

FINANCES.

Owing to the illness of the Treasurer and to the want of a General Secretary, as well as to other circumstances, it has been found impossible to canvass all from whom subscriptions have been received in former years, and there has consequently been a very appreciable falling off in the income of the year. The Association, however, still holds its own, and its financial standing in a business sense is good.

The following statement shows the expenses and income of the Association for the period ended 31st August, 1882.
