stages, which, if not secured, might have altered the trend of the play.

The play in the backfield and line divisions of the game on Saturday furnished an interesting comparison. The victory was not that of one coach over another, but a demonstration of natural football ability and temperament. While the Toronto halfbacks gained confidence as the game progressed, the McGill trio became more unsettled and uncertain in their efforts, and even changes by the use of substitutes failed in the effort to steady the line down.

In kicking, Varsity can boast of three men who have not been surpassed on any college team since the inception of the intercollegiate Rugby Union, in the autumn of 1884.

The Varsity not only outkicked the McGill backs with the wind, but against it, by using the line, and they showed kicking ability, but running and tackling ability. They used better judgment in the use of their backs, and on one occasion did they fall to place their kicks in advantageous spots. On the other hand, McGill's halves returned in distance, and their nervousness on many occasions lost ground by driving the ball in toward the spot from where it was punted.

At quarterback there was little to choose between the two teams. The positions on either team. Murray held the advantage in experience over Baillie, but then Murray was wrong, and on finding no one to carry the ball Baillie had to go on with it himself, and acquiesced in a creditable manner. The line play of the McGill players was one of the most splendid exhibitions of courage and stamina witnessed on a Canadian gridiron. From the commencement of the game, the McGill line was in the aggressive tactics. The McGill line was in the aggressive tactics. The McGill line was in the aggressive tactics.
