

No Man is Stronger
Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach, or eating is languid, nervous, or he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength. Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." It cures diseases of the stomach, all other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine or known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients named on wrapper.

AMUSEMENTS FOR OURSELVES AND OTHERS

OPERA HOUSE

A very large audience greeted the performance of "The Alaskan," at the Opera House last evening, and thoroughly enjoyed the production. The play will be repeated this afternoon at a matinee, and will also be given this evening in a final performance.

PHIL OTTO'S COMEDIANS.

Musical comedy at popular prices is something new to Halifax, and the large audience at the Academy of Music last evening when Phil Otto's comedians opened, their engagement in "The Auto Girl," showed their pleasure in no unobtrusive way, with their shouts of laughter and hearty applause.

The comedy is in one act, of nearly two hours' duration, and there was an almost continuous scream, the only let up practically being when the heavy man discovers the robbery, which develops the slender plot.

Phil Otto is a capital comedian; his quaint humor kept the house in roars; his sayings were of the funniest description, and his make-up alone created a laugh, while his songs were redemptive again and again.

Doris Tarrane made a decided hit; bright clever and at the same time playing the role of Laura Hart, who was much originality, she gained much favor. She also gave the greatest pleasure with her well rendered songs.

Kitty Collier was a pretty and attractive Gertrude Sage, and her duet with Mr. Otto was a decided success.

THE LYRIC

With large and appreciative audiences to work to at every performance. The Pankle Trio at the Lyric Theatre in their original and elaborate stage setting, scored an ever bigger hit last night than the previous evening, and were forced to respond to several encores. The finish of the act is the call for much applause, being a beautiful representation of Canada.

An added feature of yesterday's show was the molding of busts of the king and queen and this was exceptionally well done. Special feature pictures are announced; open all parts of the house, special attractions next week.

Important Tennis Plans and Results.

At a meeting of the Maritime Tennis Association, held in the Clifton House, last night, many important items of business in connection with the game in the maritime provinces were discussed, and the following officers elected: President, Charles Grant, Halifax (N. S.); 1st vice-president, Mr. Veddie, Halifax (N. S.); 2nd vice-president, Malcolm McAvity, St. John, and secretary-treasurer, Louis Gaston, Halifax.

It was decided that next year an open maritime meet would be held at Halifax, and that American and Upper Canadian players should be induced to enter. The tournament will take place about the last of August.

Another very important matter decided upon was that letters should be sent to the secretary of the Canadian Association asking him to put before a meeting of that body a request that as regards tennis, Canada should be divided into two sections, eastern and western, and that the various provinces should play tournaments early in July so that the winners of the eastern section could play off in Montreal, and those of the western section in Winnipeg, the winners of the different sections to play finally in Toronto. It is hoped that the association will have enough money to send two or three representatives to the old country to engage in the championship games there.

Charles Grant, of Halifax, in the match yesterday afternoon, won from McDonald, of New Glasgow, the score being 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, and 6-3. This afternoon at 2 o'clock Angus Cassels, of Montreal, will play Mr. Grant and the match should prove very interesting, as both are regular players, and Mr. Cassels holds the cup for the All-Canadian championship.

Championship honors in the ladies' doubles yesterday afternoon went to Miss Lyliard and Miss McLeod, of Halifax, who won from Mrs. Babbitt and Miss Babbitt, with the following scores: 6-3, 5-6, 6-3.

Misses Silver and Wivell, of Halifax, won from Misses F. Hazen and Warren, with scores of 6-3, 2-6, and 6-3.

Mrs. Babbitt and R. Turnbull won from Mrs. Lyliard, K. Kettle, and Jackson, New Glasgow, 6-8, 6-1, 6-3.

Refugees will have at least five of the men who wore the colors last, but that the famous Lester Patrick will be missing. Lester, the story goes, was the weak man during the middle stages of the season, but could not be dropped because he was both captain and drawing the biggest salary on the team. Frank Patrick, however, will be sought after as the Renfrew management look upon him as the best man they had. Fred Taylor will also be with the team again. M. J. O'Brien, who did so much for hockey in the Creamery Town, is still residing there, contrary to reports.

Success in Training Them for Battlefield Service

(Kansas City Star.)

Military men in France at present are busy discussing the wonderful feats performed by the trained Red Cross dogs at the front.

Germany, as in everything else pertaining to war, was the first nation in recent times to introduce dogs as a regular part of the military establishment. This was about two years ago. France, quickly grasping the fact that these trained dogs would facilitate greatly the quick aid necessary for wounded soldiers, adopted the example set by Germany, with results that have gone far beyond the expectations of even the most sanguine. Dr. Derland, "recognizing the importance of the dog as a soldier," has been training them for some time. Few people realize, he says, what an important factor these trained dogs will be in a field of battle, where after a skirmish they will have strapped on them stimulants to revive fallen soldiers who otherwise might escape the attention of the medical corps.

"The Red Cross dogs," said Dr. Derland, "recognize the importance of the dog as a soldier. They will not obey a command that is given even by an officer in uniform if the dog is not on his feet. A stranger can put on the dog's uniform with the hand, and instantly the dog will be a soldier."

"The dogs are trained in two different ways. One set is taught never to bark when a wounded soldier is discovered, for fear of exciting the sick or drawing the attention of an enemy who might slaughter the dog. The dog will whistle and pull until he gets the soldier's cap in his mouth. Then he rushes back to him as he is required to do. Another set, however, gives the alarm by barking. He sniffs the air, listens to the wind, and then suddenly he goes forward, first this way and then that—sniffing and barking. He sniffs the air, listens to the wind, and then suddenly he goes forward, first this way and then that—sniffing and barking. He sniffs the air, listens to the wind, and then suddenly he goes forward, first this way and then that—sniffing and barking."

"In maneuvers, the 'wounded' soldier hides in tall grass or deep down in a ravine far from the temporary camp. One of the dogs is brought out for the test of finding him. He sniffs the air, listens to the wind, and then suddenly he goes forward, first this way and then that—sniffing and barking. He sniffs the air, listens to the wind, and then suddenly he goes forward, first this way and then that—sniffing and barking."
