Editor's Talk

THIS issue brings to a close Volume 10 of the "Canadian Courier." Five years ago next week the "Courier" was first published. The transitions of five years on this paper have been necessarily parallel to the evolution of the country to which it belongs. There is but one reason for this necessity. The "Canadian Courier" has made a consistent and persistent and successful effort to portray in word and picture the growing epic of Canadian development. And if one should take time to go through the files, he would find in the records of those ten volumes more illustration of the varied life of this country than could be found in the archives of any other paper in America. But there is no time to dig into the past. Our present business is to deal with the problems of the future. Some day when we have nothing else to do we may appoint an archivist. At present we are too busy.

The growing popularity of the "Canadian Courier" has been emphasized by some incidents which have attracted the attention of the business editor. He reports that during the past few weeks one subscriber sent a cheque covering four years' subscription to this paper, and three others sent remittances each covering three years. Curiously enough all these subscribers reside in Western Canada, a distinct proof that the national feeling is as strong in that part of the country as in any other portion of the Dominion.

makes these pure candies; and oh, but they are delicious! Try this recipe for KNOX MARSHMALLOWS and watch not only the children, but the grown-ups enjoy them.

Knox Marshmallows
 Soak 1/2 package Knox Sparkling Gelatine in 10 tablespoonfuls cold water. Heat 2 cups (1 pint) granulated sugar with 10 tablespoonfuls water till dissolved. Add gelatine to syrup; let stand till partially cooled. Add few grains salt and flavoring to taste. Beat with a whip till too stiff, then with large spoon till only soft enough to settle into a sheet. Dust granite pans thickly with confectioner's sugar; pour in the candy about half inch deep; set in cool place till thoroughly chilled. Turn out, cut in cubes and roll in confectioner's sugar. (Will make over 100 marshmallows.)
