Saturday's Fires. Saturday afternoon No. 1 Chemical Engine and No. 2 Hose responded to a still alarm for a fire in a shanty on Orange street dump. At 7.55 the same apparatus responded to a still alarm for a burning chimney at the residence of Mr. Wm. McGlinley, 62 Mecklenburg street.

Preached at St. Luke's. At St. Luke's church yesterday morning Mr. Thomas, general secretary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, preached an eloquent sermon to a large congregation. Mr. Thomas has travelled thousands of miles throughout Canada and the United States, addressing large numbers of men and boys in the interest of the work of the Brotherhood.

County Court Chambers. In Chambers on Saturday, before Judge Forbes, Mr. Cyrus F. Inches, on behalf of the plaintiff, in the case of James H. McAlpine vs. Adam H. Bell, applied for the issue of a commission to New Bedford, Conn., to take the evidence of the plaintiff's witnesses there. This is an action for goods sold and delivered. Mr. J. King Kelley opposed the application. Application granted.

No Definite Word. There was no definite word of Jesus to that effect. But Jesus spoke of home in heaven and of a thief on the cross. "This day shalt thou be with me in Paradise." In the parable of the rich man and Lazarus, had the rich man treated Lazarus differently, might he have been a friend of the commendable action would have given both him and Lazarus a home in heaven. In conclusion Mr. Lang said that we should make friends among the poor by helping them in their need, so that they, unlike Lazarus, will commend rather than condemn us.

Baptism at Queen Square Church. The services at Queen Square Methodist church yesterday were of a very interesting character. The music both morning and evening was under the direction of Mr. J. F. Bullock who was assisted by a large choir of young people furnished by the Junior League of the church, in addition to the regular choir which occupied the gallery in the rear of the church. In the morning the sacrament of baptism was administered to six adults, and in the evening a reception was held at which thirty-two persons were received into the church, twenty-seven on profession of faith, and five by letter. The pastor of the church, Rev. H. D. Marr, delivered eloquent discourses at both services.

HAD $18 STOLE FROM POCKETS AS HE SLEPT. The North End police were called upon to attend to a case of theft in an Indian town boarding house on Sunday morning about nine o'clock. A young man who boards on Main street directly opposite the car shop was the complainant. His money was taken from his trousers pocket during the night, as he discovered when he awoke in the morning. He told the police that yesterday's theft was only one of the several of which he had been made the victim within a few weeks. He had received his pay at Miller's mill on Saturday. On Sunday morning he retired about four o'clock. Before he did so he felt in his trousers' pocket, and made sure that his money was there. When he awoke he found that the whole of it had been taken while he slept. His loss amounted to $18. The police searched the house, and after some time found the bills hidden in a rather peculiar place in another section of the house. Unless the young man is a sleep walker the money must have been abstracted from his pockets by some person not entitled to it. His loss has been a heavy one for a young fellow boarder.

WELL KNOWN TRUCKMAN DROPS DEAD. Asa Crawford, a well known truckman, dropped dead in Carleton on Sunday. Mr. Crawford was well known in the city as a driver of wood sawyer's teams. He worked for a long time about Indian town, but located in Carleton a few months ago, moving there from North street. He was about fifty years of age. A wife and several children survive him.

REV. DR. GOULD ADDRESSES MEN ON MOHAMMEDANISM

Rev. Sydney H. Gould, M. A., D. D., addressed a large congregation of men at St. John's Stone church yesterday afternoon. His subject was "The Mohammedan Religion." Rev. G. A. Kubring, rector of St. John's conducted the service which preceded Dr. Gould's address. Held Up As Example. Dr. Gould explained that he chose his subject because Mohammedanism was like Christianity, a world religion, also because it was held up by many as a faith which was eminently suited to non-Christian lands and which was producing satisfactory results there.

Two Points Against Islam. The speaker called attention to two facts connected with Islam which he considered to be of great importance. The first was the fact that Mohammedanism was a religion which was not only a religion but a political system. The second was the fact that Mohammedanism was a religion which was not only a religion but a political system.

Religion and Politics Inseparable. Dr. Gould then proceeded to point out certain constructive and destructive forces which he considered to be connected with Mohammedanism. He pointed out that Mohammedanism was a religion which was not only a religion but a political system.

Turkish Revolution. The speaker went on to say that the opportunity was presented to him of discussing the various phases of the Turkish revolution which resulted in the deposition of Sultan Abdul Hamid. He could not go deeply into the subject but could only say that the party known as the Young Turks had been formed as a result of the crushing despotism of the Sultan who had subverted the old constitution of Turkey. That had not been a bloodless revolution. The blood of the Armenians had been shed in that revolt although public opinion did not connect the massacres with the revolution.

JUDGE FORBES WILL SPEAK IN OLD SOUTH IN UNIFORM FOR 29 YEARS. Judge Forbes left on Saturday night's train for Boston where he will be a speaker this evening at the service to be held in Old South Church as part of the centennial celebration of the Massachusetts Bible Society.

Judge Forbes will be the only representative from Canada at the anniversary celebration. He has received instructions from London to represent the British and Foreign Bible Society, and the Canadian Bible Society, of which organizations he is a vice-president. He also represents the New Brunswick auxiliary of the Bible Society, of which he is president.

As an official of these organizations, Judge Forbes will convey their congratulations to the Massachusetts society on the attainment of its 100th birthday. At a meeting in connection with the celebration held on Sunday afternoon in Trinity Church, Rev. Geo. Hodges, of Cambridge, was the preacher. Other speakers beside Judge Forbes at tonight's meeting, will be Prof. E. C. Moore, of the Divinity School, Harvard; and Judge Francis E. Lowell, of the U. S. Supreme Court.

BEER SHOPS REMAIN OPEN UNTIL ELEVEN. In spite of the enactment as to the closing of Beer shops on Saturday afternoon at five o'clock, at least two of the larger shops tried the experiment of selling until eleven. One city shop and one in the North End did a particularly heavy business. Their bars were lined two or three tiers deep, and it is safe to say that they never did a larger night's business in the course of their existence.

Groceries for Sale. Most of the shops which remained open had displayed in their windows a small quantity of groceries, Peanuts, soap and biscuits seemed to be the staple articles. The beer shop proprietors are being backed in their experiment as to the elasticity of the law by a somewhat similar organization to that which conducted the recent campaign. The brewers are interested because of the pilsener beer which they sell to the retail shops, and the root, hop and ginger beer makers are of course on May Be Reported. The window blinds of the saloons were in some cases lowered, and in others raised. It is understood that some reports will be made in this connection.

TOLD HOW HE PERSONATED ANOTHER MAN. At a meeting of the temperance workers on Friday night a street car conductor named Norman Burke, appeared and related the circumstances of his personation of another man in the liquor license election on April 20. Burke voted in Lansdowne ward. His story was that he had been standing outside of a booth with a crowd of five or six men whose names he did not know. One of them had shown him the name of Frederick Schurrah, and had asked him why he didn't vote for him, as it had not yet been voted upon. He had voted in Schurrah's name. The testimony of the constable in the booth was that he had told one of the temperance workers inside that the man was not Schurrah, but he had gone unchallenged. Burke's version was that no objection had been made to his voting by any person. The temperance executive had decided not to prosecute. There is no particular penalty provided for by the recent Provincial Act, although the regular $40 fine for personation could be imposed. It was felt that criminal proceedings would do no good. The temperance workers declare, however, that they believe enough names were voted wrongly to have changed the result in Lansdowne.
