

to turn out to pay compliments, and sentries are to salute, is laid down in the "Field Exercises and Evolutions of Infantry," part VIII.

33. Officers in the command of guards and detachments are to be alert in getting their men under arms and paying due compliments to those entitled to them.

34. Outlying piquets pay no compliments, but when marching at ease are to be called to "attention" and when at their posts are to "stand at their arms" on the approach of a General officer, the field officer of the day, or any armed party; their sentries pay no compliments of any kind. The same rule applies to advance and rear guards, which are merely out-lying piquets on the march.

35. Sentries mounted over the quarters of a General officer are to be instructed to pay the compliment of "Presenting Arms," to General officers only; to officers below that rank, sentries are to stand with shouldered arms; in all cases, however, they are to pay the prescribed compliment to armed parties passing their posts.

36. All guards and sentries are to pay the same compliments to the officers of the Regular Army, Royal Navy and Marines, when in uniform, as are directed to be paid to officers of the Militia.
