

- McGilvary, Rev. Daniel, D.D., birth (1828), 20; parentage, 19-20; childhood, 20-28; conversion, 27-28; Bingham School, 29-31; teaching, 31-32; Presbytery of Orange, 32-34; Princeton Seminary (1853-1856), 35-38; pastorate, 38-41; ordination, 42; voyage, 43-45; Bangkok (1858-1861), 45-52; marriage (1860), 52; Pechaburi, 53ff; first acquaintance with the Lāo, 57-58; tour of exploration to Chiangmai, 59-65; charter of the Lāo mission, 66-70; removal to Chiangmai (1867), 71-76; pioneer experiences, 77-83; ceremony of Dam Hūa, 84-86; non-professional medicine and surgery, 88-91, 95, 120, 147-148, 158, 190, 195-196, 322, 362; visit from Dr. House, 92; First Church organized, 93; first-fruits, 95-101; the gathering storm, 102-105; it breaks (Sep. 1869), 106; terrifying suspense, 107, 118-119; alarm in Bangkok, 111-113; the martyrs, 114-117; Siamese Royal Commission, 121; a stormy audience and its results, 122-129; death of Kāwilōrot, 133-135; visit from Dr. and Mrs. Cusaing, 138-139; the new rulers, 137-144; building, 140-142; arrival of a missionary physician, 149; First Tour (1872, with Dr. Vrooman)—exploration north and east, 150-159; visit to Lakawn and Nān, 161-168; first furlough (1873-1875), 159-168; Second Tour (1876)—exploration northwestward, 170-177; conversation with the Princess, 180-187; shrine on Doi Sutēp, 188-189; firmer Siamese policy—the Resident High Commissioner, 191-194; the deaf Prayā, 199-201; struggle with demonism:—Pā Sēng Bun, 203-206; Christian marriage defeated, 207-209; appeal unto Cæsar, 210-212; Edict of Religious Toleration (1878), 213-220; teachers for the Girls' School, 221-222; the harvest of twelve years, 225; the nine years' wanderer, 225-228; voyage to Hongkong, 228-230; Rahēng, 230-232; churches organized, 233; second furlough (1881-1882)—reinforcements and losses, 236-243; a surveying expedition (1884), 244-254; equipment for touring, 249-251; semi-monthly mail to Maulmein, 255-256; death of Princess Tipa Kēsawn, 257; Presbytery of North Laos and the training of native evangelists, 257-262; station established at Lakawn, 263-265; struggle with demonism renewed—Bān Pēn, 266-270; work among the villages, 270-274; Third Tour (1886, with Mr. Martin)—Christian communities in the north, 276-283; reinforcements, 283-284; river trip with Mr. Dodd, 285-286; Fourth Tour (1887), 286-287; Fifth Tour (1888, with Dr. Peoples and Mr. Dodd):—church organized in Chieng Sēn, 289-291; serious illness, 291; marriage of his daughter—the Prince and the charades, 293; foothold secured in Lampūn, 294-296; trip to Bangkok, 297; week at Bān Pēn, 297-298; a marvellous recovery, 298; the "prisoner of Jesus Christ," 300-304; tax-rebel-