

PROPHECY OF THE GROTH OF ST. JOHN

Along the Red Head shores are to be a multitude of costly residences and summer hotels, where our prosperous citizens have built, or where our citizens are building, or where our citizens are building, or where our citizens are building.

But imagine yourself under my guidance for an hour or two, while we survey the progress of this half century in the shipping facilities of our city.

We will step on the elevated and dart to old Indian town, from whence we will charter a steam launch and make a cruise round of the harbor.

On the elevated, now, I will improve moment to explain that St. John has been the winter port of the dominion, and gaining that point in the forty years ago, the great summer port.

And now step on board the launch and we will see it for ourselves. Look about you on this upper shore, and Indian town harbor. You see everywhere, crafts from every up-country line of water-way.

Blasting has also been conducted on a scale in the river bed and in the century, she soon became in consequence the safe and simple thing for craft.

But another equally notable improvement you witness, as here in mid-harbor we find a few minutes and gaze around. It is low tide, but where are the reefs and ledges that in 1882 used to thrust their black fins out of water, like ship-eating sharks?

Having heard so much of the harbor, you will naturally wish me to write of the city itself; it has kept pace with the rest. Come and walk from the old military ground to Union street.

El-Rado

removes disfiguring growths of hair from the face, neck or arms. IT ACTS INSTANTLY WHEREVER APPLIED, leaving the most delicate skin perfectly smooth and clear.

El-RADO is a scientifically prepared, thoroughly tested and absolutely safe depilatory. Its superiority can be demonstrated with a single application.

Proceeding farther, your eye will be attracted by the vast display of dry docks. Fifty years ago, while offering the best facilities in the world for ship repairing, had not developed those facilities.

When the work is done, her toilet completed, the gates are opened, the tide comes in again, wooing and embracing her rejuvenated charms, and she glides away to sea once more, a thing of life, to tell the white-winged and steam-driven world of crafts where to find this "fountain of youth."

But we have been on the boat long enough; we will be set on shore at what was once Marsh bridge, but so no longer now for twenty-five years.

Having heard so much of the harbor, you will naturally wish me to write of the city itself; it has kept pace with the rest. Come and walk from the old military ground to Union street.

As might be expected, railroads have grown and magnified with the growth and importance of the port. There are now two shore lines — one east, one west; a Salmon river and Miramichi country line; the great double track Intercolonial, with its branches, and three through trunk lines of the northern and western portions of the dominion.

Speedy Travel

Only three hours to Bathurst, instead of eight as fifty years ago; only ten to Quebec, instead of twenty-two; only fourteen to Montreal, instead of twenty-eight; only sixteen to Ottawa, instead of forty.

You remember the moist and balmy fogs of other days. Well, we still enjoy that luxury in this 20th century; except that nowadays our immense and numerous factories with their almost countless smoking chimneys and steam pipes, our harbor full of steam shipping, and our seventeen times more house fires and chimneys, vie with old ocean, and we never lack for a breath of almost every flavor of smoke and fog you can name.

Our manufacturers are immense as compared with those of former days, when the cotton mills were so new here. Now we turn out in a week more than the product of a whole year then.

The Anarchist Millionaire

The swindled shareholders out of millions before Whitaker Wright had told the public the secret of fraudulent limited companies. "A curious fact regarding him," said Mr. Sweeney, "was that, although no absolute proof was forthcoming, I had many reasons for believing that much of the wealth he acquired was devoted to anarchist causes."

His favorite method was to make love to susceptible rich women, whom he married, robbed, and abandoned. Bigamy was but a small detail in his career of crime. He was undoubtedly guilty in connection with the fire insurance scandals which created a sensation in 1886. He obtained £30,000 a year for several years, ringing the changes on the owners of various high-sounding names, who he alleged were his directors, and in addition was actually perpetrating swindles in other parts of England by long-firm methods.

He kept an album of signatures, now at Scotland Yard, to assist his memory for otherwise he could never have kept pace with the aliases. He had a palatial residence at Wembley Park, which was honeycombed with secret exits, and he maintained a staff of private detectives for the sole purpose of watching the police detectives and guarding his own safety.

I first sought his acquaintance in connection with a number of anarchists who gathered at the Halton Restaurant meetings of the Legitimation League in 1897, but he dodged me out of the building, anxious not to let me see his face.

However, to cut a long story short, we at last got on his track through the medium of a solicitor whom De Villiers had, by a plentiful supply of perjury, changes on the owners of various high-sounding names, who he alleged were his directors, and in addition was actually perpetrating swindles in other parts of England by long-firm methods.
