Lithuania, which asks for its recognition as a free nation on the basis of the declared war aims of the Allies and of the United States, has a population of 6,000,000 and is geographically larger than Switzerland and Denmark combined. In the fourteenth, fifteenth, and partly in the sixteenth centuries Lithuania was the largest state in Europe.

Under-Currents By The Duchess of Mr. Peyton to come! He must know how Uncle Gregory would regard him, or any one's presence here."

"His especially. But as I told him half an hour ago, I tell you now, he was unfortunately born without a grain of sense. Never mind I have to thank him, in that through his coming I was able to outwit the lively Grunch. But darling, how ill you look! Oh, Vera I do believe you are letting that old man's insolence prey upon you!"

"I don't know what is the matter with me. My brain seems on fire sometimes. How cruel, how cruel, a thing it is for parents to bring children into the world, and then to die and leave them there unprotected at the mercy of strangers!"

"That is true"—slowly. "There is a great comfort in that thought. Death as you say, is always near us. It may reach us at any moment, and save us from the trouble."

"Indeed!" indignantly. "I said nothing of the kind. Catch me wanting to die. I think I see myself. And as for you my good child you look like living for many a day in spite of your dismal expression."

"One can't be sure; our mother died young. Happy mother!" sighs Vera forlornly.

"Rubbish!" cried Griselda with more force than elegance. "It is maddening to hear you say now, if Death were to walk in here, this instant, bony arms, sickle, eyeless sockets and all the other regulation charms complete, I can just imagine the squeal that would follow. You are posing as one of those wretched heroines one meets with in books, who always cries aloud on kindly death to take her whenever she has so much as a pain in her big toe!"

"My dear Griselda. Really anything so graphic to put it calmly. Well, I haven't patience with the die-away lot. And after all, there isn't the remotest fear of your being forced into a marriage with—that man! It isn't the ego for that sort of thing. One is quite independent enough now to be able to shout a good sound 'No.'"

"at the altar even if compelled to go so far and there is always the law after that. And besides let the worst come to the worst, let us suppose that terrible uncle of ours should be able to persuade you into accepting his son; why, rather than permit you to be sacrificed, I would—ironically—" sacrifice myself and marry Tom Peyton!"

"How would that help us?"

"Why if I were to be driven for your sake into marriage with him, that would secure a home for you, as well as for me."

"But why should you be sacrificed? Surely such an end is as bad for you as for me!"

"I am the stronger; I feel I could bear up under an adverse lot better than you could," says Griselda with a far away, high and mighty look.

"Oh, no darling," says Vera quite touched. "And besides," falling back into the original gloom. "Perhaps Mr. Peyton doesn't want to marry you!"

This suggestion is received with marked disfavour.

"Oh, doesn't he?" says Griselda, getting up from her seat, as though still in a hurry not to be bothered.

"That's all you know about it. You are very much out of it, if you think that. He—he would marry me to-morrow if I would let him."

"How do you know? How can one believe in any one?"

"I can believe in him," says Griselda stoutly. "If you only say him—as I do—you would know."

"You are a lucky girl!" says Vera. "To know that someone really cares whether one lives or dies is a great matter!"

"Oh, he cares," says Griselda. "Then you ought to be happy."

"Well, I don't know really. With a little laugh—"I think I'd like him better if he wasn't so awfully silly, that is, in earnest, don't you know? Now what do you think he said to day? That he—must be the absurdity of it!—that he honestly believed I hadn't a fault in the world! That was a little too much eh?"

"I do know," I like it. I call that being a good lover," says Vera thoughtfully.

"Perhaps you would have told him so. For me, I said, 'Heaven give you success. I hope it will be so.'"

"What sense would you give him? Sense to see your faults? After all, you are well matched. Like him, I begin to think you haven't a grain of sense yourself. And a word, Griselda; tell me this, are you in love with him?"

"Well, that's it I don't know. I wish I did. I've been thinking Vera, that is an excellent thing to have been in love with some one before, then you know all about it the second time, and you can tell when the attack is coming on. I shall know next time."

Oh, could Peyton have only heard her!

"Perhaps there won't be any next time. If you do like him, I hope not."

"Just so, but do I? That's what I can't find out."

"I think—I think I should know if I were in love," says Vera, dreamily.

"You have a doubt about it, nevertheless? I tell you it is the most difficult thing in the world. When I'm not with him, I want to see him, yet when I see him, I feel that I don't want him. By the by—"as if struck by a sudden thought—"of something tells me Seaton will come today."

"Now that you can't see him, do you want him too?" says Vera with a smile. "Wall, I hope your instinct isn't proved false here!" She puts her hand to her brow and presses it tightly.

"I have such a headache," she says wearily.

"Lie down. Here let me tuck you up. Poor darling you do look wretched. Some Eau de Cologne on her head!" cooing. "Yes, do, I have some still, a remnant of mine. I wonder if we have, begun to look poor?"

If that dread warning "once in effluence, now reduced" is graven upon our forehead? Thank Heaven our clothes still hang together, and give us a touch of respectability, but when they fall apart, seem from seams, how shall we go then? In long bags with holes cut out for our arms? The early Britons will be fools to us. There, now isn't that doing your head good?"

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Purge Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by A. J. Ross in Kitchener and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance, the appearance, the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION!—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed in its curative nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

Girls! Draw a Moist Cloth Through Hair, Double Its Beauty

Try this! Hair gets thick, glossy and beautiful at once

Immediate?—Yes! Certain!—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time! This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments your hair will be doubled in beauty. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is ragged, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses and purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but which your hair, when you use after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knoll's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents.

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Gas Sourness and Pain How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food stews causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people with excellent results.

Report Many Cases of Rheumatism Now

Says we must keep feet dry; avoid exposure and eat less meat. Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxins, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels, and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of this impurity.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.
